MACKENZIE KING, Canadian premier, says that all talk of Canadian annexation by the United States is foolish. It's as foolish as to talk about Canada annexing this country. But Canada and the United States, ruling and owning these northern lands, should be closely united in business, as well as close friends.

Americans would welcome a working arrangement by which the free trade between our 48 states could be extended to include Canada. That would give Canada the advantage of quantity production in the United States, which she cannot get herself for a long time to come.

FIRST of all would come uniformity in tariff. There is no difficulty that could not be arranged to the advantage of both countries.

In this country there is no more desire to own Canada than there is in Canada to own the United States. It is an excellent thing for us to have so able a pacemaker on the north.

A NUMBER of American financiers, including J. Pierpont Morgan, sign an international manifesto demanding that tariff and other trade barriers be pulled down and free trade established. The manifesto refers, let us hope, to Europe only.

ANYBODY who imagines that "world-wide prosperity" is to be built up by putting American manufacturers and workers on a par with labor and industry in Europe, Asia or Africa doesn't know the United States. Ask President Coolidge.

FIRES SHOTGUN CHARGE INTO ABDOMEN; ILL HEALTH BLAMED

Had Not Worked Because of Physical Condition.

Despondent, it is believed, because of ill health, William George, 56, coal miner, committed suicide by shooting himself in the abdomen with a shotgun on the rear porch of his home in Washington street, Salineville, shortly before 7 o'clock this morning.

Uses Stick to Discharge Gun.

His lifeless body, with a gaping hole through the stomach, was found by Mrs. Lydia George, his wife, when she arose. He had been dead only a few minutes.

George, friends of the family claim, suffered an injury at the Grant Coal company's mine about two years ago and since then has not been regularly employed. For a few weeks he worked in one of the West Point mines but recently he had been unable to work because of a nervous breakdown.

The husband arose at 6:30 o'clock this morning, telling his wife to remain in bed until he fired the furnace. He dressed and went to the cellar, where he evidently attended the furnace and then, picked up his shot gun, which he kept on the first floor, and stepped to the porch on the east side of the dwelling.

Placing the end of the barrel of the weapon against his stomach, George is believed to have pressed the trigger with a stick, the full force of the shot entering at the pit of his stomach. Mrs. George said that she heard no report of the gun's discharge.

Coroner To Conduct Inquest.

The body was taken to the John L. Hutson undertaking establishment, where Coroner J. M. Van Fossan, East Palestine, will conduct an inquest this afternoon.

The suicide was married three times. His second wife was killed by lightning in Salineville many years ago. The second Mrs. George died following an extended illness. His third wife was formerly Mrs. Lydia Davidson.

In addition to his widow, he is survived by three children: Charles George and Mrs. John Johnson, of Salineville, and Mrs. Clarence Lintner, Steubenville. One brother, Charles George, of Salineville, also survives.

EDWARD MULLEN IS FINED $25

Edward Mullen was fined $25 and costs by Municipal Judge Hanley today after he entered a plea of guilty to charges of disorderly conduct and malicious destruction of property.

Mullen was arrested by Patrolman William Lister yesterday afternoon at a Dresden avenue restaurant. Police claim that Mullen demolished a large plate glass mirror when he hurled a catsup bottle. He has agreed to pay the damages.

Diogenes, Here's Your Man; He Says Advertising Pays

"Once more it has been said it pays to advertise."

This is the statement of Amos W. Brown, 1116 Mt. Vernon avenue, Akron, in a letter to The Review-Tribune, thanking the newspaper for its assistance in locating the owner of a silk purse which he found in Akron lately.

The purse, which contained approximately $13.67 in cash, two Newell street car tickets and a check on an East Liverpool bank, was identified by Mrs. C. E. Nathaniel, of Newell, who described its contents and the time and place it had been lost. Three other persons residing in and around East Liverpool wrote to Mr. Brown regarding the money.

Using the bank check as a clue, Brown appealed to the Review-Tribune, through Postmaster John McClure, for assistance in locating the owner.

HAVANA COUNTS TOLL EXACTED BY WIND WHICH SWEEPS ISLAND

Millions of Dollars Property Damage Wrought.

STREETS BLOCKED

Florida Escapes Fury of Second Tropical Storm.

HAVANA, Cuba, Oct. 21.—The full extent of the hurricane which swept Havana yesterday may not be known for several days, officials stated today as they started to clear away the debris and count the damage done by the terrific wind which swept the island.

Early estimates of casualties were increased and it is now started that there are between 30 and 40 dead and between 1,500 and 2,000 injured.

Transportation was still at a standstill today, with street car tracks and streets blocked by uprooted trees.

The city was in utter darkness throughout the night. Perfect order prevails.

Several Ships Sunk.

The commercial life of the city was paralyzed. Telephone, telegraph, electric light and power lines were down. Hundreds of houses were unroofed and the city was virtually without an unbroken window glass. All available police, augmented by two squadrons of troops, patrolled the streets to prevent looting.

Several ships, including the Cuban gunboat Hatuey, were sunk by the storm, which at its peak attained a wind velocity of 130 miles an hour. The fate of the crews of some of the vessels was not yet known this morning.

The oil storage tanks of the West Indies Oil company, located across Havana bay at Belot, between Casa Blanca and Regla, were set afire during the storm and still were burning today. Several of the tanks were believed to have been entirely destroyed, this loss alone aggregating three million dollars.

The total damage was estimated at six million dollars.

PRETTY WOMAN MURDER VICTIM AT CINCINNATI

HEAD CRUSHED

Mysterious Call to Coroner Leads to Ghastly Discovery.

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 21.—County authorities today were baffled in their attempts to identify the body of a young woman, apparently between 22 and 30 years of age, found nearly nude, in the Big Miami river near Columbia park, last night. The woman's head had been crushed, her jaw was fractured and a dark mark of a knife or dagger had left a stab wound in her breast, Coroner D. C. Handley stated.

The body had been in the water for about three days, he stated.

A pair of brown cotton stockings, one oxford and a small undergarment constituted the girl's apparel.

No other clothing was found by the deputy sheriffs in the vicinity.

A mysterious call to Coroner Handley about 7:30 last night, told of the body lying in a pile of driftwood beneath a railroad bridge. Although the call was presumed to have come from a train passenger or employe who sighted the body from a passing train, no trace of the message was announced by county officials today.

The girl had brown eyes, brown bobbed hair; perfect teeth, but one lower front tooth had been knocked out in her death struggle with the murderer or murderers, officials said. That the struggles preceding her death had been terrific was evident from the extent of her injuries. Morgue attendants where her body was being held for a post-mortem examination declared that the body was that of an attractive woman.

CARBICELLA AND FUSCO FOUND GUILTY AFTER 18 BALLOTS AT LISBON

Jurors Deliberate Five Hours Before Returning Verdict Against Wellsville Residents Who Are Alleged to Have Offered $390 to Sheriff George Wright.

DEFENDANTS, STATE CHARGED, TRIED TO HALT KENNEY MURDER INQUIRY

Defense Files Motion for New Trial, and Accused Men are Released on $5,000 Bond Each Pending Arguments and Action of Court—Penalty is Prison Term.

Rocco Carbicella and Frank Fusco, both of Wellsville, were found guilty of attempted bribery by a jury in the Columbiana county common pleas court at Lisbon at 12:27 o'clock this morning after five hours' deliberation, during which 18 ballots were taken.

The defendants were charged with offering $390 to Sheriff George Wright if he would "lay off" his investigation of the murder of Patrolman James Kenney, who was shot down while patrolling his beat in Wellsville on May 17.

Attorneys W. A. O'Grady, of Wellsville, and Ben L. Bennett, of East Liverpool, who represented Carbicella and Fusco, gave notice that they would file a motion for a new trial. Pending arguments and action of the court, the defendants were released on $5,000 bond each.

Carbicella and Fusco, who are alleged to have been inveigled into the office of the sheriff after their purported offer of money, claimed they had tendered the cash as payment on an old liquor fine.

Three Women on Jury.

The jury, which was composed of nine men and three women, retired at 7:30 o'clock last night. Two of the women, according to reports in the court house corridors, held up the verdict for 16 ballots. The first poll is said to have been 10 to 2 for conviction ,then was cut to 7 to 5. On the seventeenth ballot, it stood 11 to 1.

At midnight, the jurors were called into the court room and asked if, in their opinion, there was any chance for a verdict. They asked another half hour for deliberation.

Harry N. Loop, of Salem, was foreman of the jury.

PERSONAL DINNER MEETING FRIDAY

Final meeting of the personal evangelistic campaign, which has been conducted here this week by Dr. Hugh Guy Black, Greencastle, Ind., evangelist, under auspices of the Ministerial association, will be held in the First Methodist Episcopal church at 6 o'clock tomorrow night.

The meetings are not open to the entire membership of the various cooperating churches but each congregation is represented by a large committee.

Charge of annoying females, filed against Edgar Vess, 18-year-old Burford street youth, was dismissed by Judge Hanley. The youth was represented by Attorney W. B. Hill.

Posey discovered the theft at 4:30 o'clock. The machine carried license plate No. 241-692 and was valued at approximately $200.

MRS. LAURA E. CHRISTY, SELF-CONFESSED SLAYER OF HER EIGHTH HUSBAND, HOPES TO WED AGAIN

Mrs. Laura E. Christy, of East Liverpool, self-confessed slayer of her eighth husband, Rev. William Christy, itinerant preacher, hopes to acquire another husband if she is released from the state hospital for criminal insane at Lima, according to Dan W. Gallagher, Cleveland newspaperman.

Mrs. Christy, sent to the Lima institution last January as a "woman bluebeard" by Columbiana county, has had all her teeth extracted, but she has $120 of the late Christy's money to pay for a new set of molars. And she is keeping her hair bobbed with the view of attracting admirers if ultimately given her freedom.

Writing under a Lima date line in the Cleveland News, Gallagher, who was assigned to "cover" the Christy murder story here nearly nine months ago, says:

"Mrs. Christy is Ohio's most unique ward. And she made a most terrible mistake when she confessed she poisoned Christy. For I discovered that examination of the contents of the stomach of Christy, conducted by state chemists at Columbus, revealed no trace of poison whatsoever.

"It will be remembered that following her arrest and confession, two East Liverpool physicians declared her to be insane. And her commitment to the state hospital here followed. It will also be recalled that some time following her arrival at the state hospital, Dr. Charles E. Clark, superintendent of the institution, declared tests revealed that while she is feeble-minded, she is not insane.

Confessed to Poisoning.

"At the time of her arrest, Mrs. Christy told me in the presence of Sheriff Wright, of Columbiana county, she had administered arsenic to Christy in their 'honeymoon shack' at East Liverpool eight days after she had become his bride. She also confessed to the poisoning of John Eberts, a Newell, W. Va., pottery worker, who was either her sixth or seventh husband. She said that in the case of Christy she purchased 25 cents worth of arsenic at an East Liverpool drug store and made use of it in encompassing his death. She then drew from the bank what money he had placed in their joint account—she supplying not even a dollar—then engaged a room in a house adjoining undertaking parlors so as to watch the body of her murdered mate being brought to the place next door. Now then: Since the druggist insists he never sold her poison and the state chemists found no traces of poison in Christy's viscera, the question arises: 'What caused Christy's death?'

He was buried as a murder victim. Her confession was accepted upon all sides. Had she been indicted and put upon trial for her life, the case would have fallen flat, due to the chemists' findings. On the other hand, due to her confession and the commitment papers, Laura Christ, sane, according to Dr. Clark, is mingling daily with insane women. The place for her, according to Dr. Clark, is in a home for the feeble minded and not in a hospital for the insane.

Employed in Laundry.

"I found Laura strolling along the corridor in the direction of pavilion twenty, where twenty or more out and out insane women are quartered. She is employed in the laundry by day is locked up with these poor unfortunates at night. Attendants are on duty in this pavilion at all hours.

Laura now denies that she killed

PRETTY WOMAN MURDER VICTIM AT CINCINNATI

HEAD CRUSHED

Mysterious Call to Coroner Leads to Ghastly Discovery.

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 21.—County authorities today were baffled in their attempts to identify the body of a young woman, apparently between 22 and 30 years of age, found nearly nude, in the Big Miami river near Columbia park, last night. The woman's head had been crushed, her jaw was fractured and a dark mark of a knife or dagger had left a stab wound in her breast, Coroner D. C. Handley stated.

The body had been in the water for about three days, he stated.

A pair of brown cotton stockings, one oxford and a small undergarment constituted the girl's apparel.

No other clothing was found by the deputy sheriffs in the vicinity.

A mysterious call to Coroner Handley about 7:30 last night, told of the body lying in a pile of driftwood beneath a railroad bridge. Although the call was presumed to have come from a train passenger or employe who sighted the body from a passing train, no trace of the message was announced by county officials today.

The girl had brown eyes, brown bobbed hair; perfect teeth, but one lower front tooth had been knocked out in her death struggle with the murderer or murderers, officials said. That the struggles preceding her death had been terrific was evident from the extent of her injuries. Morgue attendants where her body was being held for a post-mortem examination declared that the body was that of an attractive woman.

DEFENDANTS, STATE CHARGED, TRIED TO HALT KENNEY MURDER INQUIRY

Defense Files Motion for New Trial, and Accused Men are Released on $5,000 Bond Each Pending Arguments and Action of Court—Penalty is Prison Term.

Rocco Carbicella and Frank Fusco, both of Wellsville, were found guilty of attempted bribery by a jury in the Columbiana county common pleas court at Lisbon at 12:27 o'clock this morning after five hours' deliberation, during which 18 ballots were taken.

The defendants were charged with offering $390 to Sheriff George Wright if he would "lay off" his investigation of the murder of Patrolman James Kenney, who was shot down while patrolling his beat in Wellsville on May 17.

Attorneys W. A. O'Grady, of Wellsville, and Ben L. Bennett, of East Liverpool, who represented Carbicella and Fusco, gave notice that they would file a motion for a new trial. Pending arguments and action of the court, the defendants were released on $5,000 bond each.

Carbicella and Fusco, who are alleged to have been inveigled into the office of the sheriff after their purported offer of money, claimed they had tendered the cash as payment on an old liquor fine.

Three Women on Jury.

The jury, which was composed of nine men and three women, retired at 7:30 o'clock last night. Two of the women, according to reports in the court house corridors, held up the verdict for 16 ballots. The first poll is said to have been 10 to 2 for conviction ,then was cut to 7 to 5. On the seventeenth ballot, it stood 11 to 1.

At midnight, the jurors were called into the court room and asked if, in their opinion, there was any chance for a verdict. They asked another half hour for deliberation.

Harry N. Loop, of Salem, was foreman of the jury.

MRS. LAURA E. CHRISTY, SELF-CONFESSED SLAYER OF HER EIGHTH HUSBAND, HOPES TO WED AGAIN

Mrs. Laura E. Christy, of East Liverpool, self-confessed slayer of her eighth husband, Rev. William Christy, itinerant preacher, hopes to acquire another husband if she is released from the state hospital for criminal insane at Lima, according to Dan W. Gallagher, Cleveland newspaperman.

Mrs. Christy, sent to the Lima institution last January as a "woman bluebeard" by Columbiana county, has had all her teeth extracted, but she has $120 of the late Christy's money to pay for a new set of molars. And she is keeping her hair bobbed with the view of attracting admirers if ultimately given her freedom.

Writing under a Lima date line in the Cleveland News, Gallagher, who was assigned to "cover" the Christy murder story here nearly nine months ago, says:

"Mrs. Christy is Ohio's most unique ward. And she made a most terrible mistake when she confessed she poisoned Christy. For I discovered that examination of the contents of the stomach of Christy, conducted by state chemists at Columbus, revealed no trace of poison whatsoever.

"It will be remembered that following her arrest and confession, two East Liverpool physicians declared her to be insane. And her commitment to the state hospital here followed. It will also be recalled that some time following her arrival at the state hospital, Dr. Charles E. Clark, superintendent of the institution, declared tests revealed that while she is feeble-minded, she is not insane.

Confessed to Poisoning.

"At the time of her arrest, Mrs. Christy told me in the presence of Sheriff Wright, of Columbiana county, she had administered arsenic to Christy in their 'honeymoon shack' at East Liverpool eight days after she had become his bride. She also confessed to the poisoning of John Eberts, a Newell, W. Va., pottery worker, who was either her sixth or seventh husband. She said that in the case of Christy she purchased 25 cents worth of arsenic at an East Liverpool drug store and made use of it in encompassing his death. She then drew from the bank what money he had placed in their joint account—she supplying not even a dollar—then engaged a room in a house adjoining undertaking parlors so as to watch the body of her murdered mate being brought to the place next door. Now then: Since the druggist insists he never sold her poison and the state chemists found no traces of poison in Christy's viscera, the question arises: "What caused Christy's death?"

He was buried as a murder victim. Her confession was accepted upon all sides. Had she been indicted and put upon trial for her life, the case would have fallen flat, due to the chemists' findings. On the other hand, due to her confession and the commitment papers, Laura Christ, sane, according to Dr. Clark, is mingling daily with insane women. The place for her, according to Dr. Clark, is in a home for the feeble minded and not in a hospital for the insane.

Employed in Laundry.

"I found Laura strolling along the corridor in the direction of pavilion twenty, where twenty or more out and out insane women are quartered. She is employed in the laundry by day is locked up with these poor unfortunates at night. Attendants are on duty in this pavilion at all hours.

Laura now denies that she killed

Aerial Ambulance Designed By Captain Eugene Reinartz

East Liverpool Boy Perfects Up Emergency Plane After Accident in Which Mail Flyer is Fatally Injured.

An aerial ambulance, designed and constructed by Captain Eugene Reinartz, flight surgeon with the United States air service and a son of Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Reinartz, of Jackson street, probably will be adopted by United States Army officials for emergency cases. The aerial ambulance was demonstrated at a meeting of army doctors and surgeons held at Philadelphia last week.

Reinartz, a graduate doctor, is stationed at Boling Field near Washington. Captain Reinartz conceived the idea of an aerial ambulance about two months ago, when a mail flyer, enroute to Cleveland, became lost in the fog and crashed into the side of a mountain near Bellefonte, Pa.

The airman, suffering from a broken leg and internal injuries, crawled from the wreckage of his plane to a roadway about two miles away where he was found a couple of days later by members of a searching party. Reinartz and another flyer quickly rigged up an aerial ambulance when word reached Washington that the missing aviator had been found and hurried to Bellefonte. The man was rushed to the Walter Reed hospital at Washington where he died a few days later.

The Improved Anchor Hot Blast Heater Has No Equal

Wherever heating stoves are used, the Anchor Hot Blast Heater proves its superiority—proves that in downright efficiency, in convenience, in actual economy, it is without an equal.

This superiority is not an accident, but is the result of many years of practical and scientific heating-stove manufacture and practical tests.

The features of construction in the Anchor Hot Blast Heater meet every requirement of heating-stove efficiency and long-time service. Highest quality materials, expert workmanship, and scientific design combine to give a heating result unequalled in this type of heater.

The Anchor Hot Blast wil burn any fuel—hard coal, soft coal, lignite, wood, or coke, giving a uniform heat under perfect control, and a slow, economical combustion. Because of the hot-blast feature, the gases from soft coal are completely burned, making a ton of soft coal about equal to a ton of the more expensive hard coal.

Careful attention has been applie dto every detail of construction. And it is mounted absolutely air-tight and remains air-tight, because these details have been perfected and made practical.

In addition to a fine appearance that will last the life of the stove, the Anchor Hot Blast offers real home comfort and a saving of 25% on your fuel bill.

Municipal Issues in Wellsville

With ordinary revenues precluding the possibility of carrying out a program, which has the approval of the city council and Mayor W. L. Fogo, who are cognizant of the importance of the proposals, electors are asked to sanction bond issues to the amount of $45,500.

The five proposals are: Purchase of a fire truck and pumper, at a cost not to exceed $12,500; repairs to city hall, $2,500; construction of a sanitary sewer in the Third street district, for which $1,500 is sought; construction of relief storm sewers in the Seventeenth and Twentieth street districts, at respective costs of $24,000 and $5,000.

Recent storms have driven home the need of the sewer improvement program, while investment of $2,500 in city hall repairs should go a long way toward the preservation of the municipal building at Fifth and Main streets.

Approval of the five issues, which appear on one of the five ballots to be handed electors, will add only 2.55 mills to the taxes. And it will be a good investment for the taxpayers.

The Wellsville municipal improvement program should be sanctioned.

Deferred Payments

Retail sales in the United States last year amounted to $40,000,000,000, of which $3,000,000,000 were installment sales. This represents a vast amount of installment buying along many lines, but not a very alarming proportion of the whole. There is still 12 times as much selling on a cash basis or ordinary credit terms as there is on the installment plan.

The real danger is in the fact that the installment proportion is rapidly growing. Thoughtful merchants and financiers realize that if the present tendency continues, a time is sure to come when the deferred payment system will make a lot of trouble in this country. It might make trouble now if there came a sudden period of depression, leaving millions of people without means to meet their pledged payments.

Fortunately there is no depression in sight. Yet this is a matter in which the only wise policy is to go slowly and play safe. Extensive installment buying is a new thing, therefore demanding caution all the more.

Few people want to stop it, for it has obvious advantages to both seller and buyer, to business in general and to the public as a whole. Much of the present industrial prosperity is based on it. A cessation of installment selling at this time would be a bad thing. If there is to be any contraction, it must come gradually.

It may not be necessary to contract such buying. But careful observers agree that the situation calls for discretion—that sellers and buyers should avoid going recklessly ahead regardless of consequences.

Billions For "T. B."

Much progress has been made in controlling tuberculosis in this country, yet an organization fighting this disease declares that it is still costing the nation no less than $27,500,000,000 a year. Don't mistake the figures. It is 27 and a half billions, an enormous bill to pay for anything.

How is this loss estimated? The insurance companies say tuberculosis at present cuts two and one-half years from the average expectation of life. Reckoning the average contribution of the individual to the community's wealth as $100 a year—surely no over-estimate—that makes the sum mentioned, for our whole population.

Only one of those lost billions a year, spent for a few years, would almost stamp out this plague. One-tenth of one billion, backed by intelligent and concerted effort, especially through the widespread dissemination of knowledge on the subject, might suffice. It is a problem of discovering tubercular victims as early as possible, telling them what to do and having them do it.

House Traffic Rules

It is almost an dangerous in one's own home as it is in the street. Statistics show that last year there were 21,000 accidental deaths in homes to 25,000 traffic deaths.

Evidently there are traffic rules needed for the home. Here are a few, taken from a list of the most common causes of house accidents:

Keep all traffic routes about the house, from room to room and door to door, as free as possible from furniture and other obstacles.

We could well afford to cancel England's debt if she'd take back her sparrows

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 21. — Riverside Drive, next to Broadway and Fifth Avenue, is Manhattan's best known thoroughfare. Beginning at 72nd street, it offers a commanding vista of the rippling Hudson and sweeps northward beyond Inspiration Point with its commanding view of the purple colored Palisades.

Its wide, ribbon like roadways unwind with majestic grace. There is a "feel" to The Drive—like that of the Champs Elysees or Michigan Boulevard. Its towering apartments are wind swept and sunny and, built on a bluff, reveal the myriad river craft at its doorstep.

There are million dollar yachts, tiny sail boats, canoes, Albany side wheelers and huge gray battleships. Along the river ramparts is Riverside park with gool gravel paths where lovers stroll and children romp eyed by watchful nurses.

The Drive houses many illustrious names. Near the entrance is the mansion of Charles Schwab with the symbolic iron puddler statues on the lawn. The brick residence of Amelia Bingham, the actress, its facade dotten with rather grotesque statues in marble.

Farther north the massive apartment building which is the New York home of W. R. Hearst. The fine home of Bishop Potter has been torn down. Many other notables live there and there are also marble residences built by cigarette kings and the like.

A short distance from Grant's famous tomb is the little fenced off grave plot whose monument bears the inscription "To an Amiable Child." Then there is the Soldier and Sailor's monument and the heroic bronze of Joanne d'Arc.

The Drive is the only aristocratic thoroughfare in town not touched by the jarring note of trade. It has preserved its aloofness from the thundering herd doggedly and determinedly. It is not, strictly speaking, the most aristocratic street but it is certainly the most beautiful.

Edgar street is the shortest street in town. Broadway is the longest. Twenty-third street is the windiest. Bridge street is the most deserted. And Nassau street is the narrowest.

There are many claimants to the doubtful honor of introducing that over-worked bit of slang "Thanks for the buggy ride." It really goes back to our father's time but was revived on Broadway by Walter Catlett in "Sally" when it opened at the New Amsterdam theatre in January, 1921. His version was "Thanks for the peanuts and buggy ride" and it was thus shortened. He was also the first to introduce "Don't be stupid!" which about a year ago became "Don't be dull." And again he revived "Hot dog!"—his version being "Hot diggedy dog."

The birth of Broadway slang is usually traced to actors and for the very good reason that it is golden grist to their mill and they devote much time originating it. To introduce a few slang phrases that take on often means increased salaries. Comedians have lifted themselves to fame by a slang line.

A famous hotel is now an office building and at the exact spot where Caruso stood on a balcony Armistice Day and sang "The Star Spangled Banner" to roaring Broadway throngs I notice an office window heralding in gold leaf letters the virtues of a flesh reducer. In other days New York lived to eat. Today it lives to grow thin, be permanently waved and surgically "lifted."

It develops a famous Wall Street "sucker list" contains 30,000 names. They are those who have fallen time after time for spurious stock and probably will again. The list is sold to swindlers at a price ranging from $700 to $1,000.

My Favorite Stories

By IRVIN S. COBB

Already we know the story of the darky plaintiff in a divorce action who complained to the judge that the defendant, during the ten months of their married life had talked him into a state of desperation—had talked to him, at him, and through him, with never a moment's cessation, morning, noon, night and meal-times. So the judge said: "Well, what does she talk about?" and the injured party answered plaintively: "Tha's de trouble—she ain't never said yit!"

A household disturbance is being threshed out in the Court of Domestic Relations. The chief witness and presumably the only disinterested one is a neighbor of the warring pair.

The gentleman has just finished giving his testimony. The attorney for the lady in the case, who is also the complainant, takes him in hand for cross-examination.

"Now then, Mr. Jones," says the counsel very sharply, "please pay close attention to my question and make direct answers. You claim you overheard the quarrel between this couple?"

"Yes, sir."

"It went on for some time, eh?"

"It certainly did. It went on for hours."

"It was a very violent quarrel, you allege?"

"It was."

"Well then, tell the court, if you truthfully can, what the husband seemed to be doing?"

"He seemed to be doing the listening."

HASKINS' LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Modern Milk Transportation.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 21.—On Wednesday evening following the Florida hurricane disaster, Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, Chicago's health commissioner in charge of the relief train which his city had dispatched to the stricken state, telegraphed an urgent request that fresh milk be rushed for the relief of babies and the sick in Miami. Sunday morning at one o'clock 6,000 gallons of fresh tuberculin-tested, pasteurized milk in perfect condition arrived in Miami in had been 76 hours enroute, but only 54 hours in actual transit.

That this could be done is the miracle of modern transportation of milk. Dr. Bundesen knew it could be done, because long before the hurricane, a world's record had been made in the shipment of milk from Marshfield, Wis., to Miami. That shipment was an 1,800 mile trip of 101 hours, with a climatic variation of 66 degrees, but with a change in the temperature of the milk of only 1 degree.

It was made in February when the temperature at Marshfield was 26 degrees. The milk was cooled to a temperature of 35 degrees. When it arrived in Miami the outdoor temperature was 92 degrees, but the temperature of the milk was 36 degrees. The claim was made that the milk arrived a 100 per cent perfect product after having been transported nearly 10 times the distance ever covered before.

The glass-lined refrigerated milk tank car is the explanation of this miracle. Not many years ago the area from which a supply of milk might be drawn for a central point was decidedly limited—a radius of 50 miles at best—and shipping meant spoilage, spillage, wastage, much labor, and expense. Today, with the tank car, no one knows what the limit of transportation may be. It has not been established as yet. But with the record of 1800 miles it is apparent that a tremendous change has been made in the map for dairymen.

The first long distance shipments of milk were made in standard refrigerator cars from Southern Ohio to Miami some three years ago, but the process was so expensive, if it had no other drawbacks, that the milk had to be sold in the Florida city at a price ranging from 27 to 35 cents a quart.

What Tank Car Accomplishes.

The development of the milk tank car means that a highly perishable, vitally necessary human food can be transported long distances successfully and quickly under diverse climatic conditions. The General American Car company, of Chicago, spent five years in perfecting the car of the type which it donated for rushing the emergency relief shipment of milk from Wisconsin to Miami. In this work its construction engineers had the cooperation of natinally known dairy experts.

For its car the company claims economies of handling at every stage, economies of transportation, economies in equipment used, economies in labor cost, enlargement of the supply areas, and great improvement in quality of product. Just what all this amounts to when it is translated into price of milk that has been transported varying distances is not explained. However, an idea of what it must be may be gathered when it is known that a tank car carries 6,000 gallons. A regular milk express car carries only approximately 2,000 gallons of milk in bottles and cans.

Thus one car takes the place of three. Also, milk shipped in cans and bottles must be loaded and unloaded by hand at an obviously high labor cost, whereas the tank car may be loaded and unloaded either by stationary milk pump or by air pressure.

The body construction of the car is of the express car type, with underframe that meets all railway requirements, with floors sloped to center to insure drainage, and with a remov-

Municipal Issues in Wellsville

With ordinary revenues precluding the possibility of carrying out a program, which has the approval of the city council and Mayor W. L. Fogo, who are cognizant of the importance of the proposals, electors are asked to sanction bond issues to the amount of $45,500.

The five proposals are: Purchase of a fire truck and pumper, at a cost not to exceed $12,500; repairs to city hall, $2,500; construction of a sanitary sewer in the Third street district, for which $1,500 is sought; construction of relief storm sewers in the Seventeenth and Twentieth street districts, at respective costs of $24,000 and $5,000.

Recent storms have driven home the need of the sewer improvement program, while investment of $2,500 in city hall repairs should go a long way toward the preservation of the municipal building at Fifth and Main streets.

Approval of the five issues, which appear on one of the five ballots to be handed electors, will add only 2.55 mills to the taxes. And it will be a good investment for the taxpayers.

The Wellsville municipal improvement program should be sanctioned.

Deferred Payments

Retail sales in the United States last year amounted to $40,000,000,000, of which $3,000,000,000 were installment sales. This represents a vast amount of installment buying along many lines, but not a very alarming proportion of the whole. There is still 12 times as much selling on a cash basis or ordinary credit terms as there is on the installment plan.

The real danger is in the fact that the installment proportion is rapidly growing. Thoughtful merchants and financiers realize that if the present tendency continues, a time is sure to come when the deferred payment system will make a lot of trouble in this country. It might make trouble now if there came a sudden period of depression, leaving millions of people without means to meet their pledged payments.

Fortunately there is no depression in sight. Yet this is a matter in which the only wise policy is to go slowly and play safe. Extensive installment buying is a new thing, therefore demanding caution all the more.

Few people want to stop it, for it has obvious advantages to both seller and buyer, to business in general and to the public as a whole. Much of the present industrial prosperity is based on it. A cessation of installment selling at this time would be a bad thing. If there is to be any contraction, it must come gradually.

It may not be necessary to contract such buying. But careful observers agree that the situation calls for discretion—that sellers and buyers should avoid going recklessly ahead regardless of consequences.

Billions For "T. B."

Much progress has been made in controlling tuberculosis in this country, yet an organization fighting this disease declares that it is still costing the nation no less than $27,500,000,000 a year. Don't mistake the figures. It is 27 and a half billions, an enormous bill to pay for anything.

How is this loss estimated? The insurance companies say tuberculosis at present cuts two and one-half years from the average expectation of life. Reckoning the average contribution of the individual to the community's wealth as $100 a year—surely no over-estimate—that makes the sum mentioned, for our whole population.

Only one of those lost billions a year, spent for a few years, would almost stamp out this plague. One-tenth of one billion, backed by intelligent and concerted effort, especially through the widespread dissemination of knowledge on the subject, might suffice. It is a problem of discovering tubercular victims as early as possible, telling them what to do and having them do it.

House Traffic Rules

It is almost an dangerous in one's own home as it is in the street. Statistics show that last year there were 21,000 accidental deaths in homes to 25,000 traffic deaths.

Evidently there are traffic rules needed for the home. Here are a few, taken from a list of the most common causes of house accidents:

Keep all traffic routes about the house, from room to room and door to door, as free as possible from furniture and other obstacles.

We could well afford to cancel England's debt if she'd take back her sparrows

The Toonerville Trolley That Meets All The Trains — By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 21. — Riverside Drive, next to Broadway and Fifth Avenue, is Manhattan's best known thoroughfare. Beginning at 72nd street, it offers a commanding vista of the rippling Hudson and sweeps northward beyond Inspiration Point with its commanding view of the purple colored Palisades.

Its wide, ribbon like roadways unwind with majestic grace. There is a "feel" to The Drive—like that of the Champs Elysees or Michigan Boulevard. Its towering apartments are wind swept and sunny and, built on a bluff, reveal the myriad river craft at its doorstep.

There are million dollar yachts, tiny sail boats, canoes, Albany side wheelers and huge gray battleships. Along the river ramparts is Riverside park with cool gravel paths where lovers stroll and children romp eyed by watchful nurses.

The Drive houses many illustrious names. Near the entrance is the mansion of Charles Schwab with the symbolic iron puddler statues on the lawn. The brick residence of Amelia Bingham, the actress, its facade dotted with rather grotesque statues in marble.

Farther north the massive apartment building which is the New York home of W. R. Hearst. The fine home of Bishop Potter has been torn down. Many other notables live there and there are also marble residences built by cigarette kings and the like.

A short distance from Grant's famous tomb is the little fenced off grave plot whose monument bears the inscription "To an Amiable Child." Then there is the Soldier and Sailor's monument and the heroic bronze of Joanne d'Arc.

The Drive is the only aristocratic thoroughfare in town not touched by the jarring note of trade. It has preserved its aloofness from the thundering herd doggedly and determinedly. It is not, strictly speaking, the most aristocratic street but it is certainly the most beautiful.

Edgar street is the shortest street in town. Broadway is the longest. Twenty-third street is the windiest. Bridge street is the most deserted. And Nassau street is the narrowest.

There are many claimants to the doubtful honor of introducing that over-worked bit of slang "Thanks for the buggy ride." It really goes back to our father's time, but was revived on Broadway by Walter Catlett in "Sally" when it opened at the New Amsterdam theatre in January, 1921. His version was "Thanks for the peanuts and buggy ride" and it was thus shortened. He was also the first to introduce "Don't be stupid!" which about a year ago became "Don't be dull." And again he revived "Hot dog!"—his version being "Hot diggedy dog."

The birth of Broadway slang is usually traced to actors and for the very good reason that it is golden grist to their mill and they devote much time originating it. To introduce a few slang phrases that take on often means increased salaries. Comedians have lifted themselves to fame by a slang line.

A famous hotel is now an office building and at the exact spot where Caruso stood on a balcony Armistice Day and sang "The Star Spangled Banner" to roaring Broadway throngs I notice an office window heralding in gold leaf letters the virtues of a flesh reducer. In other days New York lived to eat. Today it lives to grow thin, be permanently waved and surgically "lifted."

It develops a famous Wall Street "sucker list" contains 30,000 names. They are those who have fallen time after time for spurious stock and probably will again. The list is sold to swindlers at a price ranging from $700 to $1,000.

My Favorite Stories

By IRVIN S. COBB

Already we know the story of the darky plaintiff in a divorce action who complained to the judge that the defendant, during the ten months of their married life had talked him into a state of desperation—had talked to him, at him, and through him, with never a moment's cessation, morning, noon, night and meal-times. So the judge said: "Well, what does she talk about?" and the injured party answered plaintively: "Tha's de trouble—she ain't never said yit!"

A household disturbance is being threshed out in the Court of Domestic Relations. The chief witness and presumably the only disinterested one is a neighbor of the warring pair.

The gentleman has just finished giving his testimony. The attorney for the lady in the case, who is also the complainant, takes him in hand for cross-examination.

"Now then, Mr. Jones," says the counsel very sharply, "please pay close attention to my question and make direct answers. You claim you overheard the quarrel between this couple?"

"Yes, sir."

"It went on for some time, eh?"

It certainly did. It went on for hours."

"It was a very violent quarrel, you allege?"

"It was."

"Well then, tell the court, if you truthfully can, what the husband seemed to be doing?"

"He seemed to be doing the listening."

BOOK FOUR—IX.

The room beyond the screen is enormously large, and looks even larger because its walls are dusky-black and seem to mingle with the night in an infinitude of darkness. A ruby necklace of lights encircles these walls—ornamentally, not usefully. There is a great horseshoe packed tight with black lacquered tables bordered in red, and little black-and-red chairs, and topple . . . and at the open end of the horseshoe Happy Hatton's Celebrated Syncopated Seven preside, in an elevated alcove draped in scarlet satin, like the boudoir of a courtesan. The dance floor is oval, painted black and red, and above it searchlights from opposite corners meet to play with a globe of tiny morrors hung high in the center, and to win therefrom a thousand iridescences. Wisps of light spray down from this globe upon the dancers, and blobs of it drift over their faces like huge intangible snowflakes, making them look pretty—much prettier than they are.

Of course, there are crowds and crowds. There are ball room crowds that smack of valets and French maids and show windows on Fifth avenue. There are amusement-park crowds with sleazy dresses and gents' ready-to-wear suits and run-down heels and jaws in perpetual motion. There are baseball crowds, straw-hatted, shirt-sleeved, perspiring. There are football crowds, vast gay menageries of fur. There are movie crowds sticky with candy, pale with bad air; and hotel crowds, dark-clad and middle-aged and smug. But the roadhouse crowd is like no other in the world.

When she sang "My man went off and left me all alone," she broke your heart.

To begin with, it is bored. With itself, with its neighbor, with all things. It has lived hard and swiftly, the roadhouse crowd, and now it is burned out and bored; and so it cries for White Rock and cracked ice, and mixes itself illegitimate drinks, and downs them, and mixes more, and downs them . . . that it may forget how bored it is, that it may become merry and loud and hysterical . . . and a little disgusting . . .

Then it pounds the table and calls for music. And it dances, after its curious wobbly fashion, and pats its fat palms at the musicians. And after that it returns to its table, and perhaps kisses its partner for the edification of the next table, and orders a club sandwich that it doesn't want, and fishes under the chair for its bottle . . . and repeats itself and repeats itself . . . until at last the check girl helps it into the wrong coat, and the guardian of the parking space tells it to "watch out for the turn, sir, remember," and it goes wavering off to its home, wherever that is.

And if you take the roadhouse crowd apart to see what makes it tick, you come upon such curious cogs as these:

Lewd women dressed in white, like brides. Pudgy-legged women in the most abbreviated skirts of all. Girls with fresh young faces and eyes a million aeons old. Drunken mothers. Bedizened grandmothers, whom you somehow know will pay their callow escorts' dinner checks. Lounging jointless boys with lifeless skin. Men with benign silver hair and Mephistophelian faces. Men with bald heads and loose, slippery mouths. Roues of twenty. Frail sisters of seventeen. Chorus girls and college boys. Boarding school girls and youths their parents have forbidden them to see. Glove-counter clerks and traveling salesmen. Young matrons enjoying an extra-nuptial thrill. Young benedicts enjoying an extra-nuptial thrill. Rouge turned purple under the lights. Thick red necks in wilting collars. Three-karat diamonds and dirty finger nails. Dandruff on dinner coats. Rolls of flabby flesh bulging over the tops of tight bodices. Silken insteps swollen fat above tight shoes. Heavy yellow powder and piercing perfume. Love words in crow voices. Laughter, high-pitched, hideous. And eyes. Greedy eyes. Weary eyes. Eyes like sucked wells. Bloodshot eyes. Roadhouse eyes, as bright and glossy and hard and cold as the marbles children play with.

The patrons of Terrace Tavern liked the new entertainers, liked them immediately and immensely, and learned to anticipate them with increasing impatience. "Wait'll you see this red head!" the men would say, smacking their lips. The women, saying nothing, would fasten their glances on the little door at the right of the orchestra's alcove and watch for the dark tall boy with the crooked impersonal—so darned impersonal! — smile. There would be a hush of expectancy over all the room . . . a flare-up of bright lights . . . a crash of clapping as the little door opened and Yvonne and Jock appeared.

It was a simple thing they did. Perhaps its very simplicity was what made it appealing. They came out together, hand in hand, Jock immaculate and imposing in a "tux" to pattern after, Yvonne brilliant as some exotic bird in one or another of the daring gowns she had selected for this purpose. They walked to the center of the floor, nodding to the applauding throng as though to a single intimate friend. ("Some night," Jock had predicted, "they aren't going to applaud, and then that march across the floor in dead stillness will be ungodly awful." But his prediction had not come true, and seemingly never would.) Once there, he knelt on one knee and rested his banjo on the other and plucked marvelous shoulder-stirring harmony from the strings. And Yvonne stood beside him, with her hands on her hips and her body bent the least bit forward, and sang the Blues in her lovely melancholy voice that so befitted them. Because she had the art to create an illusion of reality, her songs were more than just songs; they were anecdotes set to music, tiny cross-sections of life—her life, you felt. When she sang He Used to Be Yours But I Got Him, she gave you a sense of her personal triumph over an unseen rival and asked you to gloat with her in it. When she sang Don't Think I Care What You Do, she made your own lip curl vicariously. When she sang My Man Went Off and Left Me All Alone, she broke you heart.

At the end she would bow, gracefully, prettily. And Jock would get to his feet and bow also, the jerky bow of an embarrassed small boy at dancing school . . . and he would laugh a little, as though to say, "You're right—the joke's on me!" He never noticed that the applause swelled in volume at this point, but it always did. Public fancy is a mysterious thing. Professionals may labor years and fail to catch it, and a rank amateur like Jock, all unawares, may call it his on the strength of a boy and a deprecatory grin.

QUIT GETTING UP NIGHTS

A Healthy Bladder Acts During the Day

C. N. Shuman, Republic, Ohio, says: "Before taking Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula) had to get up six or seven times each night. Now I do not get up at all. You may use my name if it would benefit anyone with bladder trouble." Be careful not to take drugs that check the action of the bladder. You may have to continue its use. Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula) increases the action during the day. It cleanses the bladder as epsom salts do the bowels driving out foreign matter, neutralizing excess acids, thereby relieving the irritation which causes "Getting Up Nights." The tablets cost 2c each at all drug stores or Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio. Locally at J. D. Holloway, Druggist.

When she sang He Used to Be Yours But I Got Him, she gave you a sense of her personal triumph over an unseen rival and asked you to gloat with her in it. When she sang Don't Think I Care What You Do, she made your own lip curl vicariously. When she sang My Man Went Off and Left Me All Alone, she broke you heart.

At the end she would bow, gracefully, prettily. And Jock would get to his feet and bow also, the jerky bow of an embarrassed small boy at dancing school . . . and he would laugh a little, as though to say, "You're right—the joke's on me!" He never noticed that the applause swelled in volume at this point, but it always did. Public fancy is a mysterious thing. Professionals may labor years and fail to catch it, and a rank amateur like Jock, all unawares, may call it his on the strength of a boy and a deprecatory grin.

Peterson's Ointment Best For Eczema

First Application Stops Itching of Eczema and Piles—Ends Chafing Distress in Five Minutes.

"Live and let live is my motto," says Peterson of Buffalo. "Druggists all over America sell PETERSON'S OINTMENT for 35 cents a large box and I say to these druggists, if anyone buys my ointment for any of the diseases or ailments for which I recommend it and are not benefited, give them their money back."

"I've got a safe full of thankful letters testifying to the mighty healing power of Peterson's Ointment for old and running sores, eczema, salt rheum, ulcers, sore feet, broken breast, itching scalp, chafing and blind, itching and bleeding piles."

T. G. Rokestrom, of 808 Loraine Street, Detroit, writes: "I suffered with piles for over 25 years—nothing did me any good. After my fourth box of Peterson's Ointment I am nearly cured. It is the greatest ointment I ever heard of."

QUIT GETTING UP NIGHTS

A Healthy Bladder Acts During the Day

C. N. Shuman, Republic, Ohio, says: "Before taking Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula) had to get up six or seven times each night. Now I do not get up at all. You may use my name if it would benefit anyone with bladder trouble." Be careful not to take drugs that check the action of the bladder. You may have to continue its use. Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula) increases the action during the day. It cleanses the bladder as epsom salts do the bowels driving out foreign matter, neutralizing excess acids, thereby relieving the irritation which causes "Getting Up Nights." The tablets cost 2c each at all drug stores or Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio. Locally at J. D. Holloway, Druggist.

KLAN'S ROLE IN POLITICS IS UNDER FIRE

CALLS WITNESSES

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 21.—Immediate transfer from Chicago to Indianapolis of the federal slush fund inquiry into Indiana's political muddle was requested from his sick bed in the Methodist hospital here today by U. S. Senator James E. Watson, Republican, of Indiana.

Senator Watson dispatched a telegram to U. S. Senator James R. Reed, Democrat, of Missouri, conducting the hearing in Chicago, urging him to shift the scene of the hearing here to enable Watson to personally refute the testimony given yesterday by Hugh Pat Emmons, South Bend Ku Klux Klan cyclops.

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—The amazing influence of the Ku Klux Klan upon American politics was subjected anew today to federal investigation as Senator James A. Reed (D. of Mo.), ripped the mask of concealment from activities of the invisible empire at his "one-man" slush fund inquiry.

On an official quest for illegal use of campaign funds in the Indiana senatorial race Reed sought more light on the hooded organization's secret rule over members of congress, its nation-wide campaign to control elections and its supreme aspiration to name its own candidate—Senator James E. Watson, Republican, of Indiana—to the presidency of the United States in 1928. The Klan's sweeping domination of politics in Indiana, which provoked a revolt in the ranks of the invisible empire, provided an immediate background.

Reed recalled Hugh Pat Emmons, former cyclops of the South Bend klavern, to pick up the thread of its remarkable revelations of the Klan's political intrigues. A number of other Klan leaders were also present under subpoena as were Clyde A. Walb, Republican state chairman of Indiana, and Earl S. Peters, the Democratic state chairman.

Emmons Creates Sensation.

Because of Emmons' initial story of Klan activities, it was reported Reed would summon W. Hiram Evans, imperial wizard of the Klan, and William F. Zumbrunn, its general counsel, to explain their alleged "influence" over senatorial elections and the United States senate itself. It was Evans, Emmons previously testified, who declared Zumbrunn could "put over any program" desired in Washington through his influence upon senators.

The Indiana inquiry completely overshadowed the less sensational investigation which Reed earlier conducted into the Illinois senatorial campaign. This inquiry will not be closed until further evidence is heard about the Anti-Saloon League's control of Illinois politics and especially the charges of Hugh S. Magill, independent candidate, that the league knowingly issued false campaign literature.

The Klan's activities meanwhile held the center of the stage. When first on the witness stand, Emmons created a series of sensations by declaring, on the authority of Imperial Wizard Evans, that:

1.—The goal of the Klan is to completely dominate American elections.

2.—The Klan will seek to place Senator "Jim" Watson in the White House at the 1928 election.

3.—The Klan seated Senator Earle B. Mayfield, Democrat, of Texas, a Klansman, by enlisting the aid of Republican senators through the influence of Senator Watson.

4.—William F. Zumbrunn, the Klan's general counsel can "put over any program" in Washington.

Emmons' Charges

5.—Imperial Wizard Evans ordered the Indiana Klan to "go down the line" in behalf of Senator Watson and Senator Arthur S. Robinson, Republicans, in the coming election.

6.—The Indiana "grand dragon", W. Lee Smith, expelled several local Klans for failing to support Watson and that Smith offered him (Emmons) a $10,000 bribe to swing the South Bend klavern to Watson's support.

7.—The national and state klan headquarters have spent huge sums to influence elections, which were never accounted for, the national Klan body getting $7,000,000 annually in dues while at the height of its power.

8.—The Klan generally sought to influence national legislation by filing petitions with congress, which were signed by Klansmen who concealed their Klan affiliations.

These allegations, particularly concerning the Klan's use of funds in senatorial campaigns, won Reed's undivided attention. The "fighting Missourian" indicated he would attempt to learn the extent of these expenditures if at all possible.

Invites Inquiry In Ohio.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 21.—An invitation to send a representative here to probe political expenditures was telegraphed this afternoon to James A. Reed, Democrat of Missouri, head of the Senatorial Campaign Investigating Committee, by Charles R. Frederickson, chairman of the Ohio Republican committee, shortly after it became qnown that the Democratic state chairman, Thomas E. Dye, had written Reed suggesting a watch be kept on Republican expenditures in the state campaign.

One Baby is Dead, Eight Ill, Due to Mistake of Nurse

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 21—One baby is dead and eight others are ill, but will recover, at the General hospital here today through the mistake of a student nurse who gave the nine babies a lactic acid for cod liver oil.

The dead baby is the 16-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Antone Laipus of Minneapolis. His mother is confined to the hospital and has not been told of the child's death.

50 HEAR TALKS ON TWO ISSUES

School Levy-City Bond Meet in Mission.

Fifty residents of the Trentvale school district attended a mass meeting held in the Trentvale Mission, Dresden avenue, last evening at which both the proposed school levy and municipal building bond issue were discussed.

Mayor Ralph C. Benedum, President of Council Kerr, Councilmen Farrall, Hughes and Poole appeared as the representatives of the city, while D. F. White and R. B. Stevenson, board of education members, and Superintendent of Schools C. S. McVay spoke for the schools. Frank Hull, seventh vice-president of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, who also attended the meeting, spoke in behalf of the city hall bond issue.

Board of education members tonight will go to the Glenmoor school for a rally in behalf of the proposed levy but inasmuch as this district is outside the city limits, representatives of the municipal government will not attend.

Rallies will be held at both the Sixth street and the Horace Mann school buildings on Friday evening.

Local Union No. 124, which endorsed the bond issue proposition Tuesday evening, is said to be one of the largest locals affiliated with the N. B. of O. P. Its membership is made up of five crafts—gilders, liners, decal workers, warehousemen and decorating kilnfiremen. Members of the barbers' and jiggermen's locals heard discussions of the city hall proposition by members of council at their meetings this week.

"Love Pill" Death Case Goes to Jury In Cleveland Court

CLEVELAND, Oct. 21.—The jury which will decide the fate of Ermil "Frenchy" Balanescu, charged with manslaughter, in connection with the death of his sweetheart, Dorothy Kirk, began its deliberations here at 11 o'clock today.

The youthful medical student, is charged with manslaughter, it being alleged that he administered poisonous "love pills" to the girl.

NOTED ARCHITECT UNDER ARREST

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 21. — Frank Lloyd Wright, noted Chicago architect, under arrest here today, may face charges of violating the Mann act, by the federal government, if an investigation launched today by G. H. Hennegar, chief agent in charge of the department of justice here, discloses that the millionaire Chicago architect violated the federal statute.

With him in jail is Madame Olga Milanoff, Montenegrin dancer, and her two children, who, it is alleged, were occuping a cottage with Wright at Lake Minnetonka, near Minneapolis.

ted the hospitals and other places where groups of injured were sheltered, offering his sympathies and all possible government assistance.

The gunboat Hatuey was sunk near the Triscornia government immigration detention station. The exact number of other vessels lost is not yet known.

American firms were heavy losers in the gale. A number of automobile concerns and garages sustained severe damage, and part of the loading machinery of the Havana Coal company was blown into the sea.

Prison Ship Breaks Moorings.

All the wharves suffered damage to a greater or lesser degree.

What threatened for a time to become a real disaster occurred when the steamship Maximo Gommez, formerly a German vessel which was interned during the World war, and recently has been utilized as a place of detention for undesirable aliens pending their deportation, broke her moorings and went careening about the harbor. The derelict struck several other ships at anchor, causing considerable damage before it was brought into tow by tugboats. The prisoners aboard, including a number of Chinese, were badly frightened when brought ashore and lodged in jail.

News from the provinces is most meager, and it is not known how the outlying districts fared in the storm. Communication had not yet been established with the Isle of Pines today. Some apprehension was felt for the inhabitants of the island, as it was believed to be in the path of the storm center.

American Embassy Damaged.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. — The American embassy at Havana was badly damaged by the destructive cyclone which struck Havana yesterday, American Ambassador Crowder informed the state department today. No one was injured. The embassy staff is safe.

Weather Bureau Report.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Florida has escaped the tropical hurricane which swept over Cuba, the weather bureau declared today.

"While gales were experienced on the extreme southern Florida coast no winds of hurricane force were reported from land stations," the bureau said.

The bureau issued the following 10:30 a. m., advisory report:

"The tropical disturbance continues of great intensity, having passed from Havana northeastward a short distance off the southeast coast of Florida. It is apparently central this morning about latitude 27 longitude 76½, moving northeast."

Miami is Spared.

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 21.—Spared at the last minute from the hurricane which swept near the Florida mainland yesterday, Miami today resumed its task of removing all signs of the previous tropical storm which swept this city on Sept. 18.

After hours of preparation to meet the full force of the storm predicted to strike this area, Miami during the early hours of last night resembled a tomb, streets were deserted and the city was in darkness.

Impromptu Celebrations.

As soon as it became apparent that the full force of the storm would not strike here, Miami residents braved a tropical downpour and crowded the down town streets.

Impromptu celebrations were staged far into the night, the weather bureau at the postoffice being the scene of an informal dance.

The main damage so far reported in the Greater Miami district was to telephone and telegraph wires. The poles carrying power to the water plant at Hialeah were blown down, cutting the city off from water service which is expected to be resumed at noon. Two firemen were injured fighting a fire which broke out shortly before dark.

Slayer Hopes to Wed

Eberts. Institution records reveal that she still insists that Christy met death at her hands.

"I asked her how she was getting along.

"'If I can't go free I'd just as soon be here as in some other institution,' she said.

Dr. Clark informed me that when she was searched on her arrival at the hospital, $120 was found upon her.

Since she had no money of her own when she married Christy, this must have been Christy's money, drawn from the bank by her just prior to her arrest.

Would Wed Again.

"'Would you wed again if given your liberty?'" I asked.

"'Well, I might if I could find the right kind of a man. I might say that I still have hopes in that direction, that is, if they only let me out of here. My eyesight is bothering me. I busted my horn-rimmed glasses. But other than that I feel fine. And I'll look just as nice as ever when I get my new teeth. I haven't a tooth in my head right now. I've had 'em all pulled.'"

"Laura may have been attractive in her girlhood. But such isn't the case now. She is of tremendous girth. She looks better than when I interviewed her at Lisbon last January. But how she won husband after husband is quite beyond me.

"I informed her I have received a letter from a man residing in Killbuck, O., informing me he had married her in January, 1925, thus making him her sixth husband and that she left him in June of that year, telling him she was going to East Liverpool 'to get her furniture,' after which she wrote him she had no intention of returning.

"'That isn't true,' she said. 'If he says I married him, he is mistaken. I was never in Killbuck in my life. I don't know any one having that name. He's away off when he says I am the woman he married.'

"So I let it go at that."

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—An overcrowded short interest was compelled to scramble for stocks to cover their short trails at the beginning of trading today, prices of active stocks ranged all the way from 2 to 6 points higher in the early trading. General Motors and Dupont led the way to the higher price levels, with initial jumps of 4 1-2 and 6 points respectively, and numerous motor and industrial shares recovered a good share of yesterday's losses.

Futher impetus was given to the upward move by the retention of the 4 per cent bank rate by the Boston Reserve bank and rumors that the New York bank might reduce its rediscount rate.

Crude oil price cuts are looked for as an essential check on the huge production of that commodity at present. Call money renewals were posted at 4 1-2 per cent.

The rally lost momentum in the second hour, when stocks purchased during Wednesday's decline were thrown on the market on profit-taking. Good buying demand appeared for the dividend industrials and a few of the rails, but oils, specialties, coppers and equipments sought the lower price levels as stocks continued to be freely offered. Grain and cotton steady.

Chicago Gangland Truce Pact Ends as Another is Slain

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—Reports of the signing of an armistice in Chicago's gangland, after two years of intermittent warfare which brought more than 100 deaths, were shattered today before the ink on the papers which heralded the truce was dry.

The body of a well-dressed, unidentified man, a bullet wound behind the left ear, was found in a West Side alley.

A .45 caliber automatic—the favorite toy of the underworld—was used to bring about his death.

Police said they believed he had been "taken for a ride" and thrown from the automobile in which he had been killed.

TODAY

ON OCT. 27 the nation will celebrate navy day. What has it actually got to celebrate in the way of a modern navy? The navy on the water is no longer important. Only boats under water and flying boats count. There is no use talking about celebrating navy day in this country until we have an air navy worth celebrating.

WE HAVE good sailors, good flyers, a few of them, splendid marksmen, any number of brave men willing to do any kind of work. But our navy, if real modern war came, would be about as useful as the Russian regiments whose ammunition didn't fit their guns.

PROUD Americans, good women especially, are grieved by statements made in modern histories of George Washington. Men in each generation live as their generation lives.

Washington was no exception. Living in slavery days, he had slaves—their quarters on his Mount Vernon plantation are visible. He lived in an age when everybody drank temperately, and manufactured some of his alcoholic drinks, wisely, that he might know what was in them.

HIS ancestors, living 10,000 years before Washington, probably practiced cannibalism occasionally. Had he liven then he would have done as they did. Washington did not quite fulfill the ideals of the good 1926 Y. W. C. A., but the ladies should rejoice that he established a nation in which the Y. W. C. A. could become a useful reality.

KIWANIS O. K.'S BOND PROPOSAL

Municipal Building Plan Endorsed at Noon Luncheon.

Unanimous endorsement of the proposed $225,000 municipal building bond issue to be submitted to the voters at the November 2 election, was voted by the Kiwanis club at today's luncheon in the Larkins' annex, Market street.

The endorsement followed an appeal made by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley, who referred to the condition of the present city hall at the corner of Third and Market streets and pointed out that the increased taxes for the new structure would be only one-half mill. The club named F. G. Jones, W. B. Hill and John Morton members of a bond booster committee.

Attorney Hill discussed the proposed amendment to the constitution modifying the primary law and urged that members of the club use their efforts in getting out a big vote at the coming election. Passage of the amendment was urged.

W. A. Weaver urged support of the Salvation army campaign which will open next Monday evening. Frank G. Jones told of plans for the visit which the club will make to Leetonia next Tuesday evening when they will be guests of Leetonia Kiwanians.

Other speakers at the meeting were Cyril Taylor, of Chester, and Rev. J. L. Mater, pastor of the St. Ann's Catholic church, East End.

EUGENE V. DEBS, 71, SOCIALIST LEADER DIES

Wife and Brother at Bedside When Death Comes.

ILL FOR WEEKS

Stormy Career Won Him Friends and Bitter Enemies.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—The body of Eugene V. Debs, for quarter of a century the leader of the American Socialist party, will be taken home today—back to Terre Haute, Ind., the scene of his humble birth.

There, where he was simply "Gene" and not the fiery spokesman whose eloquence had kindled the flames of socialism in the breasts of millions throughout the world, simple funeral services will be held Saturday, following which the body will be taken to Indianapolis for cremation.

Accompanying the body will be the widow, Katherine, and the devoted brother, Theodore.

Debs died yesterday at the Lindlahr sanitarium at Elmhurst, near here, to which he had gone two weeks ago to recover from a generally rundown condition. He was aged 71.

Today, telegrams of condolence from men and women in all stations of life and in all parts of the world poured in to relatives here.

Not surprising, for Foley Pills, diuretic, are a reliable, valuable, tonic medicine, constantly in use over 25 years, promoting that satisfactory cleansing flow so necessary to good health. KLAN'S ROLE IN POLITICS IS UNDER FIRE

CALLS WITNESSES

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 21.—Immediate transfer from Chicago to Indianapolis of the federal slush fund inquiry into Indiana's political muddle was requested from his sick bed in the Methodist hospital here today by U. S. Senator James E. Watson, Republican, of Indiana.

Senator Watson dispatched a telegram to U. S. Senator James R. Reed, Democrat, of Missouri, conducting the hearing in Chicago, urging him to shift the scene of the hearing here to enable Watson to personally refute the testimony given yesterday by Hugh Pat Emmons, South Bend Ku Klux Klan cyclops.

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—The amazing influence of the Ku Klux Klan upon American politics was subjected anew today to federal investigation as Senator James A. Reed (D. of Mo.), ripped the mask of concealment from activities of the invisible empire at his "one-man" slush fund inquiry.

On an official quest for illegal use of campaign funds in the Indiana senatorial race Reed sought more light on the hooded organization's secret rule over members of congress, its nation-wide campaign to control elections and its supreme aspiration to name its own candidate—Senator James E. Watson, Republican, of Indiana—to the presidency of the United States in 1928. The Klan's sweeping domination of politics in Indiana, which provoked a revolt in the ranks of the invisible empire, provided an immediate background.

Reed recalled Hugh Pat Emmons, former cyclops of the South Bend klavern, to pick up the thread of its remarkable revelations of the Klan's political intrigues. A number of other Klan leaders were also present under subpoena as were Clyde A. Walb, Republican state chairman of Indiana, and Earl S. Peters, the Democratic state chairman.

Emmons Creates Sensation.

Because of Emmons' initial story of Klan activities, it was reported Reed would summon W. Hiram Evans, imperial wizard of the Klan, and William F. Zumbrunn, its general counsel, to explain their alleged "influence" over senatorial elections and the United States senate itself. It was Evans, Emmons previously testified, who declared Zumbrunn could "put over any program" desired in Washington through his influence upon senators.

The Indiana inquiry completely overshadowed the less sensational investigation which Reed earlier conducted into the Illinois senatorial campaign. This inquiry will not be closed until further evidence is heard about the Anti-Saloon League's control of Illinois politics and especially the charges of Hugh S. Magill, independent candidate, that the league knowingly issued false campaign literature.

The Klan's activities meanwhile held the center of the stage. When first on the witness stand, Emmons created a series of sensations by declaring, on the authority of Imperial Wizard Evans, that:

1.—The goal of the Klan is to completely dominate American elections.

2.—The Klan will seek to place Senator "Jim" Watson in the White House at the 1928 election.

3.—The Klan seated Senator Earle B. Mayfield, Democrat, of Texas, a Klansman, by enlisting the aid of Republican senators through the influence of Senator Watson.

4.—William F. Zumbrunn, the Klan's general counsel can "put over any program" in Washington.

Emmons' Charges

On his own knowledge, Emmons further declared:

5.—Imperial Wizard Evans ordered the Indiana Klan to "go down the line" in behalf of Senator Watson and Senator Arthur S. Robinson, Republicans, in the coming election.

6.—The Indiana "grand dragon", W. Lee Smith, expelled several local Klans for failing to support Watson and that Smith offered him (Emmons) a $10,000 bribe to swing the South Bend klavern to Watson's support.

7.—The national and state klan headquarters have spent huge sums to influence elections, which were never accounted for, the national Klan body getting $7,000,000 annually in dues while at the height of its power.

8.—The Klan generally sought to influence national legislation by filing petitions with congress, which were signed by Klansmen who concealed their Klan affiliations.

These allegations, particularly concerning the Klan's use of funds in senatorial campaigns, won Reed's undivided attention. The "fighting Missourian" indicated he would attempt to learn the extent of these expenditures if at all possible.

Invites Inquiry In Ohio.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 21.—An invitation to send a representative here to probe political expenditures was telegraphed this afternoon to James A. Reed, Democrat of Missouri, head of the Senatorial Campaign Investigating Committee, by Charles R. Frederickson, chairman of the Ohio Republican committee, shortly after it became known that the Democratic state chairman, Thomas E. Dye, had written Reed suggesting a watch be kept on Republican expenditures in the state campaign.

50 HEAR TALKS ON TWO ISSUES

School Levy-City Bond Meet in Mission.

Fifty residents of the Trentvale school district attended a mass meeting held in the Trentvale Mission, Dresden avenue, last evening at which both the proposed school levy and municipal building bond issue were discussed.

Mayor Ralph C. Benedum, President of Council Kerr, Councilmen Farrall, Hughes and Poole appeared as the representatives of the city, while D. F. White and R. B. Stevenson, board of education members, and Superintendent of Schools C. S. McVay spoke for the schools. Frank Hull, seventh vice-president of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, who also attended the meeting, spoke in behalf of the city hall bond issue.

Board of education members tonight will go to the Glenmoor school for a rally in behalf of the proposed levy but inasmuch as this district is outside the city limits, representatives of the municipal government will not attend.

Rallies will be held at both the Sixth street and the Horace Mann school buildings on Friday evening.

Local Union No. 124, which endorsed the bond issue proposition Tuesday evening, is said to be one of the largest locals affiliated with the N. B. of O. P. Its membership is made up of five crafts—gilders, liners, decal workers, warehousemen and decorating kilnfiremen. Members of the barbers' and jiggermen's locals heard discussions of the city hall proposition by members of council at their meetings this week.

The youthful medical student, is charged with manslaughter, it being alleged that he administered poisonous "love pills" to the girl.

NOTED ARCHITECT UNDER ARREST

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 21. — Frank Lloyd Wright, noted Chicago architect, under arrest here today, may face charges of violating the Mann act, by the federal government, if an investigation launched today by G. H. Hennegar, chief agent in charge of the department of justice here, discloses that the millionaire Chicago architect violated the federal statute.

With him in jail is Madame Olga Milanoff, Montenegrin dancer, and her two children, who, it is alleged, were occuping a cottage with Wright at Lake Minnetonka, near Minneapolis.

The consulate at Havana was only slightly damaged.

Weather Bureau Report.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Florida has escaped the tropical hurricane which swept over Cuba, the weather bureau declared today.

"While gales were experienced on the extreme southern Florida coast no winds of hurricane force were reported from land stations," the bureau said.

The bureau issued the following 10:30 a. m., advisory report:

"The tropical disturbance continues of great intensity, having passed from Havana northeastward a short distance off the southeast coast of Florida. It is apparently central this morning about latitude 27 longitude 76½, moving northeast."

Miami is Spared.

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 21.—Spared at the last minute from the hurricane which swept near the Florida mainland yesterday, Miami today resumed its task of removing all signs of the previous tropical storm which swept this city on Sept. 18.

After hours of preparation to meet the full force of the storm predicted to strike this area, Miami during the early hours of last night resembled a tomb, streets were deserted and the city was in darkness.

Impromptu Celebrations.

As soon as it became apparent that the full force of the storm would not strike here, Miami residents braved a tropical downpour and crowded the down town streets.

Impromptu celebrations were staged far into the night, the weather bureau at the postoffice being the scene of an informal dance.

The main damage so far reported in the Greater Miami district was to telephone and telegraph wires. The poles carrying power to the water plant at Hialeah were blown down, cutting the city off from water service which is expected to be resumed at noon. Two firemen were injured fighting a fire which broke out shortly before dark.

Eberts. Institution records reveal that she still insists that Christy met death at her hands.

"I asked her how she was getting along.

"'If I can't go free I'd just as soon be here as in some other institution,' she said.

Dr. Clark informed me that when she was searched on her arrival at the hospital, $120 was found upon her.

Since she had no money of her own when she married Christy, this must have been Christy's money, drawn from the bank by her just prior to her arrest.

Would Wed Again.

"'Would you wed again if given your liberty?'" I asked.

"'Well, I might if I could find the right kind of a man. I might say that I still have hopes in that direction, that is, if they only let me out of here. My eyesight is bothering me. I busted my horn-rimmed glasses. But other than that I feel fine. And I'll look just as nice as ever when I get my new teeth. I haven't a tooth in my head right now. I've had 'em all pulled.'"

"Laura may have been attractive in her girlhood. But such isn't the case now. She is of tremendous girth. She looks better than when I interv'ewed her at Lisbon last January. But how she won husband after husband is quite beyond me.

"I informed her I have received a letter from a man residing in 'Killbuck,' O., informing me he had married her in January, 1925, thus making him her sixth husband and that she left him in June of that year, telling him she was going to East Liverpool 'to get her furniture,' after which she wrote him she had no intention of returning.

"'That isn't true,' she said. 'If he says I married him, he is mistaken. I was never in Killbuck in my life. I don't know any one having that name. He's away off when he says I am the woman he married.'

"So I let it go at that."

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—An overcrowded short interest was compelled to scramble for stocks to cover their short trails at the beginning of trading today, prices of active stocks ranged all the way from 2 to 6 points higher in the early trading. General Motors and Dupont led the way to the higher price levels, with initial jumps of 4 1-2 and 6 points respectively, and numerous motor and industrial shares recovered a good share of yesterday's losses.

Futher impetus was given to the upward move by the retention of the 4 per cent bank rate by the Boston Reserve bank and rumors that the New York bank might reduce its rediscount rate.

Crude oil price cuts are looked for as an essential check on the huge production of that commodity at present. Call money renewals were posted at 4 1-2 per cent.

The rally lost momentum in the second hour, when stocks purchased during Wednesday's decline were thrown on the market on profit-taking. Good buying demand appeared for the dividend industrials and a few of the rails, but oils, specialties, coppers and equipments sought the lower price levels as stocks continued to be freely offered. Grain and cotton steady.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—Reports of the signing of an armistice in Chicago's gangland, after two years of intermittent warfare which brought more than 100 deaths, were shattered today before the ink on the papers which heralded the truce was dry.

The body of a well-dressed, unidentified man, a bullet wound behind the left ear, was found in a West Side alley.

A .45 caliber automatic—the favorite toy of the underworld—was used to bring about his death.

Police said they believed he had been "taken for a ride" and thrown from the automobile in which he had been killed.

ON OCT. 27 the nation will celebrate navy day. What has it actually got to celebrate in the way of a modern navy? The navy on the water is no longer important. Only boats under water and flying boats count. There is no use talking about celebrating navy day in this country until we have an air navy worth celebrating.

WE HAVE good sailors, good flyers, a few of them, splendid marksmen, any number of brave men willing to do any kind of work. But our navy, if real modern war came, would be about as useful as the Russian regiments whose ammunition didn't fit their guns.

PROUD Americans, good women especially, are grieved by statements made in modern histories of George Washington. Men in each generation live as their generation lives.

Washington was no exception. Living in slavery days, he had slaves—their quarters on his Mount Vernon plantation are visible. He lived in an age when everybody drank temperately, and manufactured some of his alcoholic drinks, wisely, that he might know what was in them.

HIS ancestors, living 10,000 years before Washington, probably practiced cannibalism occasionally. Had he liven then he would have done as they did. Washington did not quite fulfill the ideals of the good 1926 Y. W. C. A., but the ladies should rejoice that he established a nation in which the Y. W. C. A. could become a useful reality.

KIWANIS O. K.'S BOND PROPOSAL

Municipal Building Plan Endorsed at Noon Luncheon.

Unanimous endorsement of the proposed $225,000 municipal building bond issue to be submitted to the voters at the November 2 election, was voted by the Kiwanis club at today's luncheon in the Larkins' annex, Market street.

The endorsement followed an appeal made by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley, who referred to the condition of the present city hall at the corner of Third and Market streets and pointed out that the increased taxes for the new structure would be only one-half mill. The club named F. G. Jones, W. B. Hill and John Morton members of a bond booster committee.

Attorney Hill discussed the proposed amendment to the constitution modifying the primary law and urged that members of the club use their efforts in getting out a big vote at the coming election. Passage of the amendment was urged.

W. A. Weaver urged support of the Salvation army campaign which will open next Monday evening. Frank G. Jones told of plans for the visit which the club will make to Leetonia next Tuesday evening when they will be guests of Leetonia Kiwanians.

Other speakers at the meeting were Cyril Taylor, of Chester, and Rev. J. L. Mafer, pastor of the St. Ann's Catholic church, East End.

Stormy Career Won Him Friends and Bitter Enemies.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—The body of Eugene V. Debs, for quarter of a century the leader of the American Socialist party, will be taken home today—back to Terre Haute, Ind., the scene of his humble birth.

There, where he was simply "Gene" and not the fiery spokesman whose eloquence had kindled the flames of socialism in the breasts of millions throughout the world, simple funeral services will be held Saturday, following which the body will be taken to Indianapolis for cremation.

Accompanying the body will be the widow, Katherine, and the devoted brother, Theodore.

Debs died yesterday at the Lindlahr sanitarium at Elmhurst, near here, to which he had gone two weeks ago to recover from a generally rundown condition. He was aged 71.

Today, telegrams of condolence from men and women in all stations of life and in all parts of the world poured in to relatives here.

STATE AUDITOR IS SUSPENDED

Governor Howard Gore Upholds Charges Made Against Bond.

Governor Howard M. Gore last night suspended from office State Auditor John C. Bond on charges of malfeasance in office. Secretary of State George W. Sharp was designated to take charge of the $30,000,000 in securities in the state auditor's office and to assume duties of the suspended official.

The suspension of State Auditor Bond comes as the climax of an official investigation by Governor Gore into certain practices in the auditor's office alleged to have started in 1921 and continued through the first term of the state auditor, which ended in 1925. The irregularities in office consisted of the illegal withdrawal of state funds for purposes other than the state purposes and on account of the diverting of funds to purposes other than those intended by the legislature.

A hearing on the charges was conducted about a week ago by Governor Gore.

From the "unexplained and uncontroverted facts disclosed at the hearing before me," the governor said in his decision, 'I am led to conclude that public funds have been illegally withdrawn from the treasury upon warrants issued and authorized by John C. Bond, auditor of the state of West Virginia.

"At the time of the illegal withdrawal of the funds in question," the governor's decision continued, "it was the intent of the auditor to divert the said illegally withdrawn funds from the purposes intended by the legislature authorizing such appropriations and expenditures; and that the charges of neglect of official duty, illegal and unwarranted withdrawal of public funds so charged in the specifications of the attorney general filed with me, have been sustained and proven by the evidence submitted before me.

The attorney general of the state was instructed by the governor to begin civil proceedings to recover back from Auditor Bond all of the money belonging to the state of West Virginia which has been found that he illegally withdrew from the treasury of the state.

STATE AUDITOR IS SUSPENDED

Governor Howard Gore Upholds Charges Made Against Bond.

Governor Howard M. Gore last night suspended from office State Auditor John C. Bond on charges of malfeasance in office. Secretary of State George W. Sharp was designated to take charge of the $30,000,000 in securities in the state auditor's office and to assume duties of the suspended official.

The suspension of State Auditor Bond comes as the climax of an official investigation by Governor Gore into certain practices in the auditor's office alleged to have started in 1921 and continued through the first term of the state auditor, which ended in 1925. The irregularities in office consisted of the illegal withdrawal of state funds for purposes other than the state purposes and on account of the diverting of funds to purposes other than those intended by the legislature.

A hearing on the charges was conducted about a week ago by Governor Gore.

From the "unexplained and uncontroverted facts disclosed at the hearing before me," the governor said in his decision, 'I am led to conclude that public funds have been illegally withdrawn from the treasury upon warrants issued and authorized by John C. Bond, auditor of the state of West Virginia.

"At the time of the illegal withdrawal of the funds in question," the governor's decision continued, "it was the intent of the auditor to divert the said illegally withdrawn funds from the purposes intended by the legislature authorizing such appropriations and expenditures; and that the charges of neglect of official duty, illegal and unwarranted withdrawal of public funds so charged in the specifications of the attorney general filed with me, have been sustained and proven by the evidence submitted before me.

The attorney general of the state was instructed by the governor to begin civil proceedings to recover back from Auditor Bond all of the money belonging to the state of West Virginia which has been found that he illegally withdrew from the treasury of the state.

G. O. P. NOMINEE SUPPORTS GOOD ROADS PROGRAM

COOPER SPEAKS AT WELLSVILLE CAMPAIGN MEET

Promises Study to Cut Heavy Tax Burden.

CONDEMNS WASTE

E. T. Fogo Temporary Chairman at City Hall Here.

Promising a thorough study of taxation in an effort to relieve the heavy burden now shouldered by Ohio voters, pledging his support to a good roads program in Ohio, condemning the waste and extravagance of the present administration and placing the blame for what he termed the bankruptcy of the state treasury upon the shoulders of the present governor, Myers Y. Cooper, of Cincinnati, Republican candidate for the governorship, yesterday addressed a large audience in council chambers in the city hall building.

Referring to his good roads views, Cooper mentioned especially the Ohio river road which he branded as a route fully as beautiful as that along the Hudson and predicted the completion in the future of a highway fully as fine as any in the country.

In the absence of Mayor W. L. Fogo, chairman of the Wellsville central committee, E. T. Fogo, his son, opened the meeting. In his brief remarks Fogo introduced Elmer Walker, county auditor, who, in turn, presented Cooper, the latter being introduced as "Ohio's next governor."

Urges Business-Like Methods.

In the conduct of the business of the state of Ohio Cooper advised the adoption of business like methods. Himself a successful business man, as evidenced by his home building enterprises in Cincinnati, and possessor of an extraordinary ability as a "doctor" of "sick" businesses he emphasized the necessity for the election of an administration head capable of conducting the affairs of Ohio as a successfull business would be operated.

He condemned especially the waste and extravagance of the present administration, Governor Donahey's veto of the gasoline tax measure which he hailed as one of the most useful proposals of its nature, and the present executive's inconsistent action in taking credit for the good road projects that have developed from the gasoline tax money.

He dwelled on the vast number of automobiles that have been purchased by the state and told of the surprisingly large amount of money that has been expended in the buying of road equipment, deemed unnecessary, which he asserted, may be found lying along the roadsides in most sections of the state.

"If I am elected governor," he assured his audience, "I certainly will not have to purchase any road equipment."

Formerly a large part of the state automobiles were roadsters and touring cars, chiefly of a small type but now, Cooper pointed out, these have given way to limousines, sedans, coaches, coupes and automobiles of higher value.

One man, he declares, was going to and from his job 40 miles daily, "on the gasoline and on the tires that you bought."

Congressman Murphy Speaks.

Congressman Frank Murphy, of Steubenville, a member of the party which accompanied the gubernatorial candidate here, gave an address following Cooper's talk.

Murphy urged the electors' approval of Cooper as Ohio's next governor and the election of Frank B. Willis as Uniter States senator.

He discussed the issue chiefly from the standpoint of tariff, pointing to Willis and a Republican congress as symbolical of protection to the laboring man and to the industries of the United States by virtue of their constructive tariff program, a means for making this nation the most prosperous in the world.

Quoting W. E. Wells, of Newell, W. Va., secretary-treasurer of the Homer Laughlin Pottery Co., to whom he referred as "the greatest potter in the country," Congressman Murphy pointed out that English potters are making one-fourth of the wages that American workers in the industry are.

The federal government has succeeded in reducing taxes and its indebtedness, as well, he said, quoting from facts with which he is well familiar as a result of his high position in the appropriations committee. And the state of Ohio, through a business-like administration such as Mr. Cooper is capable of giving, should also be able to emulate the achievement of the national government, he declared.

Congressman Murphy's address was followed by a brief talk by Earl Lewis, of St. Clairsville, Republican nominess for state senator. Lewis urged the voting of the straight Republican ticket at the November 2nd election, asserting that the party, in reality was to be considered rather than the individual.

Visit Irondale.

Cooper and his party arrived here at 3 o'clock from East Liverpool where he delivered an open air address. He was accompanied by Mrs Cooper and a delegation composed of Congressman Murphy, Earl Lewis, Ralph Emmons, East Rochester, and W. H. Van Fossan, Lisbon, candidates for state representative; George Wright, candidate for re-election as sheriff; Elmer Walker, county auditor; J. H. Sinclair, candidate for commissioner; Paul Smith, candidate for recorder; Probate Judge Lodge Riddle and Attorney W. F. Lones, candidates for judge of common pleas court; Clerk of Courts Ballantine; and Fred George, nominee for county treasurer.

From Irondale Cooper drove to Steubenville where he held a night meeting.

KEY MEN PROFIT

Pay Raise Retroactive as of October 16.

Approximately 10,000 employes of the Pennsylvania railroad in the Central district are affected by the wage increase announced yesterday for shop craft workers of the system.

In all, approximately 43,000 men were benefited, 10,000 in the Central region of which the local shops are a part. The increase amounts to three cents an hour or 24 cents for an eight-hour day.

The wage increases are retroactive as of October 16, it was announced.

The increase given shop men came as the result of a series of conferences held in Pittsburgh between the railroad and representatives of the shops crafts employes. These meetings were ended on Tuesday when it was decided to grant the increase which affects shop employes such as mechanics, helpers, apprentices, car inspectors, repairmen, carpenters, blacksmiths, and similar workmen, according to local authorities.

Appeal In 35-Year Lease Fight Refused By State Supreme Court

Mary I. Bunting and Donald A. Bunting are Victors in Property Controversy in Decision of High Tribunal.

The appeal of Mrs. Ella McCown, executrix of the estate of the late C. C. McCown, of Riverside avenue, who formerly occupied a building near Ninth and Main street, as a grocer, from the findings of two lower courts, involving a property lease in Phelps' addition to Wellsville was refused yesterday in the supreme court at Columbus.

The appeal, which marked the final step in a series of court fights, was directed against common pleas and appeals courts' findings for Mary I. Bunting and Donald A. Bunting and others.

A number of years ago Austin Gaver McKenzie and his sister, Sara M. Luke, drew a lease between them by which tenants occupying property owned by them, and facing Ninth street, near the corner, would have the right of entrance and exit over a section of property now occupied, on the front end, by the building erected by the late C. C. McCown.

The Buntings eventually bought the property from Sara Luke, and the lease, of 35 years duration, was sold along with the property as an appurtenance.

It was the contention of the McCown estate that the lease was not transferable.

Referring to his good roads views, Cooper mentioned especially the Ohio river road which he branded as a route fully as beautiful as that along the Hudson and predicted the completion in the future of a highway fully as fine as any in the country.

In the absence of Mayor W. L. Fogo, chairman of the Wellsville central committee, E. T. Fogo, his son, opened the meeting. In his brief remarks Fogo introduced Elmer Walker, county auditor, who, in turn, presented Cooper, the latter being introduced as "Ohio's next governor."

Urges Business-Like Methods.

In the conduct of the business of the state of Ohio Cooper advised the adoption of business like methods. Himself a successful business man, as evidenced by his home building enterprises in Cincinnati, and possessor of an extraordinary ability as a "doctor" of "sick" businesses he emphasized the necessity for the election of an administration head capable of conducting the affairs of Ohio as a successfull business would be operated.

He condemned especially the waste and extravagance of the present administration, Governor Donahey's veto of the gasoline tax measure which he hailed as one of the most useful proposals of its nature, and the present executive's inconsistent action in taking credit for the good road projects that have developed from the gasoline tax money.

He dwelled on the vast number of automobiles that have been purchased by the state and told of the surprisingly large amount of money that has been expended in the buying of road equipment, deemed unnecessary, which he asserted, may be found lying along the roadsides in most sections of the state.

"If I am elected governor," he assured his audience, "I certainly will not have to purchase any road equipment."

Formerly a large part of the state automobiles were roadsters and touring cars, chiefly of a small type but now, Cooper pointed out, these have given way to limousines, sedans, coaches, coupes and automobiles of higher value.

One man, he declares, was going to and from his job 40 miles daily, "on the gasoline and on the tires that you bought."

Congressman Murphy Speaks.

Congressman Frank Murphy, of Steubenville, a member of the party which accompanied the gubernatorial candidate here, gave an address following Cooper's talk.

Murphy urged the electors' approval of Cooper as Ohio's next governor and the election of Frank B. Willis as Uniter States senator.

He discussed the issue chiefly from the standpoint of tariff, pointing to Willis and a Republican congress as symbolical of protection to the laboring man and to the industries of the United States by virtue of their constructive tariff program, a means for making this nation the most prosperous in the world.

Quoting W. E. Wells, of Newell, W. Va., secretary-treasurer of the Homer Laughlin Pottery Co., to whom he referred as "the greatest potter in the country," Congressman Murphy pointed out that English potters are making one-fourth of the wages that American workers in the industry are.

The federal government has succeeded in reducing taxes and its indebtedness, as well, he said, quoting from facts with which he is well familiar as a result of his high position in the appropriations committee. And the state of Ohio, through a business-like administration such as Mr. Cooper is capable of giving, should also be able to emulate the achievement of the national government, he declared.

Congressman Murphy's address was followed by a brief talk by Earl Lewis, of St. Clairsville, Republican nominess for state senator. Lewis urged the voting of the straight Republican ticket at the November 2nd election, asserting that the party, in reality was to be considered rather than the individual.

Visit Irondale.

Cooper and his party arrived here at 3 o'clock from East Liverpool where he delivered an open air address. He was accompanied by Mrs Cooper and a delegation composed of Congressman Murphy, Earl Lewis, Ralph Emmons, East Rochester, and W. H. Van Fossan, Lisbon, candidates for state representative; George Wright, candidate for re-election as sheriff; Elmer Walker, county auditor; J. H. Sinclair, candidate for commissioner; Paul Smith, candidate for recorder; Probate Judge Lodge Riddle and Attorney W. F. Lones, candidates for judge of common pleas court; Clerk of Courts Ballantine; and Fred George, nominee for county treasurer.

Immediately following his talk here Cooper, accompanied by John Gilson, secretary to Congressman Murphy, left for Irondale where he was to pay a brief visit.

From Irondale Cooper drove to Steubenville where he held a night meeting.

PENNSY SHOP CRAFT WORKERS GIVEN RAISE

10,000 in Central Region Benefit by Increase.

KEY MEN PROFIT

Pay Raise Retroactive as of October 16.

Approximately 10,000 employes of the Pennsylvania railroad in the Central district are affected by the wage increase announced yesterday for shop craft workers of the system.

In all, approximately 43,000 men were benefited, 10,000 in the Central region of which the local shops are a part. The increase amounts to three cents an hour or 24 cents for an eight-hour day.

Telegraphers employed throughout the system were given a raise of two cents an hour, according to word received from Chicago. Of this class of men, from 1,700 to 1,800 are employed in the central region, more than half of that number being engaged in the Pittsburgh district, according to local officials of the company. The wage increases are retroactive as of October 16, it was announced.

The increase given shop men came as the result of a series of conferences held in Pittsburgh between the railroad and representatives of the shops crafts employes. These meetings were ended on Tuesday when it was decided to grant the increase which affects shop employes such as mechanics, helpers, apprentices, car inspectors, repairmen, carpenters, blacksmiths, and similar workmen, according to local authorities.

The negotiations for an increase in wages was conducted under the railroad's plan of employes' representation.

Appeal In 35-Year Lease Fight Refused By State Supreme Court

Mary I. Bunting and Donald A. Bunting are Victors in Property Controversy in Decision of High Tribunal.

The appeal of Mrs. Ella McCown, executrix of the estate of the late C. C. McCown, of Riverside avenue, who formerly occupied a building near Ninth and Main street, as a grocer, from the findings of two lower courts, involving a property lease in Phelps' addition to Wellsville was refused yesterday in the supreme court at Columbus.

The appeal, which marked the final step in a series of court fights, was directed against common pleas and appeals courts' findings for Mary I. Bunting and Donald A. Bunting and others.

A number of years ago Austin Gaver McKenzie and his sister, Sara M. Luke, drew a lease between them by which tenants occupying property owned by them, and facing Ninth street, near the corner, would have the right of entrance and exit over a section of property now occupied, on the front end, by the building erected by the late C. C. McCown.

The Buntings eventually bought the property from Sara Luke, and the lease, of 35 years duration, was sold along with the property as an appurtenance.

It was the contention of the McCown estate that the lease was not transferable.

Is Your Child Thin and Weak?

Right Way to Put on Good Flesh and Make Them Grow Up Strong and Vigorous.

As a body builder, an appetite creator, and to make weak, skinny boys and girls sturdy, strong and full of energy, there is nothing like Cod Liver Oil—any physician will tell you that.

But it's vile, horrible stuff to take, and is apt to upset any stomach, so now doctors are prescribing and wise parents are buying McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—sugar coated, and as easy to take as candy.

The son of George G. O'Brien of Mahwah, N. J., was thin and pale and did not get enough nourishment from his feed. In a little over two months, he gained eleven and one-half pounds, and feels and looks one hundred per cent better.

Mothers, if any of your children are weak, thin or puny, give them these tablets, as directed for 30 days, and watch them gain flesh and health from day to day—they seldom fail—but if the unusual should happen and you are not supremely satisfied with results—your druggist is authorized to return your money.

Be sure—always—to insist on the original and genuine McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—60 tablets 60 cents at Mathews' Medicine Store, or any druggist. Thousands of boxes sold daily.

Hatkin's Letter

able one-piece roof to facilitate the removal of the tanks from the car in case of accident, repair, or other emergency. Each car has to glass-coated, seamless, one-piece glass-lined tanks, which are mounted in an asphalt bed, and insulated with two inches of approved insulation which is covered with a 90-pound insulating paper and jacketed with steel. The tanks are pitched to the center of the car for drainage, and the cars are equipped with a ventilating system, electric lights, and water reservoir to wash tanks and floor after unloading if no water supply is available at railroad siding.

Not only has this car been built for use on the steam railroads, but a smaller car is constructed for use on electric interurban lines. Cars of the latter type with a capacity of 5,000 gallons are being operated in carrying milk from Flint, Michigan, to the plant of a Detroit creamery company, a distance of 73 miles, at a cost of 22 cents per 100 pounds. This represents a transportation cost of less than half a cent per quart.

For carrying smaller quantities of milk and covering shorter distances tank motor trucks are also now being used by up-to-date dairies.

Government Experts Interested.

Government experts in the Department of Agriculture have been greatly interested in the development of this modern method of milk transportation, and they agree that it is proving a direct benefit to the consuming public as well as to the mild producer, the railroad carrier, and the milk distributor. They say that it insures the carrying of milk with a change in temperature of not to exceed 3 degrees, eliminates the use of cans and their cleaning, handling, and return as empties, and in the case of the tank cars, one does the work of three standard express cars.

For the most practical, efficient, and economical use of the milk tank cars, according to these authorities, a pick-up service should not be attempted in gathering the milk. The milk should be received at a central station where it can be cooled to the desired temperature and then drawn off into the distributing plant where they can be unloaded quickly by the air pressure pump.

The first tank cars, the Department says, were used in Boston. They were of 3,120 gallons capacity and made trips of about 12 miles.

One advantage of the use of the tank car that may be pointed out is that in case of dairies each with an output too small to warrant the purchase or lease of a car, two or three of them may combine in the peration of a car to secure their supplies from a single producing center.

Motor trucks with tanks for hauling milk are rapidly coming into more general use. One Washington dairy has adopted this service, and a company in Detroit has 30 or more trucks in operation.

These trucks are of varying capacity—865 gallons, 950 gallons, 1,025 gallons, and so on. They vary because of differing road laws in states and cities restricting the loads that may be carried over highways and streets.

Long distance transportation of milk is of inestimable benefit, it is recognized, to sections of the country that are not adapted to dairying. It makes it possible for people to have fresh milk in places to which a cow is a complete stranger, and for those in great centers of population to secure their supply economically from constantly increasing distances.

Bread, according to the American Chemical Society experts, has a considerable alcoholic content, which may be why so many men customers buy buns.—Zanesville Signal.

Announcing

The New Orthophonic

Victor Record

PERFECTED at last—a record that captures everything and misses nothing! A record of golden, natural, mellow tone, and amazing range—a record as good as the Orthophonic Victrola itself!

For two years, Victor experimented to produce this record. The entire resources of the Victor organization were enlisted to find a record that would contain all the musical elements which the Orthophonic Victrola is capable of expressing.

The new Orthophonic Record is the result. It is new—entirely new. It is recorded electrically, and is unparalleled in clarity, in tone, and in fidelity to the original. There is nothing with which to compare it, except the singing or playing of the artists themselves.

Reproduces all tones of all instruments

On these new Orthophonic Victor Records, high notes and low notes are now reproduced in their proper proportions. The bass is deep, sonorous. The higher notes brilliant, expressive. Tones that escaped former recording processes are now caught and reproduced with a naturalness that is positively startling. The spoken word has the breath of life. Even "s" sounds are now perfectly intoned.

Microphone recording—Orthophonic—Artists now sing or play in natural position before a microphone, just as they sing or play at a public performance. The microphone "hears" and records what you would hear were you there.

Unpleasant scratch eliminated—Made from a new, improved material, Orthophonic Records have eliminated those annoying surface-noises so common to the ordinary type of record. You hear the music and nothing else. Also, these records have longer life.

That elusive "third dimension"—Victor has captured what a great musician calls the "third dimension"—depth! Just as the great masters gave "relief" and depth to their paintings, so these new records give depth and roundness of tone to reproduced music.

Foremost artists in every class—Victor has always attracted the foremost singers and instrumentalists of the world—operatic—orchestral—popular and dance. Their confidence is more than ever justified by the lifelike fidelity of Victor's new Orthophonic recordings.

Record stops automatically—An exclusive feature of the Orthophonic Victor Record is a groove, cut "off center." When the music has finished, the needle swings into this groove and applies the automatic stop on all modern Victrolas.

Hearing is believing—Whether you own an Orthophonic Victrola or not, hear these new Victor Records. They play on any instrument—and vastly improve its playing quality.

Go to your nearest Victor dealer. Go expecting the musical thrill of a lifetime. You will not be disappointed.

Is Your Child Thin and Weak?

As a body builder, an appetite creator, and to make weak, skinny boys and girls sturdy, strong and full of energy, there is nothing like Cod Liver Oil—any physician will tell you that.

But it's vile, horrible stuff to take, and is apt to upset any stomach, so now doctors are prescribing and wise parents are buying McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—sugar coated, and as easy to take as candy.

The son of George G. O'Brien of Mahwah, N. J., was thin and pale and did not get enough nourishment from his feed. In a little over two months, he gained eleven and one-half pounds, and feels and looks one hundred per cent better.

Mothers, if any of your children are weak, thin or puny, give them these tablets, as directed for 30 days, and watch them gain flesh and health from day to day—they seldom fail—but if the unusual should happen and you are not supremely satisfied with results—your druggist is authorized to return your money.

Be sure—always—to insist on the original and genuine McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—60 tablets 60 cents at Mathews' Medicine Store, or any druggist. Thousands of boxes sold daily.

able one-piece roof to facilitate the removal of the tanks from the car in case of accident, repair, or other emergency. Each car has 10 glass-coated, seamless, one-piece glass-lined tanks, which are mounted in an asphalt bed, and insulated with two inches of approved insulation which is covered with a 90-pound insulating paper and jacketed with steel. The tanks are pitched to the center of the car for drainage, and the cars are equipped with a ventilating system, electric lights, and water reservoir to wash tanks and floor after unloading if no water supply is available at railroad siding.

Not only has this car been built for use on the steam railroads, but a smaller car is constructed for use on electric interurban lines. Cars of the latter type with a capacity of 5,000 gallons are being operated in carrying milk from Flint, Michigan, to the plant of a Detroit creamery company, a distance of 73 miles, at a cost of 22 cents per 100 pounds. This represents a transportation cost of less than half a cent per quart.

For carrying smaller quantities of milk and covering shorter distances tank motor trucks are also now being used by up-to-date dairies.

Government Experts Interested.

Government experts in the Department of Agriculture have been greatly interested in the development of this modern method of milk transportation, and they agree that it is proving a direct benefit to the consuming public as well as to the mild producer, the railroad carrier, and the milk distributor. They say that it insures the carrying of milk with a change in temperature of not to exceed 3 degrees, eliminates the use of cans and their cleaning, handling, and return as empties, and in the case of the tank cars, one does the work of three standard express cars.

For the most practical, efficient, and economical use of the milk tank cars, according to these authorities, a pick-up service should not be attempted in gathering the milk. The milk should be received at a central station where it can be cooled to the desired temperature and then drawn off into the distributing plant where they can be unloaded quickly by the air pressure pump.

The first tank cars, the Department says, were used in Boston. They were of 3,120 gallons capacity and made trips of about 120 miles.

One advantage of the use of the tank car that may be pointed out is that in case of dairies each with an output too small to warrant the purchase or lease of a car, two or three of them may combine in the peration of a car to secure their supplies from a single producing center.

Motor trucks with tanks for hauling milk are rapidly coming into more general use. One Washington dairy has adopted this service, and a company in Detroit has 30 or more trucks in operation.

These trucks are of varying capacity—865 gallons, 950 gallons, 1,025 gallons, and so on. They vary because of differing road laws in states and cities restricting the loads that may be carried over highways and streets.

Long distance transportation of milk is of inestimable benefit, it is recognized, to sections of the country that are not adapted to dairying. It makes it possible for people to have fresh milk in places to which a cow is a complete stranger, and for those in great centers of population to secure their supply economically from constantly increasing distances.

Bread, according to the American Chemical Society experts, has a considerable alcoholic content, which may be why so many men customers buy buns.—Zanesville Signal.

Announcing

The New Orthophonic

Victor Record

PERFECTED at last—a record that captures everything and misses nothing! A record of golden, natural, mellow tone, and amazing range—a record as good as the Orthophonic Victrola itself!

For two years, Victor experimented to produce this record. The entire resources of the Victor organization were enlisted to find a record that would contain all the musical elements which the Orthophonic Victrola is capable of expressing.

The new Orthophonic Record is the result. It is new—entirely new. It is recorded electrically, and is unparalleled in clarity, in tone, and in fidelity to the original. There is nothing with which to compare it, except the singing or playing of the artists themselves.

Reproduces all tones of all instruments

On these new Orthophonic Victor Records, high notes and low notes are now reproduced in their proper proportions. The bass is deep, sonorous. The higher notes brilliant, expressive. Tones that escaped former recording processes are now caught and reproduced with a naturalness that is positively startling. The spoken word has the breath of life. Even "s" sounds are now perfectly intoned.

Microphone recording—Orthophonic—Artists now sing or play in natural position before a microphone, just as they sing or play at a public performance. The microphone "hears" and records what you would hear were you there.

Unpleasant scratch eliminated—Made from a new, improved material, Orthophonic Records have eliminated those annoying surface-noises so common to the ordinary type of record. You hear the music and nothing else. Also, these records have longer life.

That elusive "third dimension"—Victor has captured what a great musician calls the "third dimension"—depth! Just as the great masters gave "relief" and depth to their paintings, so these new records give depth and roundness of tone to reproduced music.

Foremost artists in every class—Victor has always attracted the foremost singers and instrumentalists of the world—operatic—orchestral—popular and dance. Their confidence is more than ever justified by the lifelike fidelity of Victor's new Orthophonic recordings.

Record stops automatically—An exclusive feature of the Orthophonic Victor Record is a groove, cut "off center." When the music has finished, the needle swings into this groove and applies the automatic stop on all modern Victrolas.

Hearing is believing—Whether you own an Orthophonic Victrola or not, hear these new Victor Records. They play on any instrument—and vastly improve its playing quality.

Go to your nearest Victor dealer. Go expecting the musical thrill of a lifetime. You will not be disappointed.

"CASCARETS" FOR BOWELS, STOMACH, HEADACHE, COLDS

Clean your liver and constipated bowels to-night and feel fine

Get a 10-cent box now.

Are you keeping your liver, stomach and bowels clean, pure and fresh with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels.

No odds how sick, headachy, bilious and constipated you feel, a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10 cent box from your druggist will keep your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a gentle cleansing, too.

"CASCARETS" FOR BOWELS, STOMACH, HEADACHE, COLDS

Clean your liver and constipated bowels to-night and feel fine

Get a 10-cent box now.

Are you keeping your liver, stomach and bowels clean, pure and fresh with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels.

No odds how sick, headachy, bilious and constipated you feel, a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10 cent box from your druggist will keep your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a gentle cleansing, too.

Two More Blue And White Ball Toters Join Hospital Roster

Bromby, McConville Out of Team's Next Clash With Toronto

Both Idle as Result of Injuries Received in East Palestine Contest; Fullerton to be Shifted to Fullback and End McKee Will be Given Trial at Backfield Berth.

WITH two more backfield stars out of the game on account of injuries and the available supply of reserve material rapidly dwindling as a result of heavy inroads since the first of the season, high school will face a fairly strong Toronto eleven Saturday at Toronto in a crippled condition.

The latest additions to the hospital list are Jack Bromby and "Franner" McConville, both of whom received injuries in the East Palestine engagement here last Saturday.

Bromby played the entire game, putting up one of the most brilliant performances any local backfield man has given this season and toppled over at the end of the clash, suffering from a slight concussion. His condition is not extraordinary nor what might be termed serious but it is not likely that Kidder will permit him to play at Toronto.

McConville sustained an injured thigh muscle prior to the East Palestine game and completed the damage by playing during the last five minutes of the game. McConville was sent to relieve Bromby at the signal calling post and the latter went to halfback. McConville had been ordered to play it safe and take no chances on exposing himself to further injury, but it happened and the Kidder-Cox combine loses another ball toter, temporarily, at least.

Fullerton likely will be tried out at fullback at Toronto and McKee will have an opportunity to show his wares on the running quartet.

Kirkham, who sized up as a possible fullback before his injury at training camp, has been working out a little this week and there is a possibility that he will be able to get into action within the next two or three weeks.

There is a keen fight on for one of the tackle berths between Crawford and Anderson and Coaches Kidder and Cox are pretty well puzzled at the present time as what is what.

Meehan Responsible For New York's Best Grid Team In Decade

Gothamites Have Rolled Up 92 Points to Opponents' Seven, Defeating Niagara, Allegheny, W. Va. Wesleyan and Tulane in Order; Four Hard Games Ahead Promise Bigger Test.

(By Davis J. Walsh.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Unless it so happens that the outfit is riding for a fantastic fall, and Rutgers, Carnegie Tech, Davis-Elkins and Nebraska are dead ahead, it would appear that Chick Meehan has done something in two years at New York University that has defied ten years and five coaches at Columbia. All of the five—Fred Dawson, Buck O'Neill, the late Percy Haughton, Dr. Paul Withington and Charley Crowley—were good. Most of their teams were bad.

That is hardly true of the N. Y. U. varsity of 1926. At least, one can obtain a general demurrer on the point from Niagara, Allegheny, West Virginia Wesleyan and Tulane, defeated in order for the total of 92 points to 7.

Columbia and N. Y. U. have nothing in common. Both have a tremendous enrollment, taking rank with the greatest in the land. Both are in the heart of our biggest city and draw much of their enrollment from the native cliff-dwellers, who are great on endurance but flat on their feet from standing in the subway.

Nine From Out of Town.

Perhaps that may be the answer to this best of all New York University teams. Nine of its eleven regulars are pleased to hail from out of town.

There is, for example, Jack Connor, the greatest all around man in the squad and one of the East's potential candidates for all American quarterback. Connor comes from Exeter, N. H. The town of Holyoke, Mass., claims Arthur Roberts, another good back, and John Bunyan, whose pilgrim's progress usually is being made through the opposing guard. Al Lassman, the 208-pound tackle and an all-eastern candidate, grew to manhood in Harvard's door yard at Cambridge and his running mate, John Miller, turned his back on Syracuse, N. Y., and the hills in general to come here.

Earl Ashton, end, is another who left a college town for better or worse. His home is at Easton, Pa., where Lafayette holds forth. The other wing, "Iron Faced" Riordan, comes from Bristol, Conn., while Ken Strong, a back, and R. E. Dunn, center, are from West Haven and Waterbury in the same state.

The two remaining regulars, Captain Frank Briante, of the backfield and Dave Skudin, a guard, might be said to be local products at the risk of offending White Plains and Brooklyn. In any case, neither is a resident of Manhattan Island.

Connor, who kicks, runs, picks and plays and passes them "right in your eye," is the star of the outfit. The others are Lassman — shifty as a dancer in spite of his weight, Strong, Dunn, Roberts and Briante. The two guards, Bunyan and Skudin, played fine football against Tulane, particularly on offense. The rest of the team is typical of Meehan, with the possible exception of the ends. Both are reformed backfield men, it being found necessary to shift Ashton and Riordan up forward in the hope of adding greater speed and weight to the wings. It remains to be seen how well this decision will work out.

Nebraska Looks Tough.

In fact, if there is anything radically wrong with the team, it will be uncovered in the last four games. Rutgers held Washington and Jefferson and Holy Cross, two of the best, to reasonably close scores. Carnegie Tech made W. and J. step all the way. Davis Elkins always was in the fight against the Army and West Virginia while Nebraska has lost only to Missouri and then after outgaining the latter eleven first down to four. According to the statistics, the corn huskers were beaten in the air and by their failure to cover kicks.

The writer would say, off hand, that N. Y. U.'s best chance of finishing its season undefeated lies in the fact that Nebraska may be "softened" by that heroic schedule that prevails in the Missouri Valley conference. The local team will play no such schedule; in fact, it should come up to the game at its best.

Its list of games has permitted Meehan to "rate" his team in such a way that he finds one scrimmage a week sufficient. The rest of the time is spent in perfecting his defense and a program of screen plays behind which is conducted his passing and running attack with both a balanced and unbalanced line. N. Y. U. should get at least as far as Nebraska without a defeat. But this only what a lot of other good teams have said in the past.

The grip with iron clubs must never be loose and wobbly. Here the clubhead must dig into the ground — though you make no conscious effort to make it do so—and a grip too loose will inevitably cause the blade to turn in your hands when it strikes the turf. Another thing is this: Keep your left hand closed on the shaft at the top of the back swing. If the grip loosens at that point the blade will be too late at the ball and timing will be lost. Chances are the clubhead will persistently dig into the ground just back of the ball. Keeping the grip closed will shorten the back swing and make the shoulders turn. Loosening the grip will let the club go on, but the shoulders will stop rotating, since the pull against them will be lost because of the loosening grip.

CHESTER BOOKS TIGER ELEVEN

Torontoans are Slated for Sunday Clash.

Chester Valley All Stars today announced the completion of negotiations for the appearance of the Toronto Tigers on Sunday afternoon at Smith Field, Chester, in one of the biggest early season attractions on the card.

The Chester combine has played three games and have won them all, including victories over Salineville, Mingo Indians and the East Liverpool Greys.

The Tigers were re-organized for the season only recently but nevertheless will show a strong lineup for Sunday's game, including such performers as Ferris, Johnson, Comer, Smith and others.

Joe Hober, of New Castle, former Chester high school star, will appear in a Chester uniform for this engagement.

Penn State Team Will Play Twice On Chicago Grid

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—A new contract calling for two games, both of which will be played in Chicago, one in 1927, the other in 1928, has been signed with the University of Pennsylvania, Alonzo Stagg, head coach at the University of Chicago, announced today.

The announcement pepped up practice at Stagg field where the Maroons are training for the clash with Purdue on Saturday. Smarting under last week's 27-0 beating at the hands of Penn, Stagg's men were overjoyed at the prospect of meeting their eastern foes on native soil.

The new contract invalidates all former ones, according to Coach Stagg, and evens off the Maroon-Quaker series of four games with two each in the east and west.

MOUNT PLANS MIGRATION DAY

Great Crowd of Followers to Take in Akron Game.

Mount Union will make the Mount-Akron conference clash the annual migration day game. Preparations are now being made to have at Akron the largest crowd of students and Mount followers that has ever cheered a Mount team on an opponent's gridiron.

Mount is anxious to turn in a victory over Akron next Saturday for more than one reason. Mount, by a total of seven points, has lost two important conference games the last two Saturdays. A victory over Akron, which played a tie game with Case in the early part of the season, will help to atone for the game Mount lost to Case last Saturday by a two point margin, as well as the one lost to Oberlin.

In 11 grid battles in which Mount and Akron have engaged since 1911, Mount has won seven.

A win this time will give Mount her first win on Buchtel field since 1912. Mount believes she has a good chance this year to accomplish this trick. Physically the entire squad is in fine condition and unless injuries during this week's scrimmages occur, Mount will run out on the Akron gridiron Saturday with 11 men who will fight to the last second of the game to break this Akron jinx.

ACADEMY ELEVEN ISSUES CHALLENGE

The Academy Billiards football team, of this city, is out with a challenge to the Chester Valley Stars, Newell Laughlin and the East Liverpool Greys.

The Academys feel confident they can give any one of the three as tough a battle as they have had this season. William Plant, Academy parlors, is the manager.

Johannes Victor Over Grant Trout In Billiard Tilt

Paul Johannes was added to the list of winners in the billiard tournament now under way at the American Pool and Billiard parlors as a result of his decisive victory over Grant Trout in the second match of the event last night.

Bart Severs and Proctor are scheduled to play tonight.

BISON ELEVEN HAS SCRIMMAGE

Brisk Weather Adds Snap; Pep Meet Carded Tonight.

BETHANY, W. Va., Oct. 21.—A big pep meeting will be held tonight at Bethany college to prepare the student body and football team for tomorrow's contest with Salem college. The pep meeting will be in charge of the Moo Moo fraternity, which is headed by John Paul Pack. With this over everything will be set for the opening whistle at three o'clock tomorrow afternoon at Wellsburg.

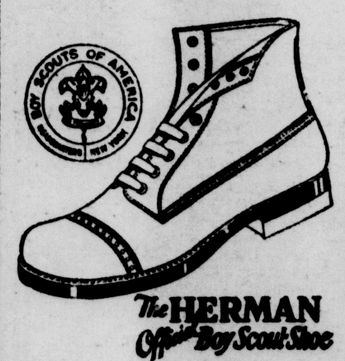

The brisk weather of yesterday adding the needed snap to their incentive, the Big Green and White eleven of Bethany college went forth to battle this afternoon in another of those real scrimmage sessions which Coach Nuss has had in effect now for the last two weeks. Yesterday's tackling practice seemingly put them in readiness for the scrimmages now being planned, and their work Wednesday afternoon was symbolic of quite an adeptness at the tackling game.

Part of the afternoon, however, was turned over completely to punting duels and also the running back of punts, by the fleet-footed Neel and Hamill. Imel, Pettis and the Behm brothers were usually on the receiving end of the long punts of Neel, and look to be improving rapidly. Hagberg, who relieved Captain Carev in last week's contest, has nicked up yardage in punting, and although it is not possible at this stage for him to oust Neel from this position, he bears watching.

Fickley, Tinson, Burwell, Griffith, Price, and Shives showed up well in line play Saturday and are expected to fare even better as the season rolls on. It was not expected that Tinson would be in shape for last week's encounter, but this lad's extreme insistance in participating in the contest caused Coach Nuss to have an X-ray examination of his arm. Although battered up somewhat, Tinson will probably be O. K. for Friday after a day's rest.

"HAVE A CAMEL" IS MUSIC TO YOUR EARS

Camel is totally different from any other smoke. . . . It is more than a cigarette. . . . A lighted Camel is smoking enjoyment realized—the closest thing to the perfection of taste this old earth ever knew.

Camel's popularity has no equal. Camel demand exceeds any other cigarette preference ever known. To say "Camel" is to ask for the world's most popular cigarette. And to light a Camel is to taste the best.

For there's a solid reason back of the fame and the enjoyment of Camels. Quality. Camels are rolled of the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos money can buy . . . blended for matchless taste and fragrance.

If you would know how mild and mellow a smoke can really be, just treat yourself to a pack of Camels. Once you know what these words mean, they're music . . . "Have a Camel!"

Two More Blue And White Ball Toters Join Hospital Roster

Bromby, McConville Out of Team's Next Clash With Toronto

Both Idle as Result of Injuries Received in East Palestine Contest; Fullerton to be Shifted to Fullback and End McKee Will be Given Trial at Backfield Berth.

WITH two more backfield stars out of the game on account of injuries and the available supply of reserve material rapidly dwindling as a result of heavy inroads since the first of the season, high school will face a fairly strong Toronto eleven Saturday at Toronto in a crippled condition.

The latest additions to the hospital list are Jack Bromby and "Franner" McConville, both of whom received injuries in the East Palestine engagement here last Saturday.

Bromby played the entire game, putting up one of the most brilliant performances any local backfield man has given this season and toppled over at the end of the clash, suffering from a slight concussion. His condition is not extraordinary nor what might be termed serious but it is not likely that Kidder will permit him to play at Toronto.

McConville sustained an injured thigh muscle prior to the East Palestine game and completed the damage by playing during the last five minutes of the game. McConville was sent to relieve Bromby at the signal calling post and the latter went to halfback. McConville had been ordered to play it safe and take no chances on exposing himself to further injury, but it happened and the Kidder-Cox combine loses another ball toter, temporarily, at least.

Fullerton likely will be tried out at fullback at Toronto and McKee will have an opportunity to show his wares on the running quartet.

Kirkham, who sized up as a possible fullback before his injury at training camp, has been working out a little this week and there is a possibility that he will be able to get into action within the next two or three weeks.

There is a keen fight on for one of the tackle berths between Crawford and Anderson and Coaches Kidder and Cox are pretty well puzzled at the present time as what is what.

Meehan Responsible For New York's Best Grid Team In Decade

Gothamites Have Rolled Up 92 Points to Opponents' Seven, Defeating Niagara, Allegheny, W. Va. Wesleyan and Tulane in Order; Four Hard Games Ahead Promise Bigger Test.

(By Davis J. Walsh.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Unless it so happens that the outfit is riding for a fantastic fall, and Rutgers, Carnegie Tech, Davis-Elkins and Nebraska are dead ahead, it would appear that Chick Meehan has done something in two years at New York University that has defied ten years and five coaches at Columbia. All of the five—Fred Dawson, Buck O'Neill, the late Percy Haughton, Dr. Paul Withington and Charley Crowley—were good. Most of their teams were bad.

That is hardly true of the N. Y. U. varsity of 1926. At least, one can obtain a general demurrer on the point from Niagara, Allegheny, West Virginia Wesleyan and Tulane, defeated in order for the total of 92 points to 7.

Columbia and N. Y. U. have nothing in common. Both have a tremendous enrollment, taking rank with the greatest in the land. Both are in the heart of our biggest city and draw much of their enrollment from the native cliff-dwellers, who are great on endurance but flat on their feet from standing in the subway.

Nine From Out of Town.

Perhaps that may be the answer to this best of all New York University teams. Nine of its eleven regulars are pleased to hail from out of town. There is, for example, Jack Connor, the greatest all around man in the squad and one of the East's potential candidates for all American quarterback. Connor comes from Exeter, N. H. The town of Holyoke, Mass., claims Arthur Roberts, another good back, and John Bunyan, whose pilgrim's progress usually is being made through the opposing guard. Al Lassman, the 208-pound tackle and an all-eastern candidate, grew to manhood in Harvard's door yard at Cambridge and his running mate, John Miller, turned his back on Syracuse, N. Y., and the hills in general to come here.

Earl Ashton, end, is another who left a college town for better or worse. His home is at Easton, Pa., where Lafayette holds forth. The other wing, "Iron Faced" Riordan, comes from Bristol, Conn., while Ken Strong, a back, and R. E. Dunn, center, are from West Haven and Waterbury in the same state.

The two remaining regulars, Captain Frank Briante, of the backfield and Dave Skudin, a guard, might be said to be local products at the risk of offending White Plains and Brooklyn. In any case, neither is a resident of Manhattan Island.

Connor, who kicks, runs, picks and plays and passes them "right in your eye," is the star of the outfit. The others are Lassman — shifty as a dancer in spite of his weight, Strong, Dunn, Roberts and Briante. The two guards, Bunyan and Skudin, played fine football against Tulane, particularly on offense. The rest of the team is typical of Meehan, with the possible exception of the ends. Both are reformed backfield men, it being found necessary to shift Ashton and Riordan up forward in the hope of adding greater speed and weight to the wings. It remains to be seen how well this decision will work out.

Nebraska Looks Tough.

In fact, if there is anything radically wrong with the team, it will be uncovered in the last four games. Rutgers held Washington and Jefferson and Holy Cross, two of the best, to reasonably close scores. Carnegie Tech made W. and J. step all the way. Davis Elkins always was in the fight against the Army and West Virginia while Nebraska has lost only to Missouri and then after outgaining the latter eleven first down to four. According to the statistics, the corn huskers were beaten in the air and by their failure to cover kicks.

The writer would say, off hand, that N. Y. U.'s best chance of finishing its season undefeated lies in the fact that Nebraska may be "softened" by that heroic schedule that prevails in the Missouri Valley conference. The local team will play no such schedule; in fact, it should come up to the game at its best.

Its list of games has permitted Meehan to "rate" his team in such a way that he finds one scrimmage a week sufficient. The rest of the time is spent in perfecting his defense and a program of screen plays behind which is conducted his passing and running attack with both a balanced and unbalanced line. N. Y. U. should get at least as far as Nebraska without a defeat. But this only what a lot of other good teams have said in the past.

Grid Fans Will Pay Half-Million To See Army and Navy Teams Play

Service Teams' Clash November 27 at Chicago Will Bring Out Biggest Gate of Mid-west.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—Football's biggest gate!

That's what the Army-Navy gridiron clash in Soldiers' Field, Chicago, November 27, will be.

A total of more than half a million dollars will be paid by the mid-west's football-mad fans to watch the service elevens battle it out in their twenty-eighth meeting.

Five hundred boxes of seats each, sold here at public auction, netted a total of more than $100,000, and in addition 40,000 seats at $10 each will be sold to the public.

"Standing room" only ducats may also be sold after the regular quota of tickets is exhausted so that there is a possibility the total gate receipts for the game may reach close to three quarters of a million dollars.

Decision to auction the box seats, located close to seats of the secretaries of war and navy and other distinguished official guests, was made after a survey showed the tremendous cost of bringing the entire student bodies of the navy academy at Annapolis and the army school at West Point to Chicago to witness the game.

Chicago was awarded the 1926 service school game with the understanding all of the students at the two academies were to be brought here to watch the battle. Special trains will carry the elevens and their schoolmates to Chicago and they will be entertained here at the leading clubs and hotels.

The top price at the auction of the box seats was $2,500. That sum was paid for six seats by G. Frank Croissant, Chicago and Florida millionaire. Other boxes sold for smaller sums, down to $150.

Critchfield On Bench.

WOOSTER, O.—Wooster college faces the possibility of entering the game with Western Reserve here Saturday with Captain "Hank" Critchfield on the bench. The big center has been ill all this week. Joliff or Saurer will play center if Critchfield does not recover in time to get in the lineup. The team is specializing on offensive practice this week.

GAMBIER.—Intensive forward passing practice and light scrimmage featured the Kenyon college eleven's work today, in preparation for the clash Saturday with St. Xavier at Cincinnati.

Will Battle Hiram.

BEREA.—The Baldwin-Wallace college gridders will meet their old time rivals, Hiram college, Friday afternoon, on the Baldwin-Wallace field. This afternoon has been set aside as Berea Day and nearly all business here will be suspended during the game.

Glimpses From The Sidelines

Baysinger Quits.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 21. — The Syracuse football team was further crippled today by the resignation of Harold Baysinger, varsity quarterback, Baysinger struck Referee Schwartz in the Army game last Saturday, and tendered his resignation following a conference with Coach Reynolds and the chancellor of the university.

State Loses Weston.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Oct. 21. — Although Penn State is showing a more powerful attack, Captain Weston will be unable to play against Syracuse on Saturday and the team's chances of victory are somewhat diminished.

Phillips At Yale Center.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 21. — George Phillips has won the center post on the Yale varsity. Halfback Noble will be unable to play against Brown but capable substitutes are available.

Dartmouth Star Injured.

ANOVER, N. H., Oct. 21.—Captain Hooker Horton, star back, is out of the Dartmouth line-up because of a leg injury. Dick Black will replace him in today's scrimmage.

Walk Over Scrubs.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 21.—The Harvard coaches were jubilant today over the varsity's feat in scoring five touchdowns in yesterday's scrimmage. The team is confident of making a good showing against Dartmouth on Saturday.

Snow Stops Scrimmage.

HAMILTON, N. Y., Oct. 21.—Following a short signal drill this afternoon, the Colgate squad will leave for Annapolis tonight for the Navy game Snow prevented the team from scrimmaging yesterday.

Schuber New Navy Back.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 21.—Schuber will take Shapley's place in the backfield in the Colgate game. The revised backfield is light, but works smoothly.

Sports Done -Brown-

By Norman E. Brown.

THIS promises to be the busiest season in the managerial market baseball has ever had. Right now the Simon Legrees of baseball are so busy whipping the Uncle Toms that baseball is still vieing with football for sport page promience.

First, the St. Louis Browns announced they were through with Sisler as a manager and were ready to sell him down the river. Then the Boston Red Sox turned Lee Fohl into the snow and cold. Now Bill McKechnie, king of the baseball world a year ago this month, finds himself headed for a new plantation. And Art Fletcher of the Phillies is looking for another job.

And the end is not yet. Ty Cobb's name still is whispered about on the axe-laden air and at least one other pilot is due for a long talk with the club owners. It's going to be a wise major league ball player who knows his boss next season.

There is interest in the fact that while other club moguls are seeking to put new life in their teams and turnstiles Emil Fuchs, judge of the courts and judge of good managers, is still stringing with Davey Bancroft. This despite the fact that the Braves won no pennants to amount to anything in 1926.

Bancroft showed clearly that he can handle a big league ball club and the players on it. He put over some clever trades—thanks to Fuch's cooperation. There might be a tipoff to other club owners in this.

Art Fletcher, who was to be manager of the Philadelphia Nationals "as long as he wanted the job," apparently doesn't want it any more. He has tossed in the towel, according to word from the home of the fizzling sesqui centennial. Stuffy McInnis, veteran SPORTS—DON BROWNS—first-sacker for five major league clubs, is supposed to have signed a two-year contract to boss the team.

Fletcher proved his worth as a manager with the hopeless Phillies. He was handicapped by the hesitancy (a consistent one) on Owner Baker to step out in the open market and buy playing material.

DAY by day the football aspects and prospects at Harvard are drawing more and more attention. The debut of Arnold Horween as coach was enough to arouse early interest in the team. The unexpected defeat at the hands of Geneva increased the interest—if not the respect—for the team.

And now we find Crimson adherents in a rather bitter mood toward the faculty over what is termed rather harsh measures used in disciplining two members of the team—men who were counted on to help lift Harvard higher in the game.

Ted Crosby and Jake Turner, two regulars, have been disqualified for failure to pass an examination in French. Harvard adherents do not ask the faculty to turn a blind eye to the deficiencies in studies. Their attitude is, however, that such drastic action wasn't necessary.

Turner played center last season and is given credit for having saved the day for Fair Harvard against Yale. Crosby is a beautiful defensive player.

The loss of these two men is a severe blow to Horween, who, of course, isn't saying a word.

The interest aroused in the recent Dempsey-Tunney fight and the creation of a new champion has revived interest in the heavyweight game, there can be no doubt. The Wills-Sharkey affair can be listed as the first of a series of heavyweight battles that will be shoved at the public this winter, including the series Tex Rickard has in mind.

Our only hope is that those putting on the heavies (no reference to underwear) will have the good judgment to cross off their lists the boys who fall by the wayside early in the rush and not foist on the public a lot of mugs who never will get anyplace.

Speaking of heavies. Gene Tunney is bound to be a popular champion despite whatever cool opinion some critics may hold regarding his ability. He is a gentleman first, last and always. The more one looks back over Dempsey's career the more one is impressed with the knowledge that the brightest pages in his reign, in a way, were those in which he showed a serious desire to absorb some of the finer things in life. These desires did little to satisfy the boxing fans yet they were natural ones for Jack. He spoke a different language the night he collected his pay for his battle with Gene Tunney than he did the day he entered the east as a two-fisted hard guy, living on haymakers and the biggest steaks money could buy.

Heidelberg Loses Star.

TIFFIN.—Heidelberg gridmen, conquerors of Kent last week, suffered a hard jolt here yesterday when Earl Watson, star end, suffered a broken nose. He will likely be unable to play in the Muskingum game at New Concord. It was the first real casualty the Cardinals have had this year.

International Game.

DEFIANCE.—The only international football game scheduled by an Ohio college team this year will be played by the Defiance college Yellowjackets against Assumption college at Sandwich, Ont., Saturday.

ASHLAND.—Coach Pfeifer of the Ashland college football team, who was ill and could not witness his eleven's triumph over Kenyon last week, probably will be unable to see his men perform against Kent State Normal, Saturday. Robert W. Rankin, Elyria, is coaching the squad in Pfeifer's absence.

Grid Fans Will Pay Half-Million To See Army and Navy Teams Play

Service Teams' Clash November 27 at Chicago Will Bring Out Biggest Gate of Mid-west.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—Football's biggest gate!

That's what the Army-Navy gridiron clash in Soldiers' Field, Chicago, November 27, will be.

A total of more than half a million dollars will be paid by the mid-west's football-mad fans to watch the service elevens battle it out in their twenty-eighth meeting.

Five hundred boxes of seats each, sold here at public auction, netted a total of more than $100,000, and in addition 40,000 seats at $10 each will be sold to the public.

"Standing room" only ducats may also be sold after the regular quota of tickets is exhausted so that there is a possibility the total gate receipts for the game may reach close to three quarters of a million dollars.

Decision to auction the box seats, located close to seats of the secretaries of war and navy and other distinguished official guests, was made after a survey showed the tremendous cost of bringing the entire student bodies of the navy academy at Annapolis and the army school at West Point to Chicago to witness the game.

Chicago was awarded the 1926 service school game with the understanding all of the students at the two academies were to be brought here to watch the battle. Special trains will carry the elevens and their schoolmates to Chicago and they will be entertained here at the leading clubs and hotels.

The top price at the auction of the box seats was $2,500. That sum was paid for six seats by G. Frank Croissant, Chicago and Florida millionaire. Other boxes sold for smaller sums, down to $150.

Critchfield On Bench.

WOOSTER, O.—Wooster college faces the possibility of entering the game with Western Reserve here Saturday with Captain "Hank" Critchfield on the bench. The big center has been ill all this week. Joliff or Saurer will play center if Critchfield does not recover in time to get in the lineup. The team is specializing on offensive practice this week.

Kenyon Tries Passes.

GAMBIER.—Intensive forward passing practice and light scrimmage featured the Kenyon college eleven's work today, in preparation for the clash Saturday with St. Xavier at Cincinnati.

Will Battle Hiram.

BEREA.—The Baldwin-Wallace college gridders will meet their old time rivals, Hiram college, Friday afternoon, on the Baldwin-Wallace field. This afternoon has been set aside as Berea Day and nearly all business here will be suspended during the game.

GLIMPSES FROM THE SIDELINES

Baysinger Quits.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 21. — The Syracuse football team was further crippled today by the resignation of Harold Baysinger, varsity quarterback, Baysinger struck Referee Schwartz in the Army game last Saturday, and tendered his resignation following a conference with Coach Reynolds and the chancellor of the university.

State Loses Weston.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Oct. 21. — Although Penn State is showing a more powerful attack, Captain Weston will be unable to play against Syracuse on Saturday and the team's chances of victory are somewhat diminished.

Phillips At Yale Center.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 21. — George Phillips has won the center post on the Yale varsity. Halfback Noble will be unable to play against Brown but capable substitutes are available.

Dartmouth Star Injured.

ANOVER, N. H., Oct. 21.—Captain Hooker Horton, star back, is out of the Dartmouth line-up because of a leg injury. Dick Black will replace him in today's scrimmage.

Walk Over Scrubs.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 21.—The Harvard coaches were jubilant today over the varsity's feat in scoring five touchdowns in yesterday's scrimmage. The team is confident of making a good showing against Dartmouth on Saturday.

Snow Stops Scrimmage.

HAMILTON, N. Y., Oct. 21.—Following a short signal drill this afternoon, the Colgate squad will leave for Annapolis tonight for the Navy game Snow prevented the team from scrimmaging yesterday.

Schuber New Navy Back.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 21.—Schuber will take Shapley's place in the backfield in the Colgate game. The revised backfield is light, but works smoothly.

Sports Done -Brown-

By Norman E. Brown.

THIS promises to be the busiest season in the managerial market baseball has ever had. Right now the Simon Legrees of baseball are so busy whipping the Uncle Toms that baseball is still vieing with football for sport page promience.

First, the St. Louis Browns announced they were through with Sisler as a manager and were ready to sell him down the river. Then the Boston Red Sox turned Lee Fohl into the snow and cold. Now Bill McKechnie, king of the baseball world a year ago this month, finds himself headed for a new plantation. And Art Fletcher of the Phillies is looking for another job.

And the end is not yet. Ty Cobb's name still is whispered about on the axe-laden air and at least one other pilot is due for a long talk with the club owners. It's going to be a wise major league ball player who knows his boss next season.

There is interest in the fact that while other club moguls are seeking to put new life in their teams and turnstiles Emil Fuchs, judge of the courts and judge of good managers, is still stringing with Davey Bancroft. This despite the fact that the Braves won no pennants to amount to anything in 1926.

Bancroft showed clearly that he can handle a big league ball club and the players on it. He put over some clever trades—thanks to Fuch's cooperation. There might be a tipoff to other club owners in this.

Art Fletcher, who was to be manager of the Philadelphia Nationals "as long as he wanted the job," apparently doesn't want it any more. He has tossed in the towel, according to word from the home of the fizzling sesqui centennial. Stuffy McInnis, veteran SPORTS—DON BROWNS—first-sacker for five major league clubs, is supposed to have signed a two-year contract to boss the team.

Fletcher proved his worth as a manager with the hopeless Phillies. He was handicapped by the hesitancy (a consistent one) on Owner Baker to step out in the open market and buy playing material.

DAY by day the football aspects and prospects at Harvard are drawing more and more attention. The debut of Arnold Horween as coach was enough to arouse early interest in the team. The unexpected defeat at the hands of Geneva increased the interest—if not the respect—for the team.

And now we find Crimson adherents in a rather bitter mood toward the faculty over what is termed rather harsh measures used in disciplining two members of the team—men who were counted on to help lift Harvard higher in the game.

Ted Crosby and Jake Turner, two regulars, have been disqualified for failure to pass an examination in French. Harvard adherents do not ask the faculty to turn a blind eye to the deficiencies in studies. Their attitude is, however, that such drastic action wasn't necessary.

Turner played center last season and is given credit for having saved the day for Fair Harvard against Yale. Crosby is a beautiful defensive player.

The loss of these two men is a severe blow to Horween, who, of course, isn't saying a word.

The interest aroused in the recent Dempsey-Tunney fight and the creation of a new champion has revived interest in the heavyweight game, there can be no doubt. The Wills-Sharkey affair can be listed as the first of a series of heavyweight battles that will be shoved at the public this winter, including the series Tex Rickard has in mind.

Our only hope is that those putting on the heavies (no reference to underwear) will have the good judgment to cross off their lists the boys who fall by the wayside early in the rush and not foist on the public a lot of mugs who never will get anyplace.

Speaking of heavies. Gene Tunney is bound to be a popular champion despite whatever cool opinion some critics may hold regarding his ability. He is a gentleman first, last and always. The more one looks back over Dempsey's career the more one is impressed with the knowledge that the brightest pages in his reign, in a way, were those in which he showed a serious desire to absorb some of the finer things in life. These desires did little to satisfy the boxing fans yet they were natural ones for Jack. He spoke a different language the night he collected his pay for his battle with Gene Tunney than he did the day he entered the east as a two-fisted hard guy, living on haymakers and the biggest steaks money could buy.

Heidelberg Loses Star.

TIFFIN.—Heidelberg gridmen, conquerors of Kent last week, suffered a hard jolt here yesterday when Earl Watson, star end, suffered a broken nose. He will likely be unable to play in the Muskingum game at New Concord. It was the first real casualty the Cardinals have had this year.

International Game.

DEFIANCE.—The only international football game scheduled by an Ohio college team this year will be played by the Defiance college Yellowjackets against Assumption college at Sandwich, Ont., Saturday.

ASHLAND.—Coach Pfeifer of the Ashland college football team, who was ill and could not witness his eleven's triumph over Kenyon last week, probably will be unable to see his men perform against Kent State Normal, Saturday. Robert W. Rankin, Elyria, is coaching the squad in Pfeifer's absence.

Correct the Cause to End Catarrh!

Doctors say that local applications aren't enough. To get rid of catarrh you must remove the cause. Catarrh is the result of inflamed mucous membranes—the delicate linings of nose, throat and head. These must be toned and strengthened and the inflammation reduced. Then catarrh disappears; bad breath and catarrhal deafness vanish. This is what Hall's Catarrh Medicine does. Its success has been proved by thousands.

Get Hall's Catarrh Medicine at your nearest druggist. He will tell you it is the most effective catarrh treatment he has known in over 40 years. If he is out of it send 85c to F. J. Cheney & Company, Toledo, Ohio.

CASH FROM U. S. BACKS RUM MEN ACROSS BORDER

Canadian Whisky Trust Financed in States, is Claim.

USE SPEED BOATS

Smuggling is Big Business, Requiring Great Organization.

WASHINGTON.—Rum running has been developed to its highest pitch of efficiency on the Detroit river section of the Canadian border, according to federal dry agents.

The Canadian Rum trust, backed probably by American capital and manned chiefly by Americans, has developed a distribution machine in that district comparable to that of the big industries.

On the Canadian side are numerous liquor warehouses connected to the river by canals. Leading to the warehouses are railroad spur tracks furnishing direct communication from the Canadian liquor centers.

The "trust" has erected a number of boat houses on the American side of the river to house liquor smuggled over the border.

The dash from Canada to United States requires three to five minutes, according to the speed of the boat.

Liquor Stores Safe.

The liquor stores thus placed on American soil are safe from molestation by the government excepting through the use of search warrants, extremely difficult to obtain unless evidence of sale is furnished. Liquor is never sold from boat houses, but taken to Detroit or other markets by automobile.

"Government agents have the best opportunity to grab the smugglers on the river, but even that chance is extremely thin," a prohibition official said.

"The Detroit river district is the scene of probably the greatest activity of rum runners for an area of the size. Just how much whisky and beer goes through this section nobody can guess but the volume is extremely heavy."

The Detroit river sector was first handled by the prohibition unit or the land army of the government in the rum war. Later it was transferred to the control of the customs service, but subsequently sent back to the dry unit. Responsibility for enforcement is now in the hands of the prohibition administrator for Ohio and Michigan.

Billed to "Mexico."

Officials explained that liquor is shipped to the Canadian border on freight cars billed "for Mexico." These shipments are entirely legal under the Canadian law and even operations of the liquor treaty between Canada and the United States cannot improve the situation.

Another danger zone on the Canadian border is in the vicinity of Niagara Falls. A considerable volume of liquor crosses Lake Ontario in fast motor boats. Smuggling is fairly general on the northern New York border where the runners concentrate on furnishing a supply of beer and ale to the American trade.

Thousands of automobiles have been captured by the customs service in Northern New York in the last few months. Most of them are employed by the customs and prohibition authorities in the battle against smugglers.

The Florida district is still giving the government considerable trouble. M. O. Dunning, collector of customs at Savannah, Ga., and prohibition czar of the Southeast is making a good record having captured a greater number of motorboats and schooners.

Winter Operations.

During the winter smuggers operating with the Bahama Islands and Cuba as bases rushed liquor to the American shore almost daily. Probably fifty percent of the smugglers got by the coast patrol owing to lack of facilities for guarding the coast.

Smugglers, officials explained, had the "whole east coast to shoot at," and in addition they sent many of their liquor ships around to the West Coast of Florida where big bases hidden in the swamps formed a refuge for the rum runners and their wares until it could be delivered to the markets.

Smugglers are continuing their liquor running on the Northeastern Coast of United States, where a scattered rum row has lurked for several years. A heavy concentration of Coast Guard cutters, ever, has held smuggling in this district to a minimum.

NORMA SHEARER AT AMERICAN

Stars With Conrad Nagel in "Waning Sex."

We never see ourselves as others see us and Norma Shearer, star of "The Waning Sex," now at the American theatre, says this situation sometimes gives her a little bit of unhappiness.

"For instance," says Norma, "I am always hoping to get a role that shows me as I think I am.

"I think that would present me as just a normal, young, fun-loving, more or less ambitious and more or less athletic American girl.

"The roles that fall to me show me as something of a business woman type, the independent, courageous, self-reliant, modern woman.

"That was my role in 'His Secretary,' and in 'The Waning Sex,' I am a successful woman lawyer, shrewd and aggressive and only mildly susceptible to romance.

"Other people analyze me as being independent, self-reliant and business-like, and perhaps I am."

MACKENZIE KING, Canadian premier, says that all talk of Canadian annexation by the United States is foolish. It's as foolish as to talk about Canada annexing this country. But Canada and the United States, ruling and owning these northern lands, should be closely united in business, as well as close friends.

Americans would welcome a working arrangement by which the free trade between our 48 states could be extended to include Canada. That would give Canada the advantage of quantity production in the United States, which she cannot get herself for a long time to come.

FIRST of all would come uniformity in tariff. There is no difficulty that could not be arranged to the advantage of both countries.

In this country there is no more desire to own Canada than there is in Canada to own the United States. It is an excellent thing for us to have so able a pacemaker on the north.

A NUMBER of American financiers, including J. Pierpont Morgan, sign an international manifesto demanding that tariff and other trade barriers be pulled down and free trade established. The manifesto refers, let us hope, to Europe only.

ANYBODY who imagines that "world-wide prosperity" is to be built up by putting American manufacturers and workers on a par with labor and industry in Europe, Asia or Africa doesn't know the United States. Ask President Coolidge.

FIRES SHOTGUN CHARGE INTO ABDOMEN; ILL HEALTH BLAMED

Had Not Worked Because of Physical Condition.

Despondent, it is believed, because of ill health, William George, 56, coal miner, committed suicide by shooting himself in the abdomen with a shotgun on the rear porch of his home in Washington street, Salineville, shortly before 7 o'clock this morning.

Uses Stick to Discharge Gun.

His lifeless body, with a gaping hole through the stomach, was found by Mrs. Lydia George, his wife, when she arose. He had been dead only a few minutes.

George, friends of the family claim, suffered an injury at the Grant Coal company's mine about two years ago and since then has not been regularly employed. For a few weeks he worked in one of the West Point mines but recently he had been unable to work because of a nervous breakdown.

The husband arose at 6:30 o'clock this morning, telling his wife to remain in bed until he fired the furnace. He dressed and went to the cellar, where he evidently attended the furnace and then, picked up his shot gun, which he kept on the first floor, and stepped to the porch on the east side of the dwelling.

Placing the end of the barrel of the weapon against his stomach, George is believed to have pressed the trigger with a stick, the full force of the shot entering at the pit of his stomach. Mrs. George said that she heard no report of the gun's discharge.

Coroner To Conduct Inquest.

The body was taken to the John L. Hutson undertaking establishment, where Coroner J. M. Van Fossan, East Palestine, will conduct an inquest this afternoon.

The suicide was married three times. His second wife was killed by lightning in Salineville many years ago. The second Mrs. George died following an extended illness. His third wife was formerly Mrs. Lydia Davidson.

In addition to his widow, he is survived by three children: Charles George and Mrs. John Johnson, of Salineville, and Mrs. Clarence Lintner, Steubenville. One brother, Charles George, of Salineville, also survives.

EDWARD MULLEN IS FINED $25

Edward Mullen was fined $25 and costs by Municipal Judge Hanley today after he entered a plea of guilty to charges of disorderly conduct and malicious destruction of property.

Mullen was arrested by Patrolman William Lister yesterday afternoon at a Dresden avenue restaurant. Police claim that Mullen demolished a large plate glass mirror when he hurled a catsup bottle. He has agreed to pay the damages.

Diogenes, Here's Your Man; He Says Advertising Pays

"Once more it has been said it pays to advertise."

This is the statement of Amos W. Brown, 1116 Mt. Vernon avenue, Akron, in a letter to The Review-Tribune, thanking the newspaper for its assistance in locating the owner of a silk purse which he found in Akron lately.

The purse, which contained approximately $13.67 in cash, two Newell street car tickets and a check on an East Liverpool bank, was identified by Mrs. C. E. Nathaniel, of Newell, who described its contents and the time and place it had been lost. Three other persons residing in and around East Liverpool wrote to Mr. Brown regarding the money.

Using the bank check as a clue, Brown appealed to the Review-Tribune, through Postmaster John McClure, for assistance in locating the owner.

Attorney W. H. Vodrey Salvation Army Drive Chairman.

ONE-DAY CANVASS

Reports Will be Made at Dinner Tuesday.

Salvation Army drive for $10,000 to finance relief activities until November 1, 1927, will open at 6 o'clock next Monday evening when approximately 120 workers will meet in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A. for dinner.

Attorney W. H. Vodrey will act as campaign chairman. The workers will be divided into two divisions, the leaders to be named today. About 16 teams will be organized, each to consist of eight or 10 members.

List of prospective contributors will be distributed at the opening meeting. Solicitations will begin Tuesday morning, the workers making their final reports at another dinner to be held in the Y. M. C. A. at 6 o'clock Tuesday evening. Subscriptions will be payable in cash or installments.

The campaign is under the direction of an advisory board of which W. A. Weaver, wholesale grocer, is chairman. The board consists of manufacturers, merchants, professional men, club workers and civic leaders.

The $10,000 sought is for an 18-month period beginning March 1, 1926. The estimated cost of relief work undertaken by the Salvation Army is $7,000 annually, but the additional $3,000 is asked to meet a deficit incurred since March 1.

Needs of the Salvation Army, listed by Field Major Joseph Hughes, in charge of the local barracks today, include a shelter for transients, storage quarters for relief clothing and supplies; basement for young people's operations; a new heating plant at the Third street barracks; a small truck for relief work and camp for destitute mothers and children during the summer.

Millions of Dollars Property Damage Wrought.

STREETS BLOCKED

Florida Escapes Fury of Second Tropical Storm.

HAVANA, Cuba, Oct. 21.—The full extent of the hurricane which swept Havana yesterday may not be known for several days, officials stated today as they started to clear away the debris and count the damage done by the terrific wind which swept the island.

Early estimates of casualties were increased and it is now started that there are between 30 and 40 dead and between 1,500 and 2,000 injured.

Transportation was still at a standstill today, with street car tracks and streets blocked by uprooted trees.

The city was in utter darkness throughout the night. Perfect order prevails.

Several Ships Sunk.

The commercial life of the city was paralyzed. Telephone, telegraph, electric light and power lines were down. Hundreds of houses were unroofed and the city was virtually without an unbroken window glass. All available police, augmented by two squadrons of troops, patrolled the streets to prevent looting.

Several ships, including the Cuban gunboat Hatuey, were sunk by the storm, which at its peak attained a wind velocity of 130 miles an hour. The fate of the crews of some of the vessels was not yet known this morning.

The oil storage tanks of the West Indies Oil company, located across Havana bay at Belot, between Casa Blanca and Regla, were set afire during the storm and still were burning today. Several of the tanks were believed to have been entirely destroyed, this loss alone aggregating three million dollars.

The total damage was estimated at six million dollars.

PRETTY WOMAN MURDER VICTIM AT CINCINNATI

HEAD CRUSHED

Mysterious Call to Coroner Leads to Ghastly Discovery.

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 21.—County authorities today were baffled in their attempts to identify the body of a young woman, apparently between 22 and 30 years of age, found nearly nude, in the Big Miami river near Columbia park, last night. The woman's head had been crushed, her jaw was fractured and a dark mark of a knife or dagger had left a stab wound in her breast, Coroner D. C. Handley stated.

The body had been in the water for about three days, he stated.

A pair of brown cotton stockings, one oxford and a small undergarment constituted the girl's apparel.

No other clothing was found by the deputy sheriffs in the vicinity.

A mysterious call to Coroner Handley about 7:30 last night, told of the body lying in a pile of driftwood beneath a railroad bridge. Although the call was presumed to have come from a train passenger or employe who sighted the body from a passing train, no trace of the message was announced by county officials today.

The girl had brown eyes, brown bobbed hair; perfect teeth, but one lower front tooth had been knocked out in her death struggle with the murderer or murderers, officials said. That the struggles preceding her death had been terrific was evident from the extent of her injuries. Morgue attendants where her body was being held for a post-mortem examination declared that the body was that of an attractive woman.

CARBICELLA AND FUSCO FOUND GUILTY AFTER 18 BALLOTS AT LISBON

DEFENDANTS, STATE CHARGED, TRIED TO HALT KENNEY MURDER INQUIRY

Defense Files Motion for New Trial, and Accused Men are Released on $5,000 Bond Each Pending Arguments and Action of Court—Penalty is Prison Term.

Rocco Carbicella and Frank Fusco, both of Wellsville, were found guilty of attempted bribery by a jury in the Columbiana county common pleas court at Lisbon at 12:27 o'clock this morning after five hours' deliberation, during which 18 ballots were taken.

The defendants were charged with offering $390 to Sheriff George Wright if he would "lay off" his investigation of the murder of Patrolman James Kenney, who was shot down while patrolling his beat in Wellsville on May 17.

Attorneys W. A. O'Grady, of Wellsville, and Ben L. Bennett, of East Liverpool, who represented Carbicella and Fusco, gave notice that they would file a motion for a new trial. Pending arguments and action of the court, the defendants were released on $5,000 bond each.

Carbicella and Fusco, who are alleged to have been inveigled into the office of the sheriff after their purported offer of money, claimed they had tendered the cash as payment on an old liquor fine.

Three Women on Jury.

The jury, which was composed of nine men and three women, retired at 7:30 o'clock last night. Two of the women, according to reports in the court house corridors, held up the verdict for 16 ballots. The first poll is said to have been 10 to 2 for conviction ,then was cut to 7 to 5. On the seventeenth ballot, it stood 11 to 1.

At midnight, the jurors were called into the court room and asked if, in their opinion, there was any chance for a verdict. They asked another half hour for deliberation.

Harry N. Loop, of Salem, was foreman of the jury.

PERSONAL DINNER MEETING FRIDAY

Final meeting of the personal evangelistic campaign, which has been conducted here this week by Dr. Hugh Guy Black, Greencastle, Ind., evangelist, under auspices of the Ministerial association, will be held in the First Methodist Episcopal church at 6 o'clock tomorrow night.

Last night's service was held in the First Presbyterian church with the women of the Presbyterian church serving the dinner, while tonight's meeting will be held at the same place with the women of the First United Presbyterian church in charge.

The meetings are not open to the entire membership of the various cooperating churches but each congregation is represented by a large committee.

Mr. Swartz, who was born in Germany, had been a resident of Chester for 22 years, moving from East Liverpool. He was employed by the Tailor, Smith and Taylor Pottery company more than 20 years.

He was a member of the Sacred Heart Catholic church.

He is survived by his widow, formerly Jennie McHenry, of Altoona, Pa.; one son, Joseph, St. Louis, Mo.; one daughter, Mrs. Robert Curry, Chester, and two stepdaughters, Mrs. Lucy Castle, Sebring, and Mrs. Myrtle Dunn, Honolulu.

Funeral services will be held Saturday morning in the Sacred Heart church, in charge of Rev. W. J. Sauer. Burial will be made in Locust Hill cemetery.

George Philabaum Awaits Hearing on Statutory Charge

George Philabaum, Second street, is in jail today awaiting a hearing before Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley upon a statutory charge. Mrs. Myrtle Pullins, Steubenville, who pleaded guilty to a like charge yesterday, is at liberty pending the passing of sentence by Judge Hanley.

Dominick Jati, Wellsville, was fined $25 and costs today upon a charge of operating an automobile without license plates. He was arrested yesterday on West Eighth street by Chief of Police McDermott.

Charge of annoying females, filed against Edgar Vess, 18-year-old Burford street youth, was dismissed by Judge Hanley. The youth was represented by Attorney W. B. Hill.

CHEVROLET CAR IS STOLEN HERE

Police are searching for a Chevrolet touring car, belonging to Bert Posey, Gardendale potter, which was stolen yesterday afternoon while parked near the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles pottery, where Posey is employed. Posey discovered the theft at 4:30 o'clock. The machine carried license plate No. 241-692 and was valued at approximately $200.

MRS. LAURA E. CHRISTY, SELF-CONFESSED SLAYER OF HER EIGHTH HUSBAND, HOPES TO WED AGAIN

Mrs. Laura E. Christy, of East Liverpool, self-confessed slayer of her eighth husband, Rev. William Christy, itinerant preacher, hopes to acquire another husband if she is released from the state hospital for criminal insane at Lima, according to Dan W. Gallagher, Cleveland newspaperman.

Mrs. Christy, sent to the Lima institution last January as a "woman bluebeard" by Columbiana county, has had all her teeth extracted, but she has $120 of the late Christy's money to pay for a new set of molars. And she is keeping her hair bobbed with the view of attracting admirers if ultimately given her freedom.

Writing under a Lima date line in the Cleveland News, Gallagher, who was assigned to "cover" the Christy murder story here nearly nine months ago, says:

"Mrs. Christy is Ohio's most unique ward. And she made a most terrible mistake when she confessed she poisoned Christy. For I discovered that examination of the contents of the stomach of Christy, conducted by state chemists at Columbus, revealed no trace of poison whatsoever.

"It will be remembered that following her arrest and confession, two East Liverpool physicians declared her to be insane. And her commitment to the state hospital here followed. It will also be recalled that some time following her arrival at the state hospital, Dr. Charles E. Clark, superintendent of the institution, declared tests revealed that while she is feeble-minded, she is not insane.

Confessed to Poisoning.

"At the time of her arrest, Mrs. Christy told me in the presence of Sheriff Wright, of Columbiana county, she had administered arsenic to Christy in their 'honeymoon shack' at East Liverpool eight days after she had become his bride. She also confessed to the poisoning of John Eberts, a Newell, W. Va., pottery worker, who was either her sixth or seventh husband. She said that in the case of Christy she purchased 25 cents worth of arsenic at an East Liverpool drug store and made use of it in encompassing his death. She then drew from the bank what money he had placed in their joint account—she supplying not even a dollar—then engaged a room in a house adjoining undertaking parlors so as to watch the body of her murdered mate being brought to the place next door. Now then: Since the druggist insists he never sold her poison and the state chemists found no traces of poison in Christy's viscera, the question arises: "What caused Christy's death?"

He was buried as a murder victim. Her confession was accepted upon all sides. Had she been indicted and put upon trial for her life, the case would have fallen flat, due to the chemists' findings. On the other hand, due to her confession and the commitment papers, Laura Christ, sane, according to Dr. Clark, is mingling daily with insane women. The place for her, according to Dr. Clark, is in a home for the feeble minded and not in a hospital for the insane.

Employed in Laundry.

"I found Laura strolling along the corridor in the direction of pavilion twenty, where twenty or more out and out insane women are quartered. She is employed in the laundry by day is locked up with these poor unfortunates at night. Attendants are on duty in this pavilion at all hours.

Laura now denies that she killed

East Liverpool Boy Perfects Up Emergency Plane After Accident in Which Mail Flyer is Fatally Injured.

An aerial ambulance, designed and constructed by Captain Eugene Reinartz, flight surgeon with the United States air service and a son of Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Reinartz, of Jackson street, probably will be adopted by United States Army officials for emergency cases. The aerial ambulance was demonstrated at a meeting of army doctors and surgeons held at Philadelphia last week.

Reinartz, a graduate doctor, is stationed at Boling Field near Washington. Captain Reinartz conceived the idea of an aerial ambulance about two months ago, when a mail flyer, enroute to Cleveland, became lost in the fog and crashed into the side of a mountain near Bellefonte, Pa.

The airman, suffering from a broken leg and internal injuries, crawled from the wreckage of his plane to a roadway about two miles away where he was found a couple of days later by members of a searching party. Reinartz and another flyer quickly rigged up an aerial ambulance when word reached Washington that the missing aviator had been found and hurried to Bellefonte. The man was rushed to the Walter Reed hospital at Washington where he died a few days later.

Eight thousand years ago corn was cultivated, say the scientists, but they didn't have it down to such a fine point then that they could measure it by the gallon.—Zanesville Signal.

The Improved Anchor Hot Blast Heater Has No Equal

Wherever heating stoves are used, the Anchor Hot Blast Heater proves its superiority—proves that in downright efficiency, in convenience, in actual economy, it is without an equal.

This superiority is not an accident, but is the result of many years of practical and scientific heating-stove manufacture and practical tests.

The features of construction in the Anchor Hot Blast Heater meet every requirement of heating-stove efficiency and long-time service. Highest quality materials, expert workmanship, and scientific design combine to give a heating result unequalled in this type of heater.

The Anchor Hot Blast wil burn any fuel—hard coal. soft coal, lignite, wood, or coke, giving a uniform heat under perfect control, and a slow, economical combustion. Because of the hot-blast feature, the gases from soft coal are completely burned, making a ton of soft coal about equal to a ton of the more expensive hard coal.

Careful attention has been applie dto every detail of construction. And it is mounted absolutely air-tight and remains air-tight, because these details have been perfected and made practical.

In addition to a fine appearance that will last the life of the stove, the Anchor Hot Blast offers real home comfort and a saving of 25% on your fuel bill.

Municipal Issues in Wellsville

With ordinary revenues precluding the possibility of carrying out a program, which has the approval of the city council and Mayor W. L. Fogo, who are cognizant of the importance of the proposals, electors are asked to sanction bond issues to the amount of $45,500.

The five proposals are: Purchase of a fire truck and pumper, at a cost not to exceed $12,500; repairs to city hall, $2,500; construction of a sanitary sewer in the Third street district, for which $1,500 is sought; construction of relief storm sewers in the Seventeenth and Twentieth street districts, at respective costs of $24,000 and $5,000.

Recent storms have driven home the need of the sewer improvement program, while investment of $2,500 in city hall repairs should go a long way toward the preservation of the municipal building at Fifth and Main streets.

Approval of the five issues, which appear on one of the five ballots to be handed electors, will add only 2.55 mills to the taxes. And it will be a good investment for the taxpayers.

The Wellsville municipal improvement program should be sanctioned.

Deferred Payments

Retail sales in the United States last year amounted to $40,000,000,000, of which $3,000,000,000 were installment sales. This represents a vast amount of installment buying along many lines, but not a very alarming proportion of the whole. There is still 12 times as much selling on a cash basis or ordinary credit terms as there is on the installment plan.

The real danger is in the fact that the installment proportion is rapidly growing. Thoughtful merchants and financiers realize that if the present tendency continues, a time is sure to come when the deferred payment system will make a lot of trouble in this country. It might make trouble now if there came a sudden period of depression, leaving millions of people without means to meet their pledged payments.

Fortunately there is no depression in sight. Yet this is a matter in which the only wise policy is to go slowly and play safe. Extensive installment buying is a new thing, therefore demanding caution all the more.

Few people want to stop it, for it has obvious advantages to both seller and buyer, to business in general and to the public as a whole. Much of the present industrial prosperity is based on it. A cessation of installment selling at this time would be a bad thing. If there is to be any contraction, it must come gradually.

It may not be necessary to contract such buying. But careful observers agree that the situation calls for discretion—that sellers and buyers should avoid going recklessly ahead regardless of consequences.

Billions For "T. B."

Much progress has been made in controlling tuberculosis in this country, yet an organization fighting this disease declares that it is still costing the nation no less than $27,500,000,000 a year. Don't mistake the figures. It is 27 and a half billions, an enormous bill to pay for anything.

How is this loss estimated? The insurance companies say tuberculosis at present cuts two and one-half years from the average expectation of life. Reckoning the average contribution of the individual to the community's wealth as $100 a year—surely no over-estimate—that makes the sum mentioned, for our whole population.

Only one of those lost billions a year, spent for a few years, would almost stamp out this plague. One-tenth of one billion, backed by intelligent and concerted effort, especially through the widespread dissemination of knowledge on the subject, might suffice. It is a problem of discovering tubercular victims as early as possible, telling them what to do and having them do it.

House Traffic Rules

It is almost an dangerous in one's own home as it is in the street. Statistics show that last year there were 21,000 accidental deaths in homes to 25,000 traffic deaths.

Evidently there are traffic rules needed for the home. Here are a few, taken from a list of the most common causes of house accidents:

Keep all traffic routes about the house, from room to room and door to door, as free as possible from furniture and other obstacles.

We could well afford to cancel England's debt if she'd take back her sparrows

The Toonerville Trolley That Meets All The Trains — By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 21. — Riverside Drive, next to Broadway and Fifth Avenue, is Manhattan's best known thoroughfare. Beginning at 72nd street, it offers a commanding vista of the rippling Hudson and sweeps northward beyond Inspiration Point with its commanding view of the purple colored Palisades.

Its wide, ribbon like roadways unwind with majestic grace. There is a "feel" to The Drive—like that of the Champs Elysees or Michigan Boulevard. Its towering apartments are wind swept and sunny and, built on a bluff, reveal the myriad river craft at its doorstep.

There are million dollar yachts, tiny sail boats, canoes, Albany side wheelers and huge gray battleships. Along the river ramparts is Riverside park with gool gravel paths where lovers stroll and children romp eyed by watchful nurses.

The Drive houses many illustrious names. Near the entrance is the mansion of Charles Schwab with the symbolic iron puddler statues on the lawn. The brick residence of Amelia Bingham, the actress, its facade dotten with rather grotesque statues in marble.

Farther north the massive apartment building which is the New York home of W. R. Hearst. The fine home of Bishop Potter has been torn down. Many other notables live there and there are also marble residences built by cigarette kings and the like.

A short distance from Grant's famous tomb is the little fenced off grave plot whose monument bears the inscription "To an Amiable Child." Then there is the Soldier and Sailor's monument and the heroic bronze of Joanne d'Arc.

The Drive is the only aristocratic thoroughfare in town not touched by the jarring note of trade. It has preserved its aloofness from the thundering herd doggedly and determinedly. It is not, strictly speaking, the most aristocratic street but it is certainly the most beautiful.

Edgar street is the shortest street in town. Broadway is the longest. Twenty-third street is the windiest. Bridge street is the most deserted. And Nassau street is the narrowest.

There are many claimants to the doubtful honor of introducing that over-worked bit of slang "Thanks for the buggy ride." It really goes back to our father's time but was revived on Broadway by Walter Catlett in "Sally" when it opened at the New Amsterdam theatre in January, 1921. His version was "Thanks for the peanuts and buggy ride" and it was thus shortened. He was also the first to introduce "Don't be stupid!" which about a year ago became "Don't be dull." And again he revived "Hot dog!"—his version being "Hot diggedy dog."

The birth of Broadway slang is usually traced to actors and for the very good reason that it is golden grist to their mill and they devote much time originating it. To introduce a few slang phrases that take on often means increased salaries. Comedians have lifted themselves to fame by a slang line.

A famous hotel is now an office building and at the exact spot where Caruso stood on a balcony Armistice Day and sang "The Star Spangled Banner" to roaring Broadway throngs I notice an office window heralding in gold leaf letters the virtues of a flesh reducer. In other days New York lived to eat. Today it lives to grow thin, be permanently waved and surgically "lifted."

It develops a famous Wall Street "sucker list" contains 30,000 names. They are those who have fallen time after time for spurious stock and probably will again. The list is sold to swindlers at a price ranging from $700 to $1,000.

My Favorite Stories

By IRVIN S. COBB

Already we know the story of the darky plaintiff in a divorce action who complained to the judge that the defendant, during the ten months of their married life had talked him into a state of desperation—had talked to him, at him, and through him, with never a moment's cessation, morning, noon, night and meal-times. So the judge said: "Well, what does she talk about?" and the injured party answered plaintively: "Tha's de trouble—she ain't never said yit!"

A household disturbance is being threshed out in the Court of Domestic Relations. The chief witness and presumably the only disinterested one is a neighbor of the warring pair.

The gentleman has just finished giving his testimony. The attorney for the lady in the case, who is also the complainant, takes him in hand for cross-examination.

"Now then, Mr. Jones," says the counsel very sharply, "please pay close attention to my question and make direct answers. You claim you overheard the quarrel between this couple?"

"Yes, sir."

"It went on for some time, eh?"

"It certainly did. It went on for hours."

"It was a very violent quarrel, you allege?"

"It was."

"Well then, tell the court, if you truthfully can, what the husband seemed to be doing?"

"He seemed to be doing the listening."

HASKINS' LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Modern Milk Transportation.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 21.—On Wednesday evening following the Florida hurricane disaster, Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, Chicago's health commissioner in charge of the relief train which his city had dispatched to the stricken state, telegraphed an urgent request that fresh milk be rushed for the relief of babies and the sick in Miami. Sunday morning at one o'clock 6,000 gallons of fresh tuberculin-tested, pasteurized milk in perfect condition arrived in Miami. It had been 76 hours enroute, but only 54 hours in actual transit.

That this could be done is the miracle of modern transportation of milk. Dr. Bundesen knew it could be done, because long before the hurricane, a world's record had been made in the shipment of milk from Marshfield, Wis., to Miami. That shipment was an 1,800 mile trip of 101 hours, with a climatic variation of 66 degrees, but with a change in the temperature of the milk of only 1 degree.

It was made in February when the temperature at Marshfield was 26 degrees. The milk was cooled to a temperature of 35 degrees. When it arrived in Miami the outdoor temperature was 92 degrees, but the temperature of the milk was 36 degrees. The claim was made that the milk arrived a 100 per cent perfect product after having been transported nearly 10 times the distance ever covered before.

The glass-lined refrigerated milk tank car is the explanation of this miracle. Not many years ago the area from which a supply of milk might be drawn for a central point was decidedly limited—a radius of 50 miles at best—and shipping meant spoilage, spillage, wastage, much labor, and expense. Today, with the tank car, no one knows what the limit of transportation may be. It has not been established as yet. But with the record of 1800 miles it is apparent that a tremendous change has been made in the map for dairymen.

The first long distance shipments of milk were made in standard refrigerator cars from Southern Ohio to Miami some three years ago, but the process was so expensive, if it had no other drawbacks, that the milk had to be sold in the Florida city at a price ranging from 27 to 35 cents a quart.

What Tank Car Accomplishes.

The development of the milk tank car means that a highly perishable, vitally necessary human food can be transported long distances successfully and quickly under diverse climatic conditions. The General American Car company, of Chicago, spent five years in perfecting the car of the type which it donated for rushing the emergency relief shipment of milk from Wisconsin to Miami. In this work its construction engineers had the cooperation of natinally known dairy experts.

For its car the company claims economies of handling at every stage, economies of transportation, economies in equipment used, economies in labor cost, enlargement of the supply areas, and great improvement in quality of product. Just what all this amounts to when it is translated into price of milk that has been transported varying distances is not explained. However, an idea of what it must be may be gathered when it is known that a tank car carries 6,000 gallons. A regular milk express car carries only approximately 2,000 gallons of milk in bottles and cans.

Thus one car takes the place of three. Also, milk shipped in cans and bottles must be loaded and unloaded by hand at an obviously high labor cost, whereas the tank car may be loaded and unloaded either by stationary milk pump or by air pressure.

The body construction of the car is of the express car type, with underframe that meets all railway requirements, with floors sloped to center to insure drainage, and with a remov-

GLITTER

By Katharine Brush

BOOK FOUR—IX.

The room beyond the screen is enormously large, and looks even larger because its walls are dusky-black and seem to mingle with the night in an infinitude of darkness. A ruby necklace of lights encircles these walls—ornamentally, not usefully. There is a great horseshoe packed tight with black lacquered tables bordered in red, and little black-and-red chairs, and people . . . and at the open end of the horseshoe Happy Hatton's Celebrated Syncopated Seven preside, in an elevated alcove draped in scarlet satin, like the boudoir of a courtesan. The dance floor is oval, painted black and red, and above it searchlights from opposite corners meet to play with a globe of tiny mirrors hung high in the center, and to win therefrom a thousand iridescences. Wisps of light spray down from this globe upon the dancers, and blobs of it drift over their faces like huge intangible snowflakes, making them look pretty—much prettier than they are.

Of course, there are crowds and crowds. There are ball room crowds that smack of valets and French maids and show windows on Fifth avenue. There are amusement-park crowds with sleazy dresses and gents' ready-to-wear suits and run-down heels and jaws in perpetual motion. There are baseball crowds, straw-hatted, shirt-sleeved, perspiring. There are football crowds, vast gay menageries of fur. There are movie crowds sticky with candy, pale with bad air; and hotel crowds, dark-clad and middle-aged and smug. But the roadhouse crowd is like no other in the world.

When she sang "My man went off and left me all alone," she broke your heart.

To begin with, it is bored. With itself, with its neighbor, with all things. It has lived hard and swiftly, the roadhouse crowd, and now it is burned out and bored; and so it cries for White Rock and cracked ice, and mixes itself illegitimate drinks, and downs them, and mixes more, and downs them . . . that it may forget how bored it is, that it may become merry and loud and hysterical . . . and a little disgusting . . .

Then it pounds the table and calls for music. And it dances, after its curious wobbly fashion, and pats its fat palms at the musicians. And after that it returns to its table, and perhaps kisses its partner for the edification of the next table, and orders a club sandwich that it doesn't want, and fishes under the chair for its bottle . . and repeats itself and repeats itself . . . until at last the check girl helps it into the wrong coat, and the guardian of the parking space tells it to "watch out for the turn, sir, remember," and it goes wavering off to its home, wherever that is.

And if you take the roadhouse crowd apart to see what makes it tick, you come upon such curious cogs as these:

Lewd women dressed in white, like brides. Pudgy-legged women in the most abbreviated skirts of all. Girls with fresh young faces and eyes a million aeons old. Drunken mothers. Bedizened grandmothers, whom you somehow know will pay their callow escorts' dinner checks. Lounging jointless boys with lifeless skin. Men with benign silver hair and Mephistophelian faces. Men with bald heads and loose, slippery mouths. Roues of twenty. Frail sisters of seventeen. Chorus girls and college boys. Boarding school girls and youths their parents have forbidden them to see. Glove-counter clerks and traveling salesmen. Young matrons enjoying an extra-nuptial thrill. Young benedicts enjoying an extra-nuptial thrill. Rouge turned purple under the lights. Thick red necks in wilting collars. Three-karat diamonds and dirty finger nails. Dandruff on dinner coats. Rolls of flabby flesh bulging over the tops of tight bodices. Silken insteps swollen fat above tight shoes. Heavy yellow powder and piercing perfume. Love words in crow voices. Laughter, high-pitched, hideous. And eyes. Greedy eyes. Weary eyes. Eyes like sucked welts. Bloodshot eyes. Roadhouse eyes, as bright and glossy and hard and cold as the marbles children play with.

The patrons of Terrace Tavern liked the new entertainers, liked them immediately and immensely, and learned to anticipate them with increasing impatience. "Wait'll you see this red head!" the men would say, smacking their lips. The women, saying nothing, would fasten their glances on the little door at the right of the orchestra's alcove and watch for the dark tall boy with the crooked impersonal—so darned impersonal! — smile. There would be a hush of expectancy over all the room . . . a flare-up of bright lights . . . a crash of clapping as the little door opened and Yvonne and Jock appeared.

It was a simple thing they did. Perhaps its very simplicity was what made it appealing. They came out together, hand in hand, Jock immaculate and imposing in a "tux" to pattern after, Yvonne brilliant as some exotic bird in one or another of the daring gowns she had selected for this purpose. They walked to the center of the floor, nodding to the applauding throng as though to a single intimate friend. ("Some night," Jock had predicted, "they aren't going to applaud, and then that march across the floor in dead stillness will be ungodly awful." But his prediction had not come true, and seemingly never would.) Once there, he knelt on one knee and rested his banjo on the other and plucked marvelous shoulder-stirring harmony from the strings. And Yvonne stood beside him, with her hands on her hips and her body bent the least bit forward, and sang the Blues in her lovely melancholy voice that so befitted them. Because she had the art to create an illusion of reality, her songs were more than just songs; they were anecdotes set to music, tiny cross-sections of life—her life, you felt. When she sang He Used to Be Yours But I Got Him, she gave you a sense of her personal triumph over an unseen rival and asked you to gloat with her in it. When she sang Don't Think I Care What You Do, she made your own lip curl vicariously. When she sang My Man Went Off and Left Me All Alone, she broke you heart.

At the end she would bow, gracefully, prettily. And Jock would get to his feet and bow also, the jerky bow of an embarrassed small boy at dancing school . . . and he would laugh a little, as though to say, "You're right—the joke's on me!" He never noticed that the applause swelled in volume at this point, but it always did. Public fancy is a mysterious thing. Professionals may labor years and fail to catch it, and a rank amateur like Jock, all unawares, may call it his on the strength of a boy and a deprecatory grin.

QUIT GETTING UP NIGHTS

A Healthy Bladder Acts During the Day

C. N. Shuman, Republic, Ohio, says: "Before taking Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula) had to get up six or seven times each night. Now I do not get up at all. You may use my name if it would benefit anyone with bladder trouble." Be careful not to take drugs that check the action of the bladder. You may have to continue its use. Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula) increases the action during the day. It cleanses the bladder as epsom salts do the bowels driving out foreign matter, neutralizing excess acids, thereby relieving the irritation which causes "Getting Up Nights." The tablets cost 2c each at all drug stores or Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio. Locally at J. D. Holloway, Druggist.

KLAN'S ROLE IN POLITICS IS UNDER FIRE

CALLS WITNESSES

Senator Watson dispatched a telegram to U. S. Senator James R. Reed, Democrat, of Missouri, conducting the hearing in Chicago, urging him to shift the scene of the hearing here to enable Watson to personally refute the testimony given yesterday by Hugh Pat Emmons, South Bend Ku Klux Klan cyclops.

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—The amazing influence of the Ku Klux Klan upon American politics was subjected anew today to federal investigation as Senator James A. Reed (D. of Mo.), ripped the mask of concealment from activities of the invisible empire at his "one-man" slush fund inquiry.

On an official quest for illegal use of campaign funds in the Indiana senatorial race, Reed sought more light on the hooded organization's secret rule over members of congress, its nation-wide campaign to control elections and its supreme aspiration to name its own candidate—Senator James E. Watson, Republican, of Indiana—to the presidency of the United States in 1928. The Klan's sweeping domination of politics in Indiana, which provoked a revolt in the ranks of the invisible empire, provided an immediate background.

Reed recalled Hugh Pat Emmons, former cyclops of the South Bend klavern, to pick up the thread of its remarkable revelations of the Klan's political intrigues. A number of other Klan leaders were also present under subpoena as were Clyde A. Walb, Republican state chairman of Indiana, and Earl S. Peters, the Democratic state chairman.

Emmons Creates Sensation.

Because of Emmons' initial story of Klan activities, it was reported Reed would summon W. Hiram Evans, imperial wizard of the Klan, and William F. Zumbrunn, its general counsel, to explain their alleged "influence" over senatorial elections and the United States senate itself. It was Evans, Emmons previously testified, who declared Zumbrunn could "put over any program" desired in Washington through his influence upon senators.

The Indiana inquiry completely overshadowed the less sensational investigation which Reed earlier conducted into the Illinois senatorial campaign. This inquiry will not be closed until further evidence is heard about the Anti-Saloon League's control of Illinois politics and especially the charges of Hugh S. Magill, independent candidate, that the league knowingly issued false campaign literature.

The Klan's activities meanwhile held the center of the stage. When first on the witness stand, Emmons created a series of sensations by declaring, on the authority of Imperial Wizard Evans, that:

2.—The Klan will seek to place Senator "Jim" Watson in the White House at the 1928 election.

3.—The Klan seated Senator Earle B. Mayfield, Democrat, of Texas, a Klansman, by enlisting the aid of Republican senators through the influence of Senator Watson.

Emmons' Charges

5.—Imperial Wizard Evans ordered the Indiana Klan to "go down the line" in behalf of Senator Watson and Senator Arthur S. Robinson, Republicans, in the coming election.

6.—The Indiana "grand dragon", W. Lee Smith, expelled several local Klans for failing to support Watson and that Smith offered him (Emmons) a $10,000 bribe to swing the South Bend klavern to Watson's support.

7.—The national and state klan headquarters have spent huge sums to influence elections, which were never accounted for, the national Klan body getting $7,000,000 annually in dues while at the height of its power.

8.—The Klan generally sought to influence national legislation by filing petitions with congress, which were signed by Klansmen who concealed their Klan affiliations.

These allegations, particularly concerning the Klan's use of funds in senatorial campaigns, won Reed's undivided attention. The "fighting Missourian" indicated he would attempt to learn the extent of these expenditures if at all possible.

Invites Inquiry In Ohio.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 21.—An invitation to send a representative here to probe political expenditures was telegraphed this afternoon to James A. Reed, Democrat of Missouri, head of the Senatorial Campaign Investigating Committee, by Charles R. Frederickson, chairman of the Ohio Republican committee, shortly after it became qnown that the Democratic state chairman, Thomas E. Dye, had written Reed suggesting a watch be kept on Republican expenditures in the state campaign.

"Love Pill" Death Case Goes to Jury In Cleveland Court

CLEVELAND, Oct. 21.—The jury which will decide the fate of Ermil "Frenchy" Balanescu, charged with manslaughter, in connection with the death of his sweetheart, Dorothy Kirk, began its deliberations here at 11 o'clock today.

The youthful medical student is charged with manslaughter, it being alleged that he administered poisonous "love pills" to the girl.

NOTED ARCHITECT UNDER ARREST

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 21. — Frank Lloyd Wright, noted Chicago architect, under arrest here today, may face charges of violating the Mann act, by the federal government, if an investigation launched today by G. H. Hennegar, chief agent in charge of the department of justice here, discloses that the millionaire Chicago architect violated the federal statute.

With him in jail is Madame Olga Milanoff, Montenegrin dancer, and her two children, who, it is alleged, were occupying a cottage with Wright at Lake Minnetonka, near Minneapolis.

One Baby is Dead, Eight Ill, Due to Mistake of Nurse

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 21—One baby is dead and eight others are ill, but will recover, at the General hospital here today through the mistake of a student nurse who gave the nine babies a lactic acid for cod liver oil.

The dead baby is the 16-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Antone Laipus of Minneapolis. His mother is confined to the hospital and has not been told of the child's death.

50 HEAR TALKS ON TWO ISSUES

School Levy-City Bond Meet in Mission.

Fifty residents of the Trentvale school district attended a mass meeting held in the Trentvale Mission, Dresden avenue, last evening at which both the proposed school levy and municipal building bond issue were discussed.

Mayor Ralph C. Benedum, President of Council Kerr, Councilmen Farrall, Hughes and Poole appeared as the representatives of the city, while D. F. White and R. B. Stevenson, board of education members, and Superintendent of Schools C. S. McVay spoke for the schools. Frank Hull, seventh vice-president of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, who also attended the meeting, spoke in behalf of the city hall bond issue.

Board of education members tonight will go to the Glenmoor school for a rally in behalf of the proposed levy but inasmuch as this district is outside the city limits, representatives of the municipal government will not attend.

Rallies will be held at both the Sixth street and the Horace Mann school buildings on Friday evening.

Local Union No. 124, which endorsed the bond issue proposition Tuesday evening, is said to be one of the largest locals affiliated with the N. B. of O. P. Its membership is made up of five crafts—gilders, liners, decal workers, warehousemen and decorating kilnfiremen. Members of the barbers' and jiggermen's locals heard discussions of the city hall proposition by members of council at their meetings this week.

30 Reported Dead

ted the hospitals and other places where groups of injured were sheltered, offering his sympathies and all possible government assistance.

The gunboat Hatuey was sunk near the Triscornia government immigration detention station. The exact number of other vessels lost is not yet known.

American firms were heavy losers in the gale. A number of automobile concerns and garages sustained severe damage, and part of the loading machinery of the Havana Coal company was blown into the sea.

Prison Ship Breaks Moorings.

All the wharves suffered damage to a greater or lesser degree.

What threatened for a time to become a real disaster occurred when the steamship Maximo Gommez, formerly a German vessel which was interned during the World war, and recently has been utilized as a place of detention for undesirable aliens pending their deportation, broke her moorings and went careening about the harbor. The derelict struck several other ships at anchor, causing considerable damage before it was brought into tow by tugboats. The prisoners aboard, including a number of Chinese, were badly frightened when brought ashore and lodged in jail.

News from the provinces is most meager, and it is not known how the outlying districts fared in the storm. Communication had not yet been established with the Isle of Pines today. Some apprehension was felt for the inhabitants of the island, as it was believed to be in the path of the storm center.

American Embassy Damaged.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. — The American embassy at Havana was badly damaged by the destructive cyclone which struck Havana yesterday, American Ambassador Crowder informed the state department today. No one was injured. The embassy staff is safe.

Weather Bureau Report.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Florida has escaped the tropical hurricane which swept over Cuba, the weather bureau declared today.

"While gales were experienced on the extreme southern Florida coast no winds of hurricane force were reported from land stations," the bureau said.

The bureau issued the following 10:30 a. m., advisory report:

"The tropical disturbance continues of great intensity, having passed from Havana northeastward a short distance off the southeast coast of Florida. It is apparently central this morning about latitude 27 longitude 76½, moving northeast."

Miami is Spared.

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 21.—Spared at the last minute from the hurricane which swept near the Florida mainland yesterday, Miami today resumed its task of removing all signs of the previous tropical storm which swept this city on Sept. 18.

After hours of preparation to meet the full force of the storm predicted to strike this area, Miami during the early hours of last night resembled a tomb, streets were deserted and the city was in darkness.

Impromptu Celebrations.

As soon as it became apparent that the full force of the storm would not strike here, Miami residents braved a tropical downpour and crowded the down town streets.

Impromptu celebrations were staged far into the night, the weather bureau at the postoffice being the scene of an informal dance.

The main damage so far reported in the Greater Miami district was to telephone and telegraph wires. The poles carrying power to the water plant at Hialeah were blown down, cutting the city off from water service which is expected to be resumed at noon. Two firemen were injured fighting a fire which broke out shortly before dark.

Eberts. Institution records reveal that she still insists that Christy met death at her hands.

"I asked her how she was getting along.

"'If I can't go free I'd just as soon be here as in some other institution,' she said.

Dr. Clark informed me that when she was searched on her arrival at the hospital, $120 was found upon her.

Since she had no money of her own when she married Christy, this must have been Christy's money, drawn from the bank by her just prior to her arrest.

Would Wed Again.

"'Would you wed again if given your liberty?'" I asked.

"'Well, I might if I could find the right kind of a man. I might say that I still have hopes in that direction, that is, if they only let me out of here. My eyesight is bothering me. I busted my horn-rimmed glasses. But other than that I feel fine. And I'll look just as nice as ever when I get my new teeth. I haven't a tooth in my head right now. I've had 'em all pulled.'"

"Laura may have been attractive in her girlhood. But such isn't the case now. She is of tremendous girth. She looks better than when I interviewed her at Lisbon last January. But how she won husband after husband is quite beyond me.

"I informed her I have received a letter from a man residing in Killbuck, O., informing me he had married her in January, 1925, thus making him her sixth husband and that she left him in June of that year, telling him she was going to East Liverpool 'to get her furniture,' after which she wrote him she had no intention of returning.

"'That isn't true,' she said. 'If he says I married him, he is mistaken. I was never in Killbuck in my life. I don't know any one having that name. He's away off when he says I am the woman he married.'

"So I let it go at that."

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—An overcrowded short interest was compelled to scramble for stocks to cover their short trails at the beginning of trading today, prices of active stocks ranged all the way from 2 to 6 points higher in the early trading. General Motors and Dupont led the way to the higher price levels, with initial jumps of 4 1-2 and 6 points respectively, and numerous motor and industrial shares recovered a good share of yesterday's losses.

Futher impetus was given to the upward move by the retention of the 4 per cent bank rate by the Boston Reserve bank and rumors that the New York bank might reduce its rediscount rate.

Crude oil price cuts are looked for as an essential check on the huge production of that commodity at present. Call money renewals were posted at 4 1-2 per cent.

The rally lost momentum in the second hour, when stocks purchased during Wednesday's decline were thrown on the market on profit-taking. Good buying demand appeared for the dividend industrials and a few of the rails, but oils, specialties, coppers and equipments sought the lower price levels as stocks continued to be freely offered. Grain and cotton steady.

Chicago Gangland Truce Pact Ends as Another is Slain

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—Reports of the signing of an armistice in Chicago's gangland, after two years of intermittent warfare which brought more than 100 deaths, were shattered today before the ink on the papers which heralded the truce was dry.

A .45 caliber automatic—the favorite toy of the underworld—was used to bring about his death.

ON OCT. 27 the nation will celebrate navy day. What has it actually got to celebrate in the way of a modern navy? The navy on the water is no longer important. Only boats under water and flying boats count. There is no use talking about celebrating navy day in this country until we have an air navy worth celebrating.

WE HAVE good sailors, good flyers, a few of them, splendid marksmen, any number of brave men willing to do any kind of work. But our navy, if real modern war came, would be about as useful as the Russian regiments whose ammunition didn't fit their guns.

PROUD Americans, good women especially, are grieved by statements made in modern histories of George Washington. Men in each generation live as their generation lives.

Washington was no exception. Living in slavery days, he had slaves—their quarters on his Mount Vernon plantation are visible. He lived in an age when everybody drank temperately, and manufactured some of his alcoholic drinks, wisely, that he might know what was in them.

HIS ancestors, living 10,000 years before Washington, probably practiced cannibalism occasionally. Had he liven then he would have done as they did. Washington did not quite fulfill the ideals of the good 1926 Y. W. C. A., but the ladies should rejoice that he established a nation in which the Y. W. C. A. could become a useful reality.

KIWANIS O. K.'S BOND PROPOSAL

Municipal Building Plan Endorsed at Noon Luncheon.

Unanimous endorsement of the proposed $225,000 municipal building bond issue to be submitted to the voters at the November 2 election, was voted by the Kiwanis club at today's luncheon in the Larkins' annex, Market street.

The endorsement followed an appeal made by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley, who referred to the condition of the present city hall at the corner of Third and Market streets and pointed out that the increased taxes for the new structure would be only one-half mill. The club named F. G. Jones, W. B. Hill and John Morton members of a bond booster committee.

Attorney Hill discussed the proposed amendment to the constitution modifying the primary law and urged that members of the club use their efforts in getting out a big vote at the coming election. Passage of the amendment was urged.

W. A. Weaver urged support of the Salvation army campaign which will open next Monday evening. Frank G. Jones told of plans for the visit which the club will make to Leetonia next Tuesday evening when they will be guests of Leetonia Kiwanians.

Other speakers at the meeting were Cyril Taylor, of Chester, and Rev. J. L. Mauer, pastor of the St. Ann's Catholic church, East End.

Accompanying the body will be the widow, Katherine, and the devoted brother, Theodore.

Debs died yesterday at the Lindlahr sanitarium at Elmhurst, near here, to which he had gone two weeks ago to recover from a generally rundown condition. He was aged 71.

POLICE OFFICER BELIEVES IN MAKING THOROUGH CLEAN UP

He Says "Nothing As Good As Tepee Herb Tonic to Clean Up the General System."

Officer Melville Witter, 148 Roosevelt St., Elyria, O., has been on the Elyria Police Force for the past six years. He is a great believer in root, bark and herb medicines to purify the blood and clean up the system—and that is why he recommends Tepee Herb Tonic.

"I have just finished taking two bottles of Tepee Herb Tonic and I never felt better in all my life. I have a good appetite and my bowels are regular.

"I can cherfully recommend Tepee Herb Tonic."

Tepee Herb Tonic aids the natural processes of the system. It drives impurities out of the body that have been collecting all through the winter season and that are a source of impairing and weakening the entire constitution.

The weak and nervous; the run down in health have been built up and given renewed vifality with a few week's use of Tepee Herb Tonic. Nerves that were raw and edgy have been soothed and nourished back to health; appetites that have been almost lost have been restored.

STATE AUDITOR IS SUSPENDED

Governor Howard M. Gore last night suspended from office State Auditor John C. Bond on charges of malfeasance in office. Secretary of State George W. Sharp was designated to take charge of the $30,000,000 in securities in the state auditor's office and to assume duties of the suspended official.

The suspension of State Auditor Bond comes as the climax of an official investigation by Governor Gore into certain practices in the auditor's office alleged to have started in 1921 and continued through the first term of the state auditor, which ended in 1925. The irregularities in office consisted of the illegal withdrawal of state funds for purposes other than the state purposes and on account of the diverting of funds to purposes other than those intended by the legislature.

A hearing on the charges was conducted about a week ago by Governor Gore.

From the "unexplained and uncontroverted facts disclosed at the hearing before me," the governor said in his decision, "I am led to conclude that public funds have been illegally withdrawn from the treasury upon warrants issued and authorized by John C. Bond, auditor of the state of West Virginia.

"At the time of the illegal withdrawal of the funds in question," the governor's decision continued, "it was the intent of the auditor to divert the said illegally withdrawn funds from the purposes intended by the legislature authorizing such appropriations and expenditures; and that the charges of neglect of official duty, illegal and unwarranted withdrawal of public funds so charged in the specifications of the attorney general filed with me, have been sustained and proven by the evidence submitted before me.

The attorney general of the state was instructed by the governor to begin civil proceedings to recover back from Auditor Bond all of the money belonging to the state of West Virginia which has been found that he illegally withdrew from the treasury of the state.

G. O. P. NOMINEE SUPPORTS GOOD ROADS PROGRAM

COOPER SPEAKS AT WELLSVILLE CAMPAIGN MEET

E. T. Fogo Temporary Chairman at City Hall Here.

Promising a thorough study of taxation in an effort to relieve the heavy burden now shouldered by Ohio voters, pledging his support to a good roads program in Ohio, condemning the waste and extravagance of the present administration and placing the blame for what he termed the bankruptcy of the state treasury upon the shoulders of the present governor, Myers Y. Cooper, of Cincinnati, Republican candidate for the governorship, yesterday addressed a large audience in council chambers in the city hall building.

Referring to his good roads views, Cooper mentioned especially the Ohio river road which he branded as a route fully as beautiful as that along the Hudson and predicted the completion in the future of a highway fully as fine as any in the country.

In the absence of Mayor W. L. Fogo, chairman of the Wellsville central committee, E. T. Fogo, his son, opened the meeting. In his brief remarks, Fogo introduced Elmer Walker, county auditor, who, in turn, presented Cooper, the latter being introduced as "Ohio's next governor."

Urges Business-Like Methods.

In the conduct of the business of the state of Ohio Cooper advised the adoption of business like methods. Himself a successful business man, as evidenced by his home building enterprises in Cincinnati, and possessor of an extraordinary ability as a "doctor" of "sick" businesses he emphasized the necessity for the election of an administration head capable of conducting the affairs of Ohio as a successfull business would be operated.

He condemned especially the waste and extravagance of the present administration, Governor Donahey's veto of the gasoline tax measure which he hailed as one of the most useful proposals of its nature, and the present executive's inconsistent action in taking credit for the good road projects that have developed from the gasoline tax money.

He dwelled on the vast number of automobiles that have been purchased by the state and told of the surprisingly large amount of money that has been expended in the buying of road equipment, deemed unnecessary, which he asserted, may be found lying along the roadsides in most sections of the state.

"If I am elected governor," he assured his audience, "I certainly will not have to purchase any road equipment."

Formerly a large part of the state automobiles were roadsters and tour ing cars, chiefly of a small type but now, Cooper pointed out, these have given way to limousines, sedans, coaches, coupes and automobiles of higher value.

One man, he declares, was going to and from his job 40 miles daily, "on the gasoline and on the tires that you bought."

Congressman Murphy Speaks.

Congressman Frank Murphy, of Steubenville, a member of the party which accompanied the gubernatorial candidate here, gave an address following Cooper's talk.

Murphy urged the electors' approval of Cooper as Ohio's next governor and the election of Frank B. Willis as Uniter States senator.

He discussed the issue chiefly from the standpoint of tariff, pointing to Willis and a Republican congress as symbolical of protection to the laboring man and to the industries of the United States by virtue of their constructive tariff program, a means for making this nation the most prosperous in the world.

Quoting W. E. Wells, of Newell, W. Va., secretary-treasurer of the Homer Laughlin Pottery Co., to whom he referred as "the greatest potter in the country," Congressman Murphy pointed out that English potters are making one-fourth of the wages that American workers in the industry are.

The federal government has succeeded in reducing taxes and its indebtedness, as well, he said, quoting from facts with which he is well familiar as a result of his high position in the appropriations committee. And the state of Ohio, through a business-like administration such as Mr. Cooper is capable of giving, should also be able to emulate the achievement of the national government, he declared.

Congressman Murphy's address was followed by a brief talk by Earl Lewis, of St. Clairsville, Republican nominess for state senator. Lewis urged the voting of the straight Republican ticket at the November 2nd election, asserting that the party, in reality was to be considered rather than the individual.

Visit Irondale.

Cooper and his party arrived here at 3 o'clock from East Liverpool where he delivered an open air address. He was accompanied by Mrs Cooper and a delegation composed of Congressman Murphy, Earl Lewis, Ralph Emmons, East Rochester, and W. H. Van Fossan, Lisbon, candidates for state representative; George Wright, candidate for re-election as sheriff; Elmer Walker, county auditor; J. H. Sinclair, candidate for commissioner; Paul Smith, candidate for recorder; Probate Judge Lodge Riddle and Attorney W. F. Lones, candidates for judge of common pleas court; Clerk of Courts Ballantine; and Fred George, nominee for county treasurer.

10,000 in Central Region Benefit by Increase.

KEY MEN PROFIT

Pay Raise Retroactive as of October 16.

Approximately 10,000 employes of the Pennsylvania railroad in the Central district are affected by the wage increase announced yesterday for shop craft workers of the system.

In all, approximately 43,000 men were benefited, 10,000 in the Central region of which the local shops are a part. The increase amounts to three cents an hour or 24 cents for an eight-hour day.

Telegraphers employed throughout the system were given a raise of two cents an hour, according to word received from Chicago. Of this class of men, from 1,700 to 1,800 are employed in the central region, more than half of that number being engaged in the Pittsburgh district, according to local officials of the company. The wage increases are retroactive as of October 16, it was announced.

The increase given shop men came as the result of a series of conferences held in Pittsburgh between the railroad and representatives of the shops crafts employes. These meetings were ended on Tuesday when it was decided to grant the increase which affects shop employes such as mechanics, helpers, apprentices, car inspectors, repairmen, carpenters, blacksmiths, and similar workmen, according to local authorities.

Appeal In 35-Year Lease Fight Refused By State Supreme Court

Mary I. Bunting and Donald A. Bunting are Victors in Property Controversy in Decision of High Tribunal.

The appeal of Mrs. Ella McCown, executrix of the estate of the late C. C. McCown, of Riverside avenue, who formerly occupied a building near Ninth and Main street, as a grocer, from the findings of two lower courts, involving a property lease in Phelps' addition to Wellsville was refused yesterday in the supreme court at Columbus.

The appeal, which marked the final step in a series of court fights, was directed against common pleas and appeals courts' findings for Mary I. Bunting and Donald A. Bunting and others.

A number of years ago Austin Gaver McKenzie and his sister, Sara M. Luke, drew a lease between them by which tenants occupying property owned by them, and facing Ninth street, near the corner, would have the right of entrance and exit over a section of property now occupied, on the front end, by the building erected by the late C. C. McCown.

The Buntings eventually bought the property from Sara Luke, and the lease, of 35 years duration, was sold along with the property as an appurtenance.

It was the contention of the McCown estate that the lease was not transferable.

able one-piece roof to facilitate the removal of the tanks from the car in case of accident, repair, or other emergency. Each car has to glass-coated, seamless, one-piece glass-lined tanks, which are mounted in an asphalt bed, and insulated with two inches of approved insulation which is covered with a 90-pound insulating paper and jacketed with steel. The tanks are pitched to the center of the car for drainage, and the cars are equipped with a ventilating system, electric lights, and water reservoir to wash tanks and floor after unloading if no water supply is available at railroad siding.

Not only has this car been built for use on the steam railroads, but a smaller car is constructed for use on electric interurban lines. Cars of the latter type with a capacity of 5,000 gallons are being operated in carrying milk from Flint, Michigan, to the plant of a Detroit creamery company, a distance of 73 miles, at a cost of 22 cents per 100 pounds. This represents a transportation cost of less than half a cent per quart.

For carrying smaller quantities of milk and covering shorter distances tank motor trucks are also now being used by up-to-date dairies.

Government Experts Interested.

Government experts in the Department of Agriculture have been greatly interested in the development of this modern method of milk transportation, and they agree that it is proving a direct benefit to the consuming public as well as to the mild producer, the railroad carrier, and the milk distributor. They say that it insures the carrying of milk with a change in temperature of not to exceed 3 degrees, eliminates the use of cans and their cleaning, handling, and return as empties, and in the case of the tank cars, one does the work of three standard express cars.

For the most practical, efficient, and economical use of the milk tank cars, according to these authorities, a pick-up service should not be attempted in gathering the milk. The milk should be received at a central station where it can be cooled to the desired temperature and then drawn off into the distributing plant where they can be unloaded quickly by the air pressure pump.

The first tank cars, the Department says, were used in Boston. They were of 3,120 gallons capacity and made trips of about 120 miles.

One advantage of the use of the tank car that may be pointed out is that in case of dairies each with an output too small to warrant the purchase or lease of a car, two or three of them may combine in the peration of a car to secure their supplies from a single producing center.

Motor trucks with tanks for hauling milk are rapidly coming into more general use. One Washington dairy has adopted this service, and a company in Detroit has 30 or more trucks in operation.

These trucks are of varying capacity—865 gallons, 950 gallons, 1,025 gallons, and so on. They vary because of differing road laws in states and cities restricting the loads that may be carried over highways and streets.

Long distance transportation of milk is of inestimable benefit, it is recognized, to sections of the country that are not adapted to dairying. It makes it possible for people to have fresh milk in places to which a cow is a complete stranger, and for those in great centers of population to secure their supply economically from constantly increasing distances.

Bread, according to the American Chemical Society experts, has a considerable alcoholic content, which may be why so many men customers buy buns.—Zanesville Signal.

Is Your Child Thin and Weak?

As a body builder, an appetite creator, and to make weak, skinny boys and girls sturdy, strong and full of energy, there is nothing like Cod Liver Oil—any physician will tell you that.

But it's vile, horrible stuff to take, and is apt to upset any stomach, so now doctors are prescribing and wise parents are buying McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—sugar coated, and as easy to take as candy.

The son of George G. O'Brien of Mahwah, N. J., was thin and pale and did not get enough nourishment from his feed. In a little over two months, he gained eleven and one-half pounds, and feels and looks one hundred per cent better.

Mothers, if any of your children are weak, thin or puny, give them these tablets, as directed for 30 days, and watch them gain flesh and health from day to day—they seldom fail—but if the unusual should happen and you are not supremely satisfied with results—your druggist is authorized to return your money.

Be sure—always—to insist on the original and genuine McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—60 tablets 60 cents at Mathews' Medicine Store, or any druggist. Thousands of boxes sold daily.

Announcing

The New Orthophonic

Victor Record

PERFECTED at last—a record that captures everything and misses nothing! A record of golden, natural, mellow tone, and amazing range—a record as good as the Orthophonic Victrola itself!

For two years, Victor experimented to produce this record. The entire resources of the Victor organization were enlisted to find a record that would contain all the musical elements which the Orthophonic Victrola is capable of expressing.

The new Orthophonic Record is the result. It is new—entirely new. It is recorded electrically, and is unparalleled in clarity, in tone, and in fidelity to the original. There is nothing with which to compare it, except the singing or playing of the artists themselves.

Reproduces all tones of all instruments

On these new Orthophonic Victor Records, high notes and low notes are now reproduced in their proper proportions. The bass is deep, sonorous. The higher notes brilliant, expressive. Tones that escaped former recording processes are now caught and reproduced with a naturalness that is positively startling. The spoken word has the breath of life. Even "s" sounds are now perfectly intoned.

Microphone recording—Orthophonic—Artists now sing or play in natural position before a microphone, just as they sing or play at a public performance. The microphone "hears" and records what you would hear were you there.

Unpleasant scratch eliminated—Made from a new, improved material, Orthophonic Records have eliminated those annoying surface-noises so common to the ordinary type of record. You hear the music and nothing else. Also, these records have longer life.

That elusive "third dimension"—Victor has captured what a great musician calls the "third dimension"—depth! Just as the great masters gave "relief" and depth to their paintings, so these new records give depth and roundness of tone to reproduced music.

Foremost artists in every class—Victor has always attracted the foremost singers and instrumentalists of the world—operatic—orchestral—popular and dance. Their confidence is more than ever justified by the lifelike fidelity of Victor's new Orthophonic recordings.

Record stops automatically—An exclusive feature of the Orthophonic Victor Record is a groove, cut "off center." When the music has finished, the needle swings into this groove and applies the automatic stop on all modern Victrolas.

Hearing is believing—Whether you own an Orthophonic Victrola or not, hear these new Victor Records. They play on any instrument—and vastly improve its playing quality.

Go to your nearest Victor dealer. Go expecting the musical thrill of a lifetime. You will not be disappointed.

"CASCARETS" FOR BOWELS, STOMACH, HEADACHE, COLDS

Clean your liver and constipated bowels to-night and feel fine

Are you keeping your liver, stomach and bowels clean, pure and fresh with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels.

No odds how sick, headachy, bilious and constipated you feel, a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10 cent box from your druggist will keep your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a gentle cleansing, too.

Two More Blue And White Ball Toters Join Hospital Roster

Bromby, McConville Out of Team's Next Clash With Toronto

Both Idle as Result of Injuries Received in East Palestine Contest; Fullerton to be Shifted to Fullback and End McKee Will be Given Trial at Backfield Berth.

WITH two more backfield stars out of the game on account of injuries and the available supply of reserve material rapidly dwindling as a result of heavy inroads since the first of the season, high school will face a fairly strong Toronto eleven Saturday at Toronto in a crippled condition.

The latest additions to the hospital list are Jack Bromby and "Franner" McConville, both of whom received injuries in the East Palestine engagement here last Saturday.

Bromby played the entire game, putting up one of the most brilliant performances any local backfield man has given this season and toppled over at the end of the clash, suffering from a slight concussion. His condition is not extraordinary nor what might be termed serious but it is not likely that Kidder will permit him to play at Toronto.

McConville sustained an injured thigh muscle prior to the East Palestine game and completed the damage by playing during the last five minutes of the game. McConville was sent to relieve Bromby at the signal calling post and the latter went to halfback. McConville had been ordered to play it safe and take no chances on exposing himself to further injury, but it happened and the Kidder-Cox combine loses another ball toter, temporarily, at least.

Fullerton likely will be tried out at fullback at Toronto and McKee will have an opportunity to show his wares on the running quartet.

Kirkham, who sized up as a possible fullback before his injury at training camp, has been working out a little this week and there is a possibility that he will be able to get into action within the next two or three weeks.

There is a keen fight on for one of the tackle berths between Crawford and Anderson and Coaches Kidder and Cox are pretty well puzzled at the present time as what is what.

Meehan Responsible For New York's Best Grid Team In Decade

Gothamites Have Rolled Up 92 Points to Opponents' Seven, Defeating Niagara, Allegheny, W. Va. Wesleyan and Tulane in Order; Four Hard Games Ahead Promise Bigger Test.

(By Davis J. Walsh.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Unless it so happens that the outfit is riding for a fantastic fall, and Rutgers, Carnegie Tech, Davis-Elkins and Nebraska are dead ahead, it would appear that Chick Meehan has done something in two years at New York University that has defied ten years and five coaches at Columbia. All of the five—Fred Dawson, Buck O'Neill, the late Percy Haughton, Dr. Paul Withington and Charley Crowley—were good. Most of their teams were bad.

That is hardly true of the N. Y. U. varsity of 1926. At least, one can obtain a general demurrer on the point from Niagara, Allegheny, West Virginia Wesleyan and Tulane, defeated in order for the total of 92 points to 7.

Columbia and N. Y. U. have nothing in common. Both have a tremendous enrollment, taking rank with the greatest in the land. Both are in the heart of our biggest city and draw much of their enrolment from the native cliff-dwellers, who are great on endurance but flat on their feet from standing in the subway.

Nine From Out of Town.

Perhaps that may be the answer to this best of all New York University teams. Nine of its eleven regulars are pleased to hail from out of town.

There is, for example, Jack Connor, the greatest all around man in the squad and one of the East's potential candidates for all American quarterback. Connor comes from Exeter, N. H. The town of Holyoke, Mass., claims Arthur Roberts, another good back, and John Bunyan, whose pilgrim's progress usually is being made through the opposing guard. Al Lassman, the 208-pound tackle and an all-eastern candidate, grew to manhood in Harvard's door yard at Cambridge and his running mate, John Miller, turned his back on Syracuse, N. Y., and the hills in general to come here.

Earl Ashton, end, is another who left a college town for better or worse. His home is at Easton, Pa., where Lafayette holds forth. The other wing, "Iron Faced" Riordan, comes from Bristol, Conn., while Ken Strong, a back, and R. E. Dunn, center, are from West Haven and Waterbury in the same state.

The two remaining regulars, Captain Frank Briante, of the backfield and Dave Skudin, a guard, might be said to be local products at the risk of offending White Plains and Brooklyn. In any case, neither is a resident of Manhattan Island.

Connor, who kicks, runs, picks and plays and passes them "right in your eye," is the star of the outfit. The others are Lassman — shifty as a dancer in spite of his weight, Strong, Dunn, Roberts and Briante. The two guards, Bunyan and Skudin, played fine football against Tulane, particularly on offense. The rest of the team is typical of Meehan, with the possible exception of the ends. Both are reformed backfield men, it being found necessary to shift Ashton and Riordan up forward in the hope of adding greater speed and weight to the wings. It remains to be seen how well this decision will work out.

Nebraska Looks Tough.

In fact, if there is anything radically wrong with the team, it will be uncovered in the last four games. Rutgers held Washington and Jefferson and Holy Cross, two of the best, to reasonably close scores. Carnegie Tech made W. and J. step all the way. Davis Elkins always was in the fight against the Army and West Virginia while Nebraska has lost only to Missouri and then after outgaining the latter eleven first down to four. According to the statistics, the corn huskers were beaten in the air and by their failure to cover kicks.

The writer would say, off hand, that N. Y. U.'s best chance of finishing its season undefeated lies in the fact that Nebraska may be "softened" by that heroic schedule that prevails in the Missouri Valley conference. The local team will play no such schedule; in fact, it should come up to the game at its best.

Its list of games has permitted Meehan to "rate" his team in such a way that he finds one scrimmage a week sufficient. The rest of the time is spent in perfecting his defense and a program of screen plays behind which is conducted his passing and running attack with both a balanced and unbalanced line. N. Y. U. should get at least as far as Nebraska without a defeat. But this only what a lot of other good teams have said in the past.

INSIDE Ggolf

By CHESTER HORTON.

The grip with iron clubs must never be loose and wobbly. Here the clubhead must dig into the ground — though you make no conscious effort to make it do so—and a grip too loose will inevitably cause the blade to turn in your hands when it strikes the turf. Another thing is this: Keep your left hand closed on the shaft at the top of the back swing. If the grip loosens at that point the blade will be too late at the ball and timing will be lost. Chances are the clubhead will persistently dig into the ground just back of the ball. Keeping the grip closed will shorten the back swing and make the shoulders turn. Loosening the grip will let the club go on, but the shoulders will stop rotating, since the pull against them will be lost because of the loosening grip.

CHESTER BOOKS TIGER ELEVEN

Torontoans are Slated for Sunday Clash.

Chester Valley All Stars today announced the completion of negotiations for the appearance of the Toronto Tigers on Sunday afternoon at Smith Field, Chester, in one of the biggest early season attractions on the card.

The Chester combine has played three games and have won them all, including victories over Salineville, Mingo Indians and the East Liverpool Greys.

The Tigers were re-organized for the season only recently but nevertheless will show a strong lineup for Sunday's game, including such performers as Ferris, Johnson, Comer, Smith and others.

Joe Hober, of New Castle, former Chester high school star, will appear in a Chester uniform for this engagement.

Penn State Team Will Play Twice On Chicago Grid

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—A new contract calling for two games, both of which will be played in Chicago, one in 1927, the other in 1928, has been signed with the University of Pennsylvania, Alonzo Stagg, head coach at the University of Chicago, announced today.

The announcement pepped up practice at Stagg field where the Maroons are training for the clash with Purdue on Saturday. Smarting under last week's 27-0 beating at the hands of Penn, Stagg's men were overjoyed at the prospect of meeting their eastern foes on native soil.

The new contract invalidates all former ones, according to Coach Stagg, and evens off the Maroon-Quaker series of four games with two each in the east and west.

MOUNT PLANS MIGRATION DAY

Great Crowd of Followers to Take in Akron Game.

Mount Union will make the Mount-Akron conference clash the annual migration day game. Preparations are now being made to have at Akron the largest crowd of students and Mount followers that has ever cheered a Mount team on an opponent's gridiron.

Mount is anxious to turn in a victory over Akron next Saturday for more than one reason. Mount, by a total of seven points, has lost two important conference games the last two Saturdays. A victory over Akron, which played a tie game with Case in the early part of the season, will help to atone for the game Mount lost to Case last Saturday by a two point margin, as well as the one lost to Oberlin.

In 11 grid battles in which Mount and Akron have engaged since 1911, Mount has won seven.

A win this time will give Mount her first win on Buchtel field since 1912. Mount believes she has a good chance this year to accomplish this trick. Physically the entire squad is in fine condition and unless injuries during this week's scrimmages occur, Mount will run out on the Akron gridiron Saturday with 11 men who will fight to the last second of the game to break this Akron jinx.

ACADEMY ELEVEN ISSUES CHALLENGE

The Academys feel confident they can give any one of the three as tough a battle as they have had this season. William Plant, Academy parlors, is the manager.

Johannes Victor Over Grant Trout In Billiard Tilt

Paul Johannes was added to the list of winners in the billiard tournament now under way at the American Pool and Billiard parlors as a result of his decisive victory over Grant Trout in the second match of the event last night.

BETHANY, W. Va., Oct. 21.—A big pep meeting will be held tonight at Bethany college to prepare the student body and football team for tomorrow's contest with Salem college. The pep meeting will be in charge of the Moo Moo fraternity, which is headed by John Paul Pack. With this over everything will be set for the opening whistle at three o'clock tomorrow afternoon at Welisburg.

The brisk weather of yesterday adding the needed snap to their incentive, the Big Green and White eleven of Bethany college went forth to battle this afternoon in another of those real scrimmage sessions which Coach Nuss has had in effect now for the last two weeks. Yesterday's tackling practice seemingly put them in readiness for the scrimmages now being planned, and their work Wednesday afternoon was symbolic of quite an adeptness at the tackling game.

Part of the afternoon, however, was turned over completely to punting duels and also the running back of punts, by the fleet-footed Neel and Hamill. Imel, Pettis and the Behm brothers were usually on the receiving end of the long punts of Neel, and look to be improving rapidly. Hagberg, who relieved Captain Carey in last week's contest, has picked up yardage in punting, and although it is not possible at this stage for him to oust Neel from this position, he bears watching.

Fickley, Tinson, Burwell, Griffith, Price, and Shives showed up well in line play Saturday and are expected to fare even better as the season rolls on. It was not expected that Tinson would be in shape for last week's encounter, but this lad's extreme insistance in participating in the contest caused Coach Nuss to have an X-ray examination of his arm. Although battered up somewhat, Tinson will probably be O. K. for Friday after a day's rest.

About the only place that perfect climate is to be found is in a hotel, or railway, guide.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

"HAVE A CAMEL" IS MUSIC TO YOUR EARS

Camel is totally different from any other smoke. . . . It is more than a cigarette. . . . A lighted Camel is smoking enjoyment realized—the closest thing to the perfection of taste this old earth ever knew.

Camel's popularity has no equal. Camel demand exceeds any other cigarette preference ever known. To say "Camel" is to ask for the world's most popular cigarette. And to light a Camel is to taste the best.

For there's a solid reason back of the fame and the enjoyment of Camels. Quality. Camels are rolled of the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos money can buy . . . blended for matchless taste and fragrance.

If you would know how mild and mellow a smoke can really be, just treat yourself to a pack of Camels. Once you know what these words mean, they're music . . . "Have a Camel!"

Grid Fans Will Pay Half-Million To See Army and Navy Teams Play

Service Teams' Clash November 27 at Chicago Will Bring Out Biggest Gate of Mid-west.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—Football's biggest gate!

That's what the Army-Navy gridiron clash in Soldiers' Field, Chicago, November 27, will be.

A total of more than half a million dollars will be paid by the mid-west's football-mad fans to watch the service elevens battle it out in their twenty-eighth meeting.

Five hundred boxes of seats each, sold here at public auction, netted a total of more than $100,000, and in addition 40,000 seats at $10 each will be sold to the public.

"Standing room" only ducats may also be sold after the regular quota of tickets is exhausted so that there is a possibility the total gate receipts for the game may reach close to three quarters of a million dollars.

Decision to auction the box seats, located close to seats of the secretaries of war and navy and other distinguished official guests, was made after a survey showed the tremendous cost of bringing the entire student bodies of the navy academy at Annapolis and the army school at West Point to Chicago to witness the game.

Chicago was awarded the 1926 service school game with the understanding all of the students at the two academies were to be brought here to watch the battle. Special trains will carry the elevens and their schoolmates to Chicago and they will be entertained here at the leading clubs and hotels.

The top price at the auction of the box seats was $2,500. That sum was paid for six seats by G. Frank Croissant, Chicago and Florida millionaire. Other boxes sold for smaller sums, down to $150.

Fight Results

AT KANSAS CITY.—Sammy Mandell, of Chicago, world's lightweight champion, won newspaper decision over Larry Cappo, of Kansas City, ten rounds.

AT PATERSON, N. J.—Pinky Burns, of Paterson, won newspaper decision over Willie Mackel, of New York, ten rounds.

Critchfield On Bench.

WOOSTER, O.—Wooster college faces the possibility of entering the game with Western Reserve here Saturday with Captain "Hank" Critchfield on the bench. The big center has been ill all this week. Joliff or Saurer will play center if Critchfield does not recover in time to get in the lineup. The team is specializing on offensive practice this week.

Kenyon Tries Passes.

GAMBIER.—Intensive forward passing practice and light scrimmage featured the Kenyon college eleven's work today, in preparation for the clash Saturday with St. Xavier at Cincinnati.

Will Battle Hiram.

BEREA.—The Baldwin-Wallace college gridders will meet their old time rivals, Hiram college, Friday afternoon, on the Baldwin-Wallace field. This afternoon has been set aside as Berea Day and nearly all business here will be suspended during the game.

GLIMPSES FROM THE SIDELINES

Baysinger Quits.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 21. — The Syracuse football team was further crippled today by the resignation of Harold Baysinger, varsity quarterback, Baysinger struck Referee Schwartz in the Army game last Saturday, and tendered his resignation following a conference with Coach Reynolds and the chancellor of the university.

State Loses Weston.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Oct. 21. — Although Penn State is showing a more powerful attack, Captain Weston will be unable to play against Syracuse on Saturday and the team's chances of victory are somewhat diminished.

Phillips At Yale Center.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 21. — George Phillips has won the center post on the Yale varsity. Halfback Noble will be unable to play against Brown but capable substitutes are available.

Dartmouth Star Injured.

ANOVER, N. H., Oct. 21.—Captain Hooker Horton, star back, is out of the Dartmouth line-up because of a leg injury. Dick Black will replace him in today's scrimmage.

Walk Over Scrubs.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 21.—The Harvard coaches were jubilant today over the varsity's feat in scoring five touchdowns in yesterday's scrimmage. The team is confident of making a good showing against Dartmouth on Saturday.

Snow Stops Scrimmage.

HAMILTON, N. Y., Oct. 21.—Following a short signal drill this afternoon, the Colgate squad will leave for Annapolis tonight for the Navy game Snow prevented the team from scrimmaging yesterday.

Schuber New Navy Back.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 21.—Schuber will take Shapley's place in the backfield in the Colgate game. The revised backfield is light, but works smoothly.

Sports Done -Brown-

By Norman E. Brown.

THIS promises to be the busiest season in the managerial market baseball has ever had. Right now the Simon Legrees of baseball are so busy whipping the Uncle Toms that baseball is still vieing with football for sport page promience.

First, the St. Louis Browns announced they were through with Sisler as a manager and were ready to sell him down the river. Then the Boston Red Sox turned Lee Fohl into the snow and cold. Now Bill McKechnie, king of the baseball world a year ago this month, finds himself headed for a new plantation. And Art Fletcher of the Phillies is looking for another job.

And the end is not yet. Ty Cobb's name still is whispered about on the axe-laden air and at least one other pilot is due for a long talk with the club owners. It's going to be a wise major league ball player who knows his boss next season.

There is interest in the fact that while other club moguls are seeking to put new life in their teams and turnstiles Emil Fuchs, judge of the courts and judge of good managers, is still stringing with Davey Bancroft. This despite the fact that the Braves won no pennants to amount to anything in 1926.

Bancroft showed clearly that he can handle a big league ball club and the players on it. He put over some clever trades—thanks to Fuch's cooperation. There might be a tipoff to other club owners in this.

Art Fletcher, who was to be manager of the Philadelphia Nationals "as long as he wanted the job," apparently doesn't want it any more. He has tossed in the towel, according to word from the home of the fizzling sesqui centennial. Stuffy McInnis, veteran SPORTS—DON BROWNS—first-sacker for five major league clubs, is supposed to have signed a two-year contract to boss the team.

Fletcher proved his worth as a manager with the hopeless Phillies. He was handicapped by the hesitancy (a consistent one) on Owner Baker to step out in the open market and buy playing material.

DAY by day the football aspects and prospects at Harvard are drawing more and more attention. The debut of Arnold Horween as coach was enough to arouse early interest in the team. The unexpected defeat at the hands of Geneva increased the interest—if not the respect—for the team.

And now we find Crimson adherents in a rather bitter mood toward the faculty over what is termed rather harsh measures used in disciplining two members of the team—men who were counted on to help lift Harvard higher in the game.

Ted Crosby and Jake Turner, two regulars, have been disqualified for failure to pass an examination in French. Harvard adherents do not ask the faculty to turn a blind eye to the deficiencies in studies. Their attitude is, however, that such drastic action wasn't necessary.

Turner played center last season and is given credit for having saved the day for Fair Harvard against Yale. Crosby is a beautiful defensive player.

The loss of these two men is a severe blow to Horween, who, of course, isn't saying a word.

The interest aroused in the recent Dempsey-Tunney fight and the creation of a new champion has revived interest in the heavyweight game, there can be no doubt. The Wills-Sharkey affair can be listed as the first of a series of heavyweight battles that will be shoved at the public this winter, including the series Tex Rickard has in mind.

Our only hope is that those putting on the heavies (no reference to underwear) will have the good judgment to cross off their lists the boys who fall by the wayside early in the rush and not foist on the public a lot of mugs who never will get anyplace.

Speaking of heavies. Gene Tunney is bound to be a popular champion despite whatever cool opinion some critics may hold regarding his ability. He is a gentleman first, last and always. The more one looks back over Dempsey's career the more one is impressed with the knowledge that the brightest pages in his reign, in a way, were those in which he showed a serious desire to absorb some of the finer things in life. These desires did little to satisfy the boxing fans yet they were natural ones for Jack. He spoke a different language the night he collected his pay for his battle with Gene Tunney than he did the day he entered the east as a two-fisted hard guy, living on haymakers and the biggest steaks money could buy.

Heidelberg Loses Star.

TIFFIN.—Heidelberg gridmen, conquerors of Kent last week, suffered a hard jolt here yesterday when Earl Watson, star end, suffered a broken nose. He will likely be unable to play in the Muskingum game at New Concord. It was the first real casualty the Cardinals have had this year.

International Game.

DEFIANCE.—The only international football game scheduled by an Ohio college team this year will be played by the Defiance college Yellowjackets against Assumption college at Sandwich, Ont., Saturday.

ASHLAND.—Coach Pfeifer of the Ashland college football team, who was ill and could not witness his eleven's triumph over Kenyon last week, probably will be unable to see his men perform against Kent State Normal, Saturday. Robert W. Rankin, Elyria, is coaching the squad in Pfeifer's absence.

Correct the Cause to End Catarrh!

Doctors say that local applications aren't enough. To get rid of catarrh you must remove the cause. Catarrh is the result of inflamed mucous membranes—the delicate linings of nose, throat and head. These must be toned and strengthened and the inflammation reduced. Then catarrh disappears; bad breath and catarrhal deafness vanish. This is what Hall's Catarrh Medicine does. Its success has been proved by thousands.

Get Hall's Catarrh Medicine at your nearest druggist. He will tell you it is the most effective catarrh treatment he has known in over 40 years. If he is out of it send 85c to F. J. Cheney & Company, Toledo, Ohio.

CASH FROM U. S. BACKS RUM MEN ACROSS BORDER

Smuggling is Big Business, Requiring Great Organization.

WASHINGTON.—Rum running has been developed to its highest pitch of efficiency on the Detroit river section of the Canadian border, according to federal dry agents.

The Canadian Rum trust, backed probably by American capital and manned chiefly by Americans, has developed a distributing machine in that district comparable to that of the big industries.

On the Canadian side are numerous liquor warehouses connected to the river by canals. Leading to the warehouses are railroad spur tracks furnishing direct communication from the Canadian liquor centers.

The "trust" has erected a number of boat houses on the American side of the river to house liquor smuggled over the border.

The dash from Canada to United States requires three to five minutes, according to the speed of the boat.

Liquor Stores Safe.

The liquor stores thus placed on American soil are safe from molestation by the government excepting through the use of search warrants, extremely difficult to obtain unless evidence of sale is furnished. Liquor is never sold from boat houses, but taken to Detroit or other markets by automobile.

"Government agents have the best opportunity to grab the smugglers on the river, but even that chance is extremely thin," a prohibition official said.

"The Detroit river district is the scene of probably the greatest activity of rum runners for an area of the size. Just how much whisky and beer goes through this section nobody can guess but the volume is extremely heavy."

The Detroit river sector was first handled by the prohibition unit or the land army of the government in the rum war. Later it was transferred to the control of the customs service, but subsequently sent back to the dry unit. Responsibility for enforcement is now in the hands of the prohibition administrator for Ohio and Michigan.

Officials explained that liquor is shipped to the Canadian border on freight cars billed "for Mexico." These shipments are entirely legal under the Canadian law and even operations of the liquor treaty between Canada and the United States cannot improve the situation.

Another danger zone on the Canadian border is in the vicinity of Niagara Falls. A considerable volume of liquor crosses Lake Ontario in fast motor boats. Smuggling is fairly general on the northern New York border where the runners concentrate on furnishing a supply of beer and ale to the American trade.

Thousands of automobiles have been captured by the customs service in Northern New York in the last few months. Most of them are employed by the customs and prohibition authorities in the battle against smugglers.

The Florida district is still giving the government considerable trouble. M. O. Dunning, collector of customs at Savannah, Ga., and prohibition czar of the Southeast is making a good record having captured a greater number of motorboats and schooners.

Winter Operations.

During the winter smuggers operating with the Bahama Islands and Cuba as bases rushed liquor to the American shore almost daily. Probably fifty percent of the smugglers got by the coast patrol owing to lack of facilities for guarding the coast.

Smugglers, officials explained, had the "whole east coast to shoot at," and in addition they sent many of their liquor ships around to the West Coast of Florida where big bases hidden in the swamps formed a refuge for the rum runners and their wares until it could be delivered to the markets.

Smugglers are continuing their liquor running on the Northeastern Coast of United States, where a scattered rum row has lurked for several years. A heavy concentration of Coast Guard cutters, ever, has held smuggling in this district to a minimum.

NORMA SHEARER AT AMERICAN

We never see ourselves as others see us and Norma Shearer, star of "The Waning Sex," now at the American theatre, says this situation sometimes gives her a little bit of unhappiness.

"For instance," says Norma, "I am always hoping to get a role that shows me as I think I am.

"I think that would present me as just a normal, young, fun-loving, more or less ambitious and more or less athletic American girl.

"The roles that fall to me show me as something of a business woman type, the independent, courageous, self-reliant, modern woman.

"That was my role in 'His Secretary,' and in 'The Waning Sex,' I am a successful woman lawyer, shrewd and aggressive and only mildly susceptible to romance.

"Other people analyze me as being independent, self-reliant and businesslike, and perhaps I am."
